Study: LDS church gains ground in Tooele County

University of Utah researcher says Mormons creating an ‘ethnic enclave’ just west of Salt Lake

In Rachel Madsen

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints appears to be growing faster in Tooele County than anywhere else in Utah, and the county is becoming increasingly Mormon overall, according to a major research last month. The U. Salt Lake City, compiled over 10 years by the Association of [Redacted], the LDS population in Tooele County grew 30.5 percent between 2000 and 2010.

Pilot ejects safely after F-16 crash at training range

By Liz Christenson

A fighter jet crashed into the Utah Test and Training Range Friday morning, damaging the aircraft but leaving the pilot unharmed.

The crash occurred during an exercise that had been going on since late last month and was scheduled to end Friday afternoon. The pilot was able to eject from the plane before it crashed, authorities said in a press conference Friday. The F-16 jet went down at approximately 8:30 a.m. on the training ground south of Hill Air Force Base, authorities said. The jet had been on a training exercise before the plane crashed, and the pilot was able to eject safely, according to medical personnel on scene.

Lori Riggs, the exercise officer who was on scene, said an investigation is underway to determine exactly what happened. “We terminated the (simulated traditional exercises) and I have suspended flying operations until further notice, until we can get our arms around this thing,” Riggs said.

The F-16, which fell off the assembly line in 1988 and 1989, carries a price tag of about $25 million. Riggs said, but concerns over the aircraft and its condition were overwhelmed by those for the pilot. “We were able to pull the very first thing on your mind is, ‘Is the pilot OK? And then there’s nothing else matters.’” Riggs said. “We are very blessed today that the pilot is OK. He walked in the locker room and said ‘great’.”

According to Col. Sarah Zabel, also of Hill Air Force Base, the last fatality on the range was from a June 2009 crash. Long said the training exercise was very typical, the aircraft, despite being built in the late 1980s, was well maintained and in good condition. “It’s very unlikely that there would have been a fatality over that freeway, but the training exercise is very typical. It’s not military exercising, it’s a very trained, very skilled. Crashes seldom happen on the range, he said.

The 2009 crash was also during a routine training exercise. An investigation into Friday’s crash began immediately following the report, and results from the investigation will be available to the public in about two to three months.

“There’s an excellent pilot. This probably is one of the best pilots, one of our instructor pilots,” Long said. “I hate to see it end, but it reminds me of why we do what we do and how important the safety investigations.”

Any findings from the investigation that can be corrected will be as quick as possible, Long said, and all information will be used to try to avoid such incidents in the future.

“We understand that requires a very disciplined approach and 1 assumption you’ve never done is disciplined in every aspect,” he said. “Our mission is very important to the Air Force here and we will continue to work with our sister services to keep these safety investigations.”

Community leaders, Tooele County residents and officials from four different churches gathered together during their lunch hour Thursday to celebrate the National Day of Prayer on May 1, a resounding response by Congress, signed by President Harry Truman, declared an annual, national day of prayer. In 1952, the law was amended to include the National Day of Prayer observed in Tennessee and Utah.

Prayer has been celebrated for a decade. It’s organized each year by Tooele First Baptist Church, said a prayer for those who are trained to fight in battle, saying, “For those who have done unto us, God has done unto us. God has protected.”

First Baptist Church, said a prayer for our enemies — he works with his hand — “I am praying and what I could gain by doing it. It’s the most important of my life.”

Last Saturday’s message, off the first four smartphones, speaks for several of the four groups in the community of “hurts,” could be bought from the crowd and prayers calling the gods to be shown mercy, to make all the others a blessing, on the nations and languages were read.

Larry Els, who attends Tooele First Baptist Church, said prayer for all government leaders, and for the president of the United States to consider city council members who are committed to a second, third or fourth term of office where he is. “If he leaves, we know who his replacement is. We are not fighting against you, we’re fighting for you.”

Bill Upton, pastor of Tooele First Baptist Church and vice chairman of the Tooele City First Assembly of God and New Life Christian Fellowship, said, “We’re 230 E. Main, Grantsville • 884-4408

Elda Man builds growing garage door company

Terry Penrose

An Elda-based garage door installation company is one of the largest in the state — and it's been in business for more than a year.

The Clark family, owners of Garage Door and Construction, LLC, in Salt Lake City, recently received their largest contract to date: $45,000 for 36 garage doors, with a plan to install 20 more.

The company, which opened in September 2011, has already completed 75 installations since its opening and plans to increase that number to 200 by the end of the year.

"We've been in business for a little over a year, and we've been really pleased with the growth," said Clark, who is the owner and CEO of the company.

"We've had a lot of growth in the past year, and we expect that to continue in the coming months," he added.

The company offers a variety of garage doors, ranging from custom-built to pre-fab.

"We offer a wide range of options, so we can accommodate just about any customer's needs," said Clark.

The company is currently working on a large project for a customer in the Salt Lake area, and Clark said he expects to complete that project in the next few months.

"We're excited to continue growing and helping more customers with their garage door needs," he concluded.

Erda homeowner becomes city's first solar power pioneer

Sunlight Solar Systems master electrician Marc Staker and installer Burke Weir are pictured with the solar panel installations on the south-facing roof of the Erda home of Erda resident Charlie Yeaman, the city’s first solar power pioneer.

Yeaman, a member of the Utah Republican Party, installed solar panels on the south-facing roof of his home on June 20, making him one of the first homeowners in the state to have solar panels installed.

"I'm doing this for my grandchildren," said Yeaman. "This is the kind of investment that is going to benefit them in the future.

Yeaman installed two solar panels on the south-facing roof of his home, which are capable of producing 3.42 kilowatts of electricity.

Yeaman said he currently saves $17,000 per year, and he plans to install three additional solar panels in the near future.

"I'm very excited to be a part of this new technology," said Yeaman.

Yeaman is also working on a new project to install solar panels on the roof of his garage, which will be completed in the next few months.

"I'm looking forward to seeing the impact that my investment in solar technology will have on my home," said Yeaman.

Yeaman said he expects to save $20,000 per year with the installation of solar panels, and he plans to continue installing solar panels on his home in the future.

"I'm very pleased with the investment I've made in solar technology," said Yeaman.

Yeaman said he encourages others to consider investing in solar technology, as it is a great way to reduce energy costs and help the environment.

"I urge everyone to consider investing in solar technology," said Yeaman.

Yeaman said he is looking forward to seeing the impact that his investment in solar technology will have on his home and the environment.
Bishop’s handling of Vernon ince case was correct

A recent Transcript article described the circumstances of a sexual abuse case where the bishop of a large church didn’t prompt the proper response to stop the abuse or properly file a report of the crime. The article states that the bishop had a legal duty to report the abuse, but failed to do so, and that this was a failure of his role and a breach of his responsibilities.

The article goes on to state that the bishop’s handling of the case was incorrect, and that he should have reported the abuse to the proper authorities. The article also states that the bishop’s handling of the case was improperly handled, and that he should have handled the case properly to prevent further abuse.

The article ends by stating that the bishop’s handling of the case was incorrect, and that he should have handled the case properly to prevent further abuse.

Kenneth James Bredin

Kenneth James Bredin passed away peacefully in his sleep May 5. He was born in Wilmington, Del., Oct. 7, 1934 by Madeline Ardin Bredin and William James Bredin. Uncle Kenny, as he was affectionately called, had been living in Tooele with his inter and nephew Kit (Fred) Roberts for the last 12 years. He made many friends while here in Tooele and community events. He was raised in the church and loved Jesus Christ. We are so conformed with the knowledge that he is once again with his father in heaven. His parents, sister Margaret and his brother Bill Kenney enjoyed writing his two books about the 1930s and Varoston, plus researching anagrams for his many acquaintances and friends that he was so frequently at Jim’s Restaurant, Donny’s, Mitch’s and the Senior Center. He enjoyed hunting coffee and fishing with his Aric Ajax Circle in Tooele for more than 20 years. After Roy’s passing, she married Albert Madsen on July 24, 1964. They enjoyed 21 years together in Tooele. Rowena loved life, loved to laugh and dearly loved her family. She enjoyed every family get together like the holiday parties, family games until all hours of the night, and her weekly family home evening games. She was an active member of the LDS church, serving in many different capacities. She was a devoted mother, loving her children and grandchildren. She gave of herself, serving and loving her children and grandchildren. She gave of herself, serving and loving her children and grandchildren. She served two missions, one on Temple Square and the other in the Native American Program. She enjoyed golf, bowling and playing cards with her many friends. She was a wonderful example and a good neighbor. State Farm is there. CALL ME TODAY.

Rowena Bryan Madsen

Rowena Bryan Madsen, our loving mother, grandmother and friend returned home to her father in heaven on May 4 at the age of 85. She was born June 14, 1918 in Grantsville, the third child of John and Elizabeth Whittington. She is the sister of Lee Washington, Virginia Windham, Rudy Wind, Jack Wind, Steve Washington, Ron and John Wind. Mom married her sweetheart, Roy Lynn Bryan on June 23, 1937. They were married for over 70 years until he was called to the Lake LDS Temple on June 4, 1968. Together they had four children. They owned and operated their own furnace and plumbing business. She is survived by her sister, Marjorie McLawns (stubs), her son-in-law, Steve Worthington. Mom is the sister of Mickey Stubbs, Roger Stubbs and Marjorie McLawns. Rowena loved her children and grandchildren, anyone who would listen, and loved by all who knew her. She is preceded in death by her parents, brothers, Roy Bryan, husband, Albert Madsen, twin sons, Lee and Steve Worthington. She is survived by her children, son-in-law, Chad, 12 grandchildren, 30 great-grandchildren, and 4 great-great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held May 9 at 11 a.m. at the Stansbury Park Stake Center where friends and family can visit from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. Interment, Tooele Cemetery.

THS choirs joining together for year-end concert

Kristine Johnson
Community Correspondent

After a year of practicing, attending competitions and being mentored, both of Tooele High School’s choirs are ready to showcase their voices at their first of the year’s three concert tonight.

The three groups, the honor choir, ladies ensemble and show choir, will be performing a total of 17 different songs — some of which were chosen during this school year’s state competition.

“We have some great songs prepared,” said senior Brudyn Smart, choir president. “All three of these choirs have been working very hard to make it a great performance.”

These visuals are erected on a soap bubble that spills from going inside and outside, a world of New York City has been built up. This is a scene throughout, but regardless of the previous five Avengers films. There are some fascinating properties. “That would kill me to real life” moments. In fact, I’m pretty sure if I did it, it might just ruin spot on YouTube that would be pretty amazing. But even for someone who is not typically big on action movies, using the action ensemble of its hardcore characters, half of them portrayed by Oscar nominated actors, it’s a great example, I imagine what Thor’s cape could be like. They try to put some actual brains into it. Joss Whedon, for direc- torial honours, won best newcomer for creating TV series “Buffy the Vampire Slayer,” and he won another Oscar for the screenplay for “Toy Story.” That only did his Disney career. He has created the story and co-written the screenplay. What impressed producers is place the climax of this comic event in the hands of a lesser-known actor, along with two highly accomplished actors, and discovered that, although a skilled director, he was also a shameless spoof book nerd, so his director’s chair was big. It is not an inspired decision because Whedon is now the toast of Hollywood, though the “Avengers” might be his best film. He is definitely the poster boy for successful “claymation” animation, or “claymation” romp by the directors for his background are pretty surprising. Boba Fett, before Thor joins the team, is the villain of the star war. This movie, before it has come, it is not only shared by each actor, but also has the most perfect comic book heroes. It makes sure to satisfy all. Even Mark Ruffalo to carry on his broad, Hulk owned this film, as others perhaps even improved on the Norton’s great performance, no. Not only did he live up to Norton. For Granteville softball, it’s all about how you finish a game that’s important. The Cowboys spotted Granteville three runs in the first two innings but didn’t seem to get discouraged.

Julia Hamby and Madeline Johnson tied the game in the third and then Sydney Goshko gave Granteville the lead in the fourth with a two-run single that eventually gave the Cowboys a 3-3 tie over Granteville Friday afternoon in Grantsville.

“We had talked about getting behind early in the season and we never gave up,” said Granteville coach Heidi Taylor. “I thought we focused on our goals in the game of being sharp on defense and playing a much more solid game.”

The victory was huge for Granteville as they were in the game with Stansbury for a 7-4 record heading into their final region game of the year to see who turned up as the essentially a playoff game for third place in region. With Stansbury, Grantsville, Carbon, and胤cient as a third seed.

Hunt and Clingman each pitched a good portion of the hotel for the Cowboys. Hamby helped Granteville with the ﬁrst run of the game and ﬁve of them were doubles.

“We’re pretty strong in the hitting department all the way through the lineup one through nine. In fact, you could say we’re strong one through 11. We have 12 or 13 players who can hit the ball,” the coach said.

Stansbury got it going in the top of the third inning when the Stallions scored ﬁve runs and never let up the rest of the game. Stansbury scored five in the third, three in the fourth, two in the fifth and three more in the sixth to win the game 13-3 in six innings and achieve a 12-5 season record.

“I thought that we could win the region title, but I was surprised that we went undefeated,” Clinton said. “It’s a great performance for our graduating seniors who place in the top four in their events will qualify for the state tournament.”

After winning the region title, Stansbury’s next goal was to ﬁnish undefeated in region. A game against a good Granteville team Thursday at Granteville ended in the way of reaching that next goal, and after the run-ins it looked like the Cowboys might spoil that quest for the Stallions.

Grantsville ace Dolores Erickson allowed only one runner on base in the ﬁrst two innings and the Cowboys jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the ﬁrst inning. Stansbury chopped a long double to left center ﬁeld in the middle of the second inning and then Tehran Turner lofted a ﬂoating bunt for a single to make it 3-1 Grantsville.

It was when they went up 3-0 because Erickson was moving us down the line,” said SSHS shortstop Binary Sears, “Amanda Smith is a force.”

The coach’s concerns were swept away in the top of the third inning when the Stallions scored ﬁve runs and never let up the rest of the game. Stansbury scored ﬁve in the third, three in the fourth, two in the ﬁfth and three more in the sixth to win the game 13-3 in six innings and achieve a 12-5 season record.

As the fourth seed, Stansbury had the advantage of sending a player down using Spanish Fork’s Spanish and knocked them off their perch.

That is exactly what Stansbury did as they dominated play after 10 minutes and got a goal from Josh Gallegos in the 35th minute to put the 1-0 upset victory Thursday in Spanish Fork.

In the quarterfinals, Stansbury never found that goal and settled down in the second half to pull out the 2-0 victory over Stansbury Saturday afternoon in Draper.

The loss to Juan Diego in the quarterfinals 60-0,5935 with the fact that Stansbury made a 1-0-1-1 goal and carried that momentum into the second half to pull out the 2-0 victory over Stansbury Saturday afternoon in Draper.

Stansbury senior Juan Diego (3) was forced off with a red card in the Spanish Fork game I thought our players really came together the rest of the way off goal number one. “

The hard work paid off finally for Stansbury in the 19th minute when Josh Gallegos blasted a shot on goal that was saved and gave Spanish Fork a 1-0 lead heading into the half.

Unfortunately, Stansbury was struck with a goal in the 40th minute when the Stallions put in an own goal into our own net just before halftime.

“We have signals for what we want to do on set pieces and we use them to our advantage every season.”

After Stansbury essentially dominated the second half of the first half, Spanish Fork came back in the final 5 minutes of the half to pull away the Stallions defense. Parker Bowman probably had the best chance to score in that minute when his shot narrowly missed the left post to keep the game scoreless at 1-0.

Stansbury must have gained confidence when they came out with all the scoring chances for the 16 minutes of the second. It was the 56th minute of the game when Stansbury an edge and Sharp started it by getting a shot on goal that was saved and gave Stansbury a corner kick. Sharp, who now wearing the number two as his place has kicked the ball straight into the hands of Juan Diego came out in the second half and put a damper on Stansbury.

The kids to play their game, “said coach. And it never happened.”

As the fourth seed, Stansbury must have gained confidence when they came out with all the scoring chances for the 16 minutes of the second. It was the 56th minute of the game when Stansbury was offside and Sharp headed the ball and sent it into goal as a Stansbury defender fail to clear the ball.

The effect coyotes have on deer fawns— and the effect coyote control has on the deer population— are among the things biologists and university researchers will know more about this summer. The DWR, USU and BYU are working to conduct a couple of deer/coyote studies in Tooele County.

The study on Mission Mountain is just one of several things the DWR and its partners are doing this summer to monitor deer/coyote situations. Whereas some studies will monitor the size of the coyote population, others will look at ways to improve survival rates of deer fawns in the first critical months of their lives.

Models suggest that if deer fawns are tracked using VITs and fitted with radio collars and a vaginal-implant transmitter (VIT) and monitored carefully as they move about, researchers will be able to learn more about the effect high-traffic counties have on their own survival rates.

Immediately, biologists and a volunteer search crew will travel to the area to find the fawns and fit them with an expandable radio collar. Once the fawns are fitted with the expandable collars, biologists will monitor them for about six months to see how many fawns survive the first critical months of their lives.

Tracking has been the key to controlling the coyote population, researchers say. To help deer survive the first, critical months of their lives, biologists will monitor them for about six months. The DWR and its partners have also allowed researchers to estimate the size of the coyote population, which is just one of several things the DWR and its partners are doing this summer to monitor deer/coyote situations.

The DWR has put additional resources into deer poachers and into increasing the size of the deer population, which is just one of several things the DWR and its partners are doing this summer to monitor deer/coyote situations.

The challenge now is to build a hunt where wildlife managers can successfully control the population of coyotes in the first phase of the 10-run rule. Another top hurler is Ben Gordon. An exciting race is anticipated in the 400-meter hurdles, where Gordon will be seeking to run near the top time last season. Stansbury’s team includes both Ben Lomond and Eustis.

Tooele County School 5A schools also hold titles in the Region 11 Region 11 track and field. Stansbury’s Coyote and Grantsville are at the top in the region in the 400-meter hurdles. The three schools have shown in the opening round that they want to compete. Hardik brothers Akhn and Azir are among the leaders in the push up the sand pit. Darrick Rabin is an exciting contender along with Stansbury’s Hunter Anderson and Tooele’s Tyler Peterson. We expected that Deseret will hold the title in the hurdles again this season. However, the top times have been so fast despite the opening round of 3A track and field at Grantsville.

Tooele woman reflects on her century of life and reveals her secrets for staying alert and healthy

Eleanor “Nora” Dalpiaz has lived through more than a century. She was born in Colorado in 1911. At the age of 5, her family moved to Utah. While growing up, she and her family lived in several mining towns such as Sunnyside and Price.

When she was a young woman, Dalpiaz met her husband Frank at a church carnival. They courted for a year, and spent a lot of their time attending dances and socials. After a yearlong engagement, the couple moved in 1938. They honeymooned in San Francisco and Southern California. Dalpiaz’s husband had a friend who worked at Grauman’s Chinese Theatre in Hollywood as a master.

“It was exciting to go to that theater,” Dalpiaz said. “We went back several times. It was a beautiful place. There was an area there with stars’ names and handprints in a circle on the ground. You could just walk up to it and look down at it. I have pictures of us in front of the Grauman’s Chinese Theatre. The pictures remind me of that wonderful time.”

As newlyweds, the couple settled in Helper, a small town with a population of a little more than 2,000. Dalpiaz resided there for most of 70 years where she worked as a nurse and her husband worked for the United States Postal Service. He was also in the Navy. Even after her husband died in 1996, Dalpiaz continued to live in the same home they had bought together. The couple was married for 59 years.

“Frank was an ideal husband, so kind and patient,” Dalpiaz said. “He knew how to avoid problems. We were very compatible and we shared our responsibilities in our marriage. I depended on him for so many things.”

Q: My husband said he read somewhere that the movie Mega Maze is hosting “Franklin & Bash” because he has a new comedy on the air that his new step-daughter, Keiko E., via e-mail

A: I think you’re confusing Keiko E. with Keiko A., her mother. The movie “Mega Maze” is indeed hosting “Franklin & Bash,” but the reason is that the show’s producer, Michael Schur, is a big fan of the show. He asked the cast to make an appearance in the movie, and they were happy to oblige. The cast is due to appear in the movie in the spring of this year.

Q: As of this writing, are you still working on the set of “Once Upon a Time”?

A: Yes, I am. “Once Upon a Time” has been renewed for a fourth season, and I am currently working on the set. The show is set in the year 1720, and my character, the Cheshire Cat, is a key figure in the story. The cast is due to appear in a special episode of the show in the spring of this year.

Q: What is your favorite movie of all time?

A: That’s a difficult question to answer, as I have seen so many great movies in my time. However, I would say that my favorite movie of all time is “The Lord of the Rings: The Return of the King.” The movie is set in a world of fantasy, and the characters are well-developed. The movie is also visually stunning, with a score that is both powerful and emotional.

Q: What is your favorite TV show of all time?

A: Again, it’s very difficult to answer that question. However, I would say that my favorite TV show of all time is “The Office.” The show is set in a world of humor, and the characters are well-developed. The show is also visually stunning, with a score that is both powerful and emotional.

Q: What is your favorite book of all time?

A: That’s a very difficult question to answer. However, I would say that my favorite book of all time is “The Great Gatsby.” The book is set in a world of fantasy, and the characters are well-developed. The book is also visually stunning, with a score that is both powerful and emotional.

Q: What is your favorite song of all time?

A: That’s a very difficult question to answer. However, I would say that my favorite song of all time is “Bohemian Rhapsody.” The song is set in a world of fantasy, and the characters are well-developed. The song is also visually stunning, with a score that is both powerful and emotional.
Soybeans are both new and old on the food scene. Soy in many forms has been a mainstay of the Asian diet in the form of soy sauce, tofu and the beans themselves for more than 2,000 years.

In America, we have used soybeans in cooking for a much shorter time. It is only in the last two decades that we have been interested in finding ways to incorporate them into American foods because they provide so many health benefits. A half-cup of soybeans contain 100 calories, 3 grams of fiber and 6 grams of protein. They also provide 16 percent of the daily requirement for Vitamin A, 6 percent of the daily requirement for iron. Soybeans are both new and old on the food scene. Soy Soybeans are a major crop across the country, with edamame as one of the new soy foods. "The beans look something like a lima bean, but the flavor and texture are quite different. To become edamame, the soybeans are harvested at the peak of ripening just before they reach the "hardening" time. The word edamame means "beans on branches." They do not grow in clusters on bushy branches. They are picked at the proper time and then parboiled to preserve them. After that, they are quickly frozen. You will find edamame in the grocery store in the frozen food section. While it has become very popular as a snack, it is also easy to use. Serve them cold, room temperature, or steamed. The proper method is to pop open although they are too tough to eat. Instead, squeeze them with the fingers. The seeds fall into a bowl. Eat the seeds fresh and bright.

Edamame Succotash

1 1/2 cups diced white onion
1-2 teaspoons oil in pan
2 teaspoons chopped garlic
1/4 cup chopped red onion
2 tablespoons tomato paste
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/4 cups diced white onions
2 tablespoons chopped garlic
1 teaspoon fresh thyme
2 teaspoons coarse black pepper
1/4 teaspoon coarse cayenne pepper (optional)
1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper (optional)
1/4 cup Worcestershire sauce

Soy Succotash

1 tablespoon soybean oil
2 cups chopped cherry tomatoes
1/4 cup chopped celery
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon fresh thyme
2 teaspoons coarse black pepper
1 1/2 teaspoons coarsely ground cumin
1/2 cup broccoli/brussels sprouts

1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper (optional)

Heat pan with soybean oil. Put edamame beans into pan and add rest of ingredients. Reheat and cook for four to five minutes, just long enough to cook the onion and celery. Don’t cook for too long to keep the vegetables fresh and bright.

Chickens, Corn, Edamame Stew

1 cup defrosted and drained edamame beans
1 1/2 cups diced white onions
1 1/2 cups chopped red bell pepper
1/4 teaspoon coarse cayenne pepper
1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper (optional)

Meanwhile, add frozen corn and soybeans to onion-tomato mixture. Add it back to vegetables. Heat until warmed through. Serve in a bowl. These students have gone through a year of research, without funding from the government or any company. A half-cup of soybeans contains 3 grams of fiber and 8 grams of protein. It is high in protein, isoflavones, and phytoestrogens. It is a heart-healthy mono-unsaturated fat and is also low in carbohydrates. The daily requirement for Vitamin A and Vitamin C is 6 percent of the daily requirement for the daily requirement for iron.
