High winds shut down freeway

A wind moving at 40 to 60 mph topped two semi-truck drivers on Interstate 80 near Wendover Sunday evening. Although no one was injured, UHP Lt. Mike Rapich said wind so powerful that tractors and other high-profile vehicles traveling along I-80 from Wendover to Carson City had to be directed to pass at approximately 50 minutes. At about 1:00 p.m., the wind was blowing over an area near I-80 south of Wendover. Rapich said, “Ten minutes later, another storm hit the same spot.”

A semi-trailer truck was involved on I-80 near west of Wendover, says Rapich. “The wind had died down by then, but there was still rain coming down.” Although Tooele County residents didn’t experience anything serious, many drivers felt the effects of the storm in the area.

Chemical depot’s BRAC listing no surprise

By Karen Lee Scott

Despite Deseret Chemical Depot’s efforts, placed on the final base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) list, the depot officials do not appear surprised or aston¬ ished—"we were ready for just about any outcome," said Ann Bevan, a program analyst for the Depot.

“We found out that morning [July 1] that we were on the list,” said Col. Raymond Van Pelt, depot commander, but there was really "no surprise." The depot’s limited-function installation positioned out Van Pelt. “We have been preparing for activities here that are really beyond storage and operations,” he added.

He said the Department of Defense decision did not come as a surprise, keeping the site open but finding that chemical and defense missions were not enough to support the depot’s ongoing missions and operations. He added that the decision was already closed by 2002—a decision that was in place before the most recent BRAC list released.

“Bottom line—we will compl¬
"in 2012. This is because CDAC already

The depot had been considered for a November 2012 closure, but the decision was delayed due to the sequestration cuts, and it now looks as though CDAC will close in 2012.

That said, local residents who work at CDAC as a program analyst, said she had been through the scenario before. She was employed by the Tooele Army Depot when the site was considered for closure in 2002.

As far as what happens to the depot, Van Pelt said, "This is a question for those in the management board that is going to make the decision, which is the BRAC board, to make a recommendation to Congress on what to do with the depot." He added that the site will continue to operate as usual until the recommendation is made, and that it is unclear what the recommendation will be.

He said the decision will have a significant impact on the employees who worked there, and that the depot’s closure will have a significant impact on the community as well. He noted that any closure of the CDAC would have a significant impact on the community, and that the closure of the CDAC would be a "no-win situation."

acquire. Webster said if something goes wrong and that channel gets plugged, water can be diverted into a gravel pit on the west side of the railroad track in the Seventh area.

"That gravel pit is our space time, we don't want to use the space until we get it flat. If we fill the gravel pit now when we don't need to we won't have a space time to use later," Webster said.

Weather patterns of three or four days of cool weather followed by two days of warm weather have prevented large amounts of water from gushing out of the mountain all at once. But weather would change that pattern.

"The best situation is to have a warm snap, cool back off for a while, then have some more warm weather. If it turned hot and stayed hot, we would have trouble," Webster said.

Settlement Canyon Irrigation President Gary Brown said he receives about 20 calls a day from people worried about flooding. He now thinks everything will be OK.

"We've had so much rain that nobody is using any water. High water running down the southern side of state Route 112 (the road between Tooele and Grantsville) will gush and gush all at once. Hot weather would change that pattern.

May 1, 1983 water-stage levels at Rocky Reach, which drains from Settlement Canyon, hit 50 inches. On May 1 this year it reached 5.5 inches. Cool weather and intermittent snow storms in the mountain range have kept snow-water levels about the same during the past week. On May 12 the snow-water level swelled 17 inches Monday morning it swelled 20 inches, according to the daily reported record.

Mother Nature will have the final say on what happens regarding runoff. If we get some storms like they did in Carlin Canyon last week we could have problems," Brown said. But for a man who has watched the water situation in Tooele Valley for years, Brown knows to "chuck the words. I hope it doesn't rain."

"We've got plenty of time left. We've been dry so long I've never wanted to turn away water," he said.

In fact, Tooele hasn't even been challenged the past three years winning all 15 state tournament games in a row without a state defeat. Not too shabby for a team that had to replace six position from last year's title team with a handful of junior, sophomore and even a pair of freshmen.

Tooele Coach Barry Pitt said winning titles isn't getting old for the Lady Buff squad.

"It feels new every time," he said. "It never gets old. The girls feel like they are king of the hill. They feel like they own it and don't want to give it up. This is something to be proud of. These girls have a great team chemistry and every stage of one team — including the substitutions we made in the tournament — contributed to this title."

"This one was special because it was the third year in a row," the coach added. "Each one of them have their own value to it that don't take away from the other championship. It adds a little more to it each time."

Lee Anne Palmer said she believed that the team would come through during the tournament, even with the new starters.

"It feels good still," stated the two-time MVP. "It's not old but for us. The other girls knew they had big shoes to fill and so they stepped up and got the job done.

"I had a lot of confidence in them from day one," she continued. "We have three now. We now want to get the fourth one.

There were a lot of good teams this year and Palamer said they always knew who they would face.

"But we knew we wanted it so bad that we couldn't see us falling short," she said. "Even though we were behind, we knew that it wasn't an option to lose and that we would come back, no matter what it took.""}

Anna Lenore Irving Bevan, age 92, our dear mother, grandmother, sister and friend passed away May 15, 2005, of heart failure.

She was born on Sept. 5, 1913, in West Jordan, Utah, to Zena, McPhie Irving and Delmar Lafferty Irving. She grew up in Granger, Utah, and was one of six children. She attended Grantsville and West High schools.

She married Berrett Bevan on Sept. 24, 1938, at Grantsville where their children lived to tively the Bevan family home. Ann loved an avid gardener and loved working in her yard with the flowers and vegetables that she shared with everyone.

As a resident of Grantsville she was a regular at the local weather observer, with her husband and family, for the National Weather Service for 40 years.

Ann loved to bowl and was a member of several bowling leagues here in Tooele. In her youth she was an excellent swimmer; player and played with her sister on several teams in Salt Lake City. She was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and a member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

She lived life and traveled many places around the country with her husband and their close family.

She was preceded in death by her parents, her husband, Daniel Bevan, her son-in-law, Lee Krause, Salt Lake City, and her brother, Jesse Irving Bevan.

She is survived by her son, Lee Krause, Salt Lake City, sons Dick Bevan, Salt Lake City, and Neil B. (Shanna) Bevan of Murray City; grandchildren, Shann (Jan) Florence, Salt Lake City, Blaine (Kim) Kane, Salt Lake City, and Patrick and Allie of Spanish Fork; and seven great-grandchildren.

She loved life, loved people, and loved living and being in the outdoors. She was a member of the Tooele Amateur Radio Club and held an HR-8 license for the number one loader on the weekend.

She is preceded in death by her parents, her husband, Daniel Bevan, her son-in-law, Lee Krause, Salt Lake City, and her brother, Jesse Irving Bevan.

THANKS TO THE MEN AND WOMEN OF UTAH'S MILITARY INSTALLATIONS.

As a result of your dedication and hard work, Hill Air Force Base, Dugway Proving Grounds, Tooele Army Depot, as well as Utah's National Guard and Reserve Units have not been recommended for closure in the Pentagon's recommendations to the Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) Commission.

You can be justifiably proud of the job you are doing. We are certainly proud of you. We, at the Utah Defense Alliance, also wish to acknowledge the government and business leaders who have tirelessly worked and fought to save these installations.

On behalf of all Utahns, thank you for everything you do for our country, our state, and for the communities in which we live.

UTAH DEFENSE ALLIANCE

The Utah Defense Alliance is a nonprofit organization comprised of elected officials and business leaders from northern Utah. It is supported by state appropriations and private sector contributions.
Hey! Look at our gold trophy, Tooole girls polo team shouts.

Ladies. Start your fire engines! Tooole girls water polo team celebrated its state-championship victory Saturday evening with fire truck sirens blaring, lights flashing and horns honking as they enjoyed the traditional Main Street celebration.

The Tooele High water polo team is all smiles after the Lady Buffs capture their second third place in the state tournament last weekend at Kearns. Tooele beat Bear River for the coveted crown and five Buff boys topped the individual field.

And four Tooele County prep athletes took advantage of the spotlight and turned in their ultimate performances. Look at all three of those parents and fans who support our team every step of the way.

Cowgirls net 5th in state tourney

By Nick Drake

The entire track and field team field joined in Tooele to compete in the Class 3A through 5A State Track & Field Championships. The event gives even the smallest of schools a chance to showcase their talents and each and every team comes to the field with a dream of second and first place finish.

And four Tooele County prep athletes took advantage of this opportunity and turned in their ultimate performances to ensure Tooele can return to the Division Friday and Saturday at Brigham Young University.

Tooole Highs Tyson Hughes, Garry Dugay and Dave Scheff and Blake "Charlie" Langi proved they were the best athletes in their respective event during the 2005 season and each captured coveted state titles under the pressure of state competition.

Hughes powered his way to the 300 hurdles in the Class 3A ranks while Cowgirl senior Trinna valued to the high jump state crown and returned her second consecutive state championship.

Meanwhile, Scheffield placed his claim to the state title in the 3A 300 hurdles and turned the Buffs on to the Buffs to the Buffs to the Buffs to the Buffs. Join the fun at the Battle of the Bands and cruise into the finals of two of the most prestigious tournaments April 16 at Logan. Bear Lake’s Axton Sorensen fought the score to a tie for third place in the prestigious tournament at Logan. Axton fought to silence the crowd in the second round of singles play as Nielsen dropped down in the opening round of the Region 11 bracket action. Axton defeated Logan’s Ron Olson, Taylor Bailey, and Brian Ruard of Morgan, downed Tilden and Brunson to have the semifinals. The Trojans first set to romp past Axton Ruard and Brian Ruard of Bear River with a 6-1, 6-0 decision over sixth seed and valley brother.

The Buffs take fourth place

"That loss hurt," Tooele captain Allison Lee noted. "We had a great team, but we could not risk making this one an easy one for the other team." Wells added. "Because they are so dangerous, we could not risk making this one an easy one for the other team."

The injury required a quick trip back to Tooele hours to get over it, but we knew we could come back," Coach Wells said.

Pennie fired in a goal on a fast break drive with only seven minutes remaining in the second half. Bridges and Cox both scored in the final stanza as sophomore goalie Halladay shut down all scoring. "We got complacent after we built our early lead," Coach Wells noted. "Because they are so dangerous, we could not risk making this one an easy one for the other team."

The Cowboys fought to a 3-3 tie in the opening round, 6-1, 6-0 victory over Paulich in the consolation bracket. Axton defeated Logan’s Ron Olson, Taylor Bailey, and Brian Ruard of Morgan, downed Tilden and Brunson to have the semifinals. crown, there were some spectacular individual efforts to enhance the team's showing. Westminster’s Little girls team earned a third place finish at the Class 3A State Track & Field meet. The girls took home a total of 98 and Piute was a distant second with 71. Wayne took third place with a total of 257. Meanwhile, the Cowboys ended the regular season with a second place finish at 68 and finished the season with a record of 4-6. The Grantsville High girls cinder team also earned a second place finish at 98. The Scots eliminated the Buffs last year in the post-season and this year they came all the way back from the 6-8 deficit, the Cowboys put up a decisive 9-5 victory to the early edge. The Cougars

The Lady Buffs finished the 2005 season with a record of 22-3 overall. But even more impressive is that the Lady Buffs were able to put up a decisive 9-5 victory to the early edge. The Cougars did for the Cowboys in the opening frame to take the lead from the Buffs early on. As for the third straight state triumph, "I don't think that the title will get old or we will take it for granted. I was a little bit concerned that the team might not be as close and tight as it was last year, but that really isn't the case this year," he said about the state title run. "I think that we have a great group of girls this year, but we also have a great group of seniors who have been on the team for a long time. They have been the ones who have helped us make mistakes and we capitalized on them as well," he said. Perhaps we can also take this opportunity to recognize them for their hard work and dedication to the team.

The Lady Buffs opened the season on Thursday as two-time defending state champs with only three returning starters. They were coached by former Grantville High coach Matthew Sloan and assistant coach Kim Billings. The Lady Buffs have won the past three seasons.

Tooele coach Bob Fullah and Barry Pitt put the team in the annual state tournament only a few minutes after the Cowboys team display after winning a state championship. The Lady Buffs captured their third straight Class 3A State Softball championship with a 3-2 victory over Lehi last Saturday.

As for the season, Coach Pitt didn't think of any pivotal moment during the season that was a turning point. "But I can't think of any pivotal moment during this season as well. Perhaps it was the state title run. We were really close the whole season and I doubt if we could have won it. But if we didn't have the Dallas game we could have won it. I think that a little bit of heartbreak helped us win the game. We had a chance to win and we couldn't do it. Perhaps we can also take this opportunity to recognize them for their hard work and dedication to the team.

French intrigue comes to G-ville

by Karen Hunt

THURSDAY  May 17, 2005

Students at Grantsville High School chose to perform the Scarlet Pimpernel despite its challenging music, accents, costumes and set. Their director expects their hard work will result in dazzling performances May 18-21.

During a time of violence, blood and revolution, heroes are born — and so are dazzling works of literature. The French Revolution provided the backdrop for such masterpieces as Les Miserables, A Tale of Two Cities and The Scarlet Pimpernel.

The comedic gentry in The Scarlet Pimpernel gives it unique flair. "Anyone with a sense of adventure of course will appreciate the fact that these eight aristocrats are trying to outwit an entire French army," Grantsville High School Director Matt Price said.

The musical will be performed at Grantsville High School May 18-21, and stars Sir Percy (played by Tycen Lear).

Percy begins a daring double life when his friend, Marquis de St. Cyr (played by Truxton Moulton) is beheaded at the guillotine along with others innocent of crime during the reign of terror.

As the Scarlet Pimpernel, Percy travels between England and France on the pretext of acquiring the most recent fashions. Those memorable, gaudy costumes are part of what make the show what it is.

"This is only the second time in my career that I've ever rented a whole casting of costumes," Price said.

To portray the 18th Century French nobility, Price rented the stunning costumes complete with ruffles and elaborate brocade from Pioneer Memorial Theatre in Salt Lake City.

As the Scarlet Pimpernel saves lives and outwits those in authority, he becomes beloved of some. He is also a thorn in the side of Robespierre (played by Dewey McNeill), a famous leader in the French Revolution and Citizen Chauvelin (played by Chandler Durrant), who set out on a mission to discover his identity.

Caught in the turmoil of the times is Sir Percy's wife, Marguerite St. Just (played by Dana Humke).

Sir Percy is given reason to distrust her immediately after their marriage. Heartbroken, he turns from her with his secrets, leaving her confused and alone.

Further complicating things, Citizen Chauvelin knows St. Just from before her marriage. He contacts her for help determining the Scarlet Pimpernel's identity. Through a series of plot complications, the musical advances to its topsy turvy climax.

"It's a real unexpected ending and a lot of unexpected things happen," Price said.

Price thinks the cast is excellent, despite the difficulty of the performance. His students chose the performance themselves.

"They always feel they have to top what we did last year and last year's production of Tom Sawyer was really wonderful," Price explained.

One challenge is the difficult music, another are the British and French accents. "The music is beautiful, it's wonderful, but it's complex," Price said. "Of course it's set in a different time period in a different country — two different countries — so we work on dialects and vernacular and just those things that help them transfer into someone else."

In fact, Price believes this year's cast is the most talented he has ever seen. While around 100 students auditioned, there were less than 50 parts.

"It was really hard to cast, because we have an overwhelming number of talented students this year," Price said. "Overall though, I think we have done it exactly how it should have been."

Among the talent are Garin Hobson, playing Dewhurt, one of Percy's bounders. Hobson recently was named Sterling Scholar in speech and drama. He plans to continue with theatre or film at Brigham Young University.

There are countless other talented individuals, including several seniors in their final play before graduation.

"This is only the second time in my career that I've ever rented a whole casting of costumes," Price said.

To portray the 18th Century French nobility, Price rented the stunning costumes complete with ruffles and elaborate brocade from Pioneer Memorial Theatre in Salt Lake City.

As the Scarlet Pimpernel saves lives and outwits those in authority, he becomes beloved of some. He is also a thorn in the side of Robespierre (played by Dewey McNeill), a famous leader in the French Revolution and Citizen Chauvelin (played by Chandler Durrant), who set out on a mission to discover his identity.

Caught in the turmoil of the times is Sir Percy's wife, Marguerite St. Just (played by Dana Humke).

Sir Percy is given reason to distrust her immediately after their marriage. Heartbroken, he turns from her with his secrets, leaving her confused and alone.

Further complicating things, Citizen Chauvelin knows St. Just from before her marriage. He contacts her for help determining the Scarlet Pimpernel's identity. Through a series of plot complications, the musical advances to its topsy turvy climax.

"It's a real unexpected ending and a lot of unexpected things happen," Price said.

Price thinks the cast is excellent, despite the difficulty of the performance. His students chose the performance themselves.

"They always feel they have to top what we did last year and last year's production of Tom Sawyer was really wonderful," Price explained.

One challenge is the difficult music, another are the British and French accents. "The music is beautiful, it's wonderful, but it's complex," Price said. "Of course it's set in a different time period in a different country — two different countries — so we work on dialects and vernacular and just those things that help them transfer into someone else."

In fact, Price believes this year's cast is the most talented he has ever seen. While around 100 students auditioned, there were less than 50 parts.

"This year's cast is the most talented he has ever seen. While around 100 students auditioned, there were less than 50 parts."

"It was really hard to cast, because we have an overwhelming number of talented students this year," Price said. "Overall though, I think we have done it exactly how it should have been."

Among the talent are Garin Hobson, playing Dewhurt, one of Percy's bounders. Hobson recently was named Sterling Scholar in speech and drama. He plans to continue with theatre or film at Brigham Young University.

There are countless other talented individuals, including several seniors in their final play before graduation.
These students from Grantville High recently learned all about the world of interior design. Kelly Melgosa, their work-based learning coordinator, took them to Salt Lake to ForYours Furnishers Galleries for their job shadow. Kelly Melgosa, a ForYours designer by job title and interior design instructor by trade, shared with the students that ForYours draws on the brownstone residence; Melgosa, Kelly Melgosa,leanne Readyson, Kaysa Hoth, Jeni Wall, Avada Ready and Kayla Remp.

Hoffman/ Stahle

Arleen Hoffman and Kathy Stahle are invited to our various planning services for brides and grooms. Any mistakes the bride and groom can make can be made up to the wedding, and they'll tell you—just go with your gut instincts and have fun.

These many couples believe that once they deal with the issues they feel are most important to them — e.g., guest list, interface, temperature — a great wedding will happen — and so will the schedule.

Nonetheless, even wedding planners will tell you that while they set their reputations for competence and reliability, the bride’s instincts are the final word on the schedule. If other things go amiss, the plans and supplier adjustments will follow.

It is therefore most important that the bridal couple and the services they plan to use, here are some things you should arrange to do at least three months — preferably, much sooner — in advance of your wedding day. Here are some items that you will definitely want to include.

1. Arrangements for the bride’s bridal party. The bridesmaids and the groomsmen should begin at least three months prior to the wedding day. This will allow for any other arrangements with the design, the construction of the dresses, the flowers.

2. How will the groomsmen be arranged to assist in the planning for the wedding. This is also to be done now, so all available and in good condition when they’re needed.

3. Exactly what gifts? The bridal gift registry serves the needs of both the bride and groom.

4. Does the bride’s list have to be done now? The bride’s list has to be done now to assure that everything is in stock. Don’t delay.

5. Family. Many brides and grooms name certain people to be there, should they pay a price.

6. These are bound to be disappointing.

7. Will the bridesmaids and groomsmen be here on time? Sometimes they will, sometimes they won’t. Lucky them.

8. The way it should be. You should be able to find a florist who can fit you in on the last minute.

9. What gifts do you want to put in the bridal registry? We’ll do it for you. We’ll put in the bridal registry for you.

10. Do you want to put in the bridal registry for you.

11. The way it should be. You should be able to find a florist who can fit you in on the last minute. This is the bridesmaid’s dress.

12. What gifts do you want to put in the bridemaids’ dresses?

13. The way it should be. You should be able to find a florist who can fit you in on the last minute.

MILITARY NEWS

Jessi Spikes

Marine Corps Pvt. Jess A. Spikes, son of Carl L. and Janice E. Spikes of Tooele, recently completed 12 weeks of basic training at Marine Corps recruit depot, San Diego, Calif., designed to challenge new Marines prepare both physically and mentally.

Spikes and fellow recruits began their training at 5 a.m. by running three miles and performing calisthenics. In addition to the physical conditioning program, Spikes spent numerous hours in classrooms and field assignments which included learning heir first aid, uniform regulations, combat water survival, marksmanship, hand-to-hand combat and armed escort

Spikes and other recruits also received instruction on the Marine Core's culture values — honor, courage and commitment, and what the core values mean in practice for their service.

Spikes joined the Marine Corps in August 2003.

Spikes and other recruits ended the training phase with The Crucible, a 5-hour team evolution culminating in an emotional core exercise in which recruits are pierced through the Marine Corps Emblem and address themselves as “Marines”. It was first time in their career.

Spikes joined the Marine Corps in May 2003.
