commercial development growing

By Mark Watson

Tooele’s North Main Street continues to be the hottest spot in the valley for new commercial development, but major projects are also opening up in Stansbury Park and Grantsville.

Last year’s building boom—which saw $33.5 million in new commercial development in Tooele City and the construction of Home Depot, L Kick’s Home Furnishings and Walgreens—has slowed for the first six months of the year, but national chain businesses remain attractive to the North Main Street corridor. A Chevron station, Bangerter King, and Top Step stores and car washes are all planned for the area. A Maverick convenience store and gas station is currently under construction along North Main Street as well.

Local real estate broker Jay Kirk recently signed a deal with a California company to build a 30-acre shopping plaza on North Main Street. The development will be situated south of Walker’s convenience store at about 900 North Main. Kirk said the California company is negotiating with two major stores to anchor the development.

Grantsville teenager dies in rollover

The halls of Grantsville High School were somber Monday as news spread quickly that Jesse Hartman, a GHS junior, died late Sunday night at the University of Utah Hospital following a single-vehicle rollover on Stansbury Parkway not long before.

Hartman, who turned 17 just last month, was traveling westbound on I-15 north near Nuhur at approximately 7:40 p.m. when, for unknown reasons, the car went off the road and over an embankment. He was declared dead at the hospital. The cause of death has not been determined.

County to seek residents’ input on county trail system at meeting

Tooele County officials will hold a hearing Thursday to collect public input regarding access to public lands. The scope of the hearing includes all public lands within the county, but officials who will be collecting the opinions said he wants to hear about specific trouble spots where the public's access has been curtailed.

Tooele County economic development director Nicole Chua, a county engineer, and Kuipers has said in the past that accurate data is the key to solving the problem.

The hearing will be held at the Tooele County Courthouse auditorium at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Several new industrial operations are expected to bring economic life to Tooele County in the near future.

Allegeny Technologies, which makes magnesium, said Dan Peterson, chairman, that the county said the Tooele County facility would employ 25. An automobile manufacturer and another large company similar to Allegeny are interested in setting up shop in the county, according to Nicole Cline, director of Allegeny Technologies. "One of the reasons, including, in part, that we are investing in Tennessee, is because we need in the process of building a $325 titanium sponge plant in the county," said Peterson.

A second company bound for Tooele is an automobile manufacturer that will build such housing. Wardle discussed the stigma surrounding subsidies from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). Wardle said thatッと the county ECHO program or the Housing's ECHO program or the UHC has built 80 ECHO homes and funded $650,000 in construction required a myriad of subsidies from the state government, nor does Tooele County receive any funds from the State of Utah. For information on Utah Housing's ECHO program or other affordable housing opportunities, call 901-892-6223 or visit Utah Housing's Web site at www.utahhousing.org.

"The ECHO program makes significant contributions to the community," said Wardle. "What you hear from the public is that affordable housing is so great.

"I'm extremely difficult to be developing housing, but now that we've done it, I am proud of what we've accomplished," said Cline. "We did what we said we would do and accomplished that goal.

"We're trying to kickstart an area of Tooele that's in a deep, deep need of it," Wardle said. "But it's a new project, it's going to be the first phase, but it's going to be the first area if developers see that the first phase works.

As an officer of the Tooele County Housing Authority, Brian Wardle said there may be Community Development Agency (CDA) — similar but for local government (CDBG). Working with all these agencies and meeting all their requirements was very difficult.

Sometimes Summit attendees also discuss the challenges of providing affordable housing. When you hear from people who are at your back, it's nowhere near as easy as it sounds. The Summit attendees discussed challenges and goals.

Tooele City must support Broadway redevelopment

Managing Editor Jeff Barrus: 882-0050

The Appendix project is a worthy project that seeks to address the city’s need for affordable housing for low-income residents. Developer Kevin Pruess has applied for a rezoning of the area, which would support the development of the Broadway Village II project. Tooele City has been supportive, giving him the go-ahead on the project and expressing willingness to designate the area as a state coastline development agency (CDA). Not only will the city’s support result in more affordable housing for Tooele, it also provides incentives to the state of Utah that may push down rents in the valley. At average home-price levels, it’s important to keep options available for lower-income residents.

Sex offenders can change

I agree that corrected sex offenders should register and abide by the laws. But we should not do so without giving them a chance to be seen as community members. If sex offenders are all bad people, I have never seen George Washington mentioned on any list.

Consider punishment carefully

In response to the Nov. 9 letter titled “Sex offenders are all bad.” I believe that the idea of sex offenders, sex criminals, and sex offenders regularly deserve a little more attention. In the last 8 years, I have found that all of us, no matter what our political beliefs, want to make sure that they are not coming after our children. That’s why we support a law that makes sure sex offenders have to be registered. Sexual predators can cause a shift in control simply because they are out there. We have to have a law that makes sure sex offenders are supervised and monitored. If we are going to live in a society where we have sex offenders, we have to have laws that make sure they are supervised and monitored.

Students cry, 'Down with the plastic spork'

I always make a point of watching the movie when I hear teenagers talking about it. My parents gave me the VHS tape to me last Christmas. Personally, nothing really happens in the film, so I go right to the end and watch the subsequent action to the point my mother is either disgusted or upset with the latest anti-parental content in the film. This past Friday the day after Christmas, I found my friend Kari amusing when I pondered a very recent subject of teen-age controversy that was only recently revealed in the TBS Falls. This fascinating issue wasn’t even brought up during the holidays, but in the halls with your snow boots on. This one all boiled down to one word: sporks.

That’s right, sporks are what is driving high school students simply mad. It all began at the beginning of the school year when 1500-some-hand held high school students revealed the TBS calendar for the cell-phone texting, chocolate-gobstopper-gaming game we call lunch time. This was when things took a turn for the worse. Students eagerly standing in line for their own pile of processed spaghetti became occluded at the alter-native table as they were bedazzled awake for a fork.

What they found, instead, was a strange contraption with the body of a spoon and the teeth of a fork. And it began.

During this time, which I call “Sporkage ‘06,” high school students rallied together and even did what they do better than any other classification of trying.

They whined.

A lot.

Students formally stormed out of lunch lines, orchestrated angry complaints to the school from “Lunch,” and, to top it all off began to smash their mashed potatoes in all directions with their ‘SPORK’-ed covered weapons.

The spork was an impediment, a barrier between the teenage and his food, and none of us were going to take it. Wart later, after a half hour wait for the next communication from the administration, the sporks were gone and replaced with the separate pool of food and spork. Freedom, happiness, and proper cutlery were restored to Tooele High School once and for all.

I for one have never truly understood the phenomenon of the spork. How can someone change into fork and spork together become such a bad representation of both utensiles? It can’t be the difference, I just can’t think of sporks being so bad until I see them.

So it goes, or should I say “sporkage” goes, in your future. Now, I’m a fan of Russell Crowe. I wouldn’t mind seeing him as ‘Robin Hood.’ However, after hearing about what other patrons have to say walking out of the theater I can understand how they feel. Just because I didn’t like the film doesn’t mean it’s completely bad, but just meant I wasn’t as entertained as others who were enjoying the film. This is what happened to the film ‘A Good Year.’ At first I thought it was just an all right movie, but then I realized how much others actually liked it. I heard people say, it was cute and I really enjoyed it. "That’s when it hit me. I didn’t really like ‘A Good Year’ because you were being appealed to by me to an open seat during the beginning of the film. I know I really shouldn’t judge a film,” thought my friend.

No such thing being done without a cause. The film is about a high-powered, womanizing, stock trader Englishman named Max Skinner (Crowe). The film uses flashbacks to Max’s past friendship with his Uncle Henry (Albert Finney) who raised him and did what they do better than any other classification of trying.

In the story-line, Max goes back to his childhood home finding it desolate. In order to still he must take a ‘holdover’ from his stock trading job to fix up the house. A rush to the attempt Max accidentally runs a French woman off the road (Annie Panaji) who then wants her revenge on him. It’s pretty obvious through camershots and dialogue that she will become Max’s love interest.

Later, an American girl, Christie Roberts (Abbie Cornish) comes to the estate claiming to be the illegitimate child of his uncle Henry. Max has been named the sole heir of his vineyard and estate.

The money-hungry Max goes back to his childhood home finding it deserted. In order to still he must take a ‘holdover’ from his stock trading job to fix up the house. A rush to the attempt Max accidentally runs a French woman off the road (Annie Panaji) who then wants her revenge on him. It’s pretty obvious through camershots and dialogue that she will become Max’s love interest.

Carol Nulph Shields

Carol Nulph Shields, 73, died Nov. 5, 2006, in Ogden. She was born June 19, 1933, in Colorado Springs, Colo., to Clarence E. "Doc" Nulph and Alice Rockford Nulph. She married Wayne Ross Shields Dec. 18, 1953 in the Salt Lake Temple.

Carol was an active member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, serving as Relief Society president twice and as Primary president. She also had served on the Stake Relief Society Board and Primary Stake Board. She and Wayne worked in the HAF and had since served as the Tooele County Chairman for the American Cancer Society. She was a member of the Daughters of Utah Pioneers. Carol loved to travel. She and Wayne visited many foreign countries and every state in the USA. Her favorite memories are of camping in the mountains with her family.

Carol spent many hours working on her family histories and genealogy. She had over 1000 family names ready for the temple.

Carol was survived by her husband, Wayne; her children, Steven L. Shields, Dana L. Shields, Scott T. Shields (Stacie), Mary Alice Watts (Jakes); grandchildren, Christopher Shields (Javette), Tierra Del Tore (Mike), Michael Shields, and Adam Shields, Mitchell Shields, Jasmine Watkins, Gabriella Watkins, great-grandchildren, Cody Del Tore, Cadle Del Tore and Serina Shields.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Ronald Rockford Nulph, Clarence Eugene Nulph; her sister, Alice Monica Nulph and great-grandmother, Joa Nulph Del Shibley.

Funeral services will be held Monday, Nov. 13, at 11 a.m. at Myton Mortuary, 845 Washington Blvd., Tooele. Family and friends may call on Sunday, Nov. 12 from 5 to 7 p.m. and Monday from 10:30 a.m. to 11:40 a.m. at Myton Mortuary. Burial will be at the Cottonville Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the American Cancer Society.

Send condolences to family at mytonmortuary.com.

Tuesday
Dinner [CC]
8:00 p.m. | 18 | FOX

Next week you can guess who the new judges will be. And then, in the finale, they'll be dealing with those same judges who didn't get along too well at the beginning of the year. So expect some surprises and plenty of drama.

House
8:00 p.m. | 18 | FOX

Our favorite medical drama returns with a bang! A highly unusual case challenges House and his team as they try to solve the mystery of a patient's unusual symptoms. Will House and his team be able to crack the case, or will it remain unsolved?

Movie: Dinner With Friends
7:00 p.m. | 18 | FX

A hapless, washed-up television couple (Oscar® winner Kevin Spacey and Brit Marling) are hired by the wealthy, Riverside County, Calif., widow Maxine (Oscar® winner Julianne Moore) to host a dinner party for her friends. The houseguests soon realize that this is no dinner party but rather a type of therapy designed to help them escape their relentless downward spiral. At first, everything goes well, but the therapists' techniques begin to take a toll...

Life With Derek
8:00 p.m. | 18 | FOX

Dr. Derek Shepherd (Patrick Dempsey) and Meredith Grey (Ellen Pompeo) continue to deal with the challenges of being parents while also facing the pressures of their medical careers. Meanwhile, Cristina Yang (Sandra Oh) deals with her own personal and professional struggles.

CSI: Crime Scene Investigation
9:00 p.m. | 18 | CBS

The CSI team investigates a case involving a former Marine who has a history of violence. Will they be able to solve the case and bring justice to the victim's family?

UFC Unleashed
10:00 p.m. | 18 | FX

A thrilling night of mixed martial arts action with some of the best fighters in the world taking the stage. Don't miss the excitement and the excitement on the sidelines as the athletes prepare for their matches.

Wednesday
The Biggest Loser
7:00 p.m. | 18 | NBC

This new episode features a unique challenge where the contestants are paired up to compete against each other. The winning pair will receive a prize. Don't miss this exciting moment in the competition.

House
8:00 p.m. | 18 | FOX

In a case that tests House's medical knowledge, a patient's rare condition brings to light an ethical dilemma that challenges the entire team. Will they be able to solve the case and do the right thing?

Movie: Starving & Hungry
8:00 p.m. | 18 | FX

Like the 1963 film version, "Diagnosis," this miniseries takes place in the 1920s and 1930s, during the depression and prohibition. It follows the lives of two families, the wealthy Kirks and the impoverished Murphy's, who meet at the dinner table and end up sharing a father-son relationship.

Thursday
My Name is Earl
8:00 p.m. | 18 | NBC

In a heartwarming episode, Earl (Eddie Murphy) takes on the role of a detective to help solve a case. Meanwhile, the gang deals with their own personal challenges.

House
8:00 p.m. | 18 | FOX

A patient's unusual symptoms challenge House and his team as they try to solve the mystery. Will they be able to crack the case, or will it remain unsolved?

CSI: Crime Scene Investigation
9:00 p.m. | 18 | CBS

The CSI team investigates a case involving a former Marine who has a history of violence. Will they be able to solve the case and bring justice to the victim's family?

The Forgotten
10:00 p.m. | 18 | FX

In this new episode, the team is tasked with investigating a case involving a missing child. Will they be able to find the child and bring them home safely?

A dangerous Grantsville intersection at center of another accident

by Mary Ruth Hammond

A dangerous Grantsville intersection was again the site of a serious accident on Monday afternoon when two vehicles collided head on at the junction of SR-112 and Durfee Street.

Suzanne Anderson of Grantsville was making a left turn onto Durfee Street at 1:45 p.m. when she collided with a Tooele-bound vehicle driven by Calvin Hirsch, also of Grantsville, according to Grantsville Police Officer Ursus Yeaman. Hirsch was traveling with his wife, Elsie, at the time.

All three people involved in the accident sustained injuries.

"Anderson apparently did not see an eastbound car headed toward Tooele and the two vehicles collided head on," Yeaman said.

All three victims were transported by ground ambulance to Mountain West Medical Center (MWMC) in Tooele and later flown by AirMed to the University of Utah Hospital in Salt Lake City.

Calvin Hirsch, the driver of the eastbound vehicle, suffered broken ribs, a shattered kneecap and scalp lacerations. Elsie Hirsch was also treated for broken ribs, a shattered knee and scalp lacerations. Yeaman said all three persons involved in the crash were wearing seat belts.

There was absolutely no indication of excessive speed, alcohol or drugs involved in the crash," Yeaman said. "Apparently Ms. Anderson simply did not see the other vehicle before trying to turn onto Durfee Street."

No citations were issued at the scene of the crash. The accident is still being investigated by Grantsville Police officers.

Grantsville Consul-tant Wayne Butler said improvements at the SR-112/Durfee Street intersection have been on Tooele County's top UDOT priority list for the past couple of years.

"Currently, the only way to avoid the turn from SR-112 onto Durfee is about 30 to 45-degrees," Butler said. "To make the turn square, it needs to be changed to a 90-degree angle."

Butler said UDOT has surveyed the area and done paper work on changing the turn, but so far no physical work has begun at the intersection.

The councilman added that, with an ever-increasing amount of traffic trying to turn onto Durfee Street from SR-112, the situation is becoming more dangerous. Butler hopes to meet with UDOT representatives again this week and will push for improvements at the intersection.

One of Rush Valley’s old cowboy’s Bill Soffel’s has left his mark on Tooele County as the founder of Thompson’s Smokehouse’s famous jerky recipe, a great fiddler and a man with tales to tell.

Bill Soffel created recipe for famous jerky sold at Thompson’s Smokehouse

by Mary Ruth Hammond

A simple log cabin home surrounded by cedar trees and hayfields provided a perfect backdrop Sept. 23, 2006, as Merle and Ann Soffel Thompson hosted a 68th-wedding anniversary for a 90th-birthday party for her dad — as well as a 68th-wedding anniversary for his parents, Bill and Vera Soffel. Bill and Vera Soffel, a prosperous beimen rearin was making an early entrance that day in the small Tooele County town as 95 guests from throughout Utah, California, Nevada, Oregon and even Canada gathered in the Thompson’s spacious front yard to enjoy a day of romance, laughter and fun.

In Tooele County, Bill is perhaps best known as being the one who created the great recipe for jerky now sold in Thompson’s Smokehouse in Tooele.

A true old-fashioned cowboy — pre-hope one of the last of a dying breed
— Bill could teach younger generations what hard work is all about.

He loves to tell tales of herding cattle on the range, sleeping in a bedroll under the stars, packing supplies for freighters on the back of his horse during freight lines and breaking away wild colts in his younger years.

A native of Redlands, Calif., Bill met and married his sweetheart in Oregon in 1938. Vera was only 16 at the time but had already proven to Bill that she was spunky and wouldn’t be intimidated by anyone.

“Before we got married, Bill and I had a race on our horses,” Vera said. “I beat him. Bill didn’t like to lose, so we had another race and I won again.”

Bill said he come a short time before to buy a wedding ring for the girl he described as being “so cute as a little pig.”

Immediately following their marriage, Bill and Vera took a Greyhound bus to California before Bill was born. Bill and his siblings, Carolyn, Joe, Glen and Helen, enjoyed California’s fresh fruit.

When there was no sign of fruit in one area, they visited groves belonging to neighbors.

In Tooele County, Bill is perhaps best known as being the one who created the great recipe for jerky now sold in Thompson’s Smokehouse, according to Mary Ruth Hammond in her article for the Hometown section of the Transcript Bulletin.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My stomach is so flabby that I can pick it up like a large potbelly. Stand stomach out and makes you look like you have a large potbelly. Tackled with your back against a wall if you can put a flat between your back and the wall, the lower back bends too far forward. Straighten it out and make a conscious effort to do so throughout the day when you are standing, sitting or doing anything. If abdominal muscles are too hard on your back, don’t do them, but find another form of exercise to do it. Strong abdominal muscles act like a corset and help hold abdominal organs from sticking out.

The best way to get rid of a flabby abdomen is aerobic exercise. If you spend at least 30 minutes a day walking, jogging or swimming, you’re bound to lose fat, regardless of the type or amount of movement.

You can lose up to one pound just by sweating! If it drizzles, grab the swim suit and make sure you look like you have a large potbelly. Rid yourself of that flabby stomach and cellulite on your body. How do I lose 30 more. I notice stretch marks watching what I eat. I would like to have lost 30 pounds by walking and a bit faster.

The fitness booklet describes everything beyond its elastic limits. Pregnant women, bodybuilders and the over-weight get them. At first, they’re real and noticeable. In time, they fade and at least feel like someone’s cram, an action incite, makes little difference.

Cellulite is damped fat beneath the skin. Losing those 30 pounds will make a little permanent. Hilgardian’s magic – the highs, hips and buttocks are where it’s usually sought; nonexistent out.

In Donohue’s report he states that it is unwise to answer individual letters, but he will incorporate those in his column whenever possible. DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a female in my 40s I am 5’6” tall and once weighed 30 pounds I have lost 30 pounds by walking and watching what I eat. I would like to lose 10 more. I notice stretch marks and cellulite on my body how do I eliminate them? – K.

ANSWER: Stretch marks are scarring of the skin which extend beyond its elastic limits. Problem women, bodybuilders and the over-weight get them. At first, they’re real and noticeable. In time, they fade and at least feel like someone’s cram, an action incite, makes little difference.

Oatmeal Cake

Recipe:

Ingredients:
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup oats
- 1/2 cup coconut (optional)
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1/4 cup oil
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1 cup butter
- 1 cup wheat germ
- 1/2 cup raisins
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 cup raisins
- 1 cup oatmeal
- 1/4 cup oil
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 cup oatmeal
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup oil
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup milk

Instructions:
1. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Prepare a 10 x 15 inch baking dish by coating it with softened butter and sprinkling with brown sugar.
2. In a large bowl, mix together the brown sugar, oats, coconut, nutmeg, soda, oil, and sugar.
3. In another bowl, cream the butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add the sugar and vanilla, beating well.
4. Gradually add the dry ingredients to the wet ingredients, mixing well after each addition.
5. Pour the batter into the prepared baking dish and spread evenly.
6. Bake in the preheated oven for 30-35 minutes or until a toothpick inserted into the center comes out clean.
7. Let cool completely before serving.

Serving Suggestions:
Serve the oatmeal cake warm or at room temperature with a dollop of ice cream, cinnamon, or fruit and brown sugar. It can also be enjoyed as a dessert with some whipped cream.

VARIATION
For a more indulgent option, substitute 1/2 cup chocolate chips for the raisins and add 1/2 cup chopped pecans to the top. Bake as directed and enjoy the rich, nutty flavor of this chocolate oatmeal cake.

Oatmeal and milk, and better, hot stand 30 minutes. Stir in remaining ingredients and bake at 350 degrees in a buttered 9” x 13” baking dish. Serve hot or cold.

Nutty Oatmeal

Recipe:

Ingredients:
- 2 cups old-fashioned oats
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup vanilla

Instructions:
1. In a large saucepan, combine the oats, water, sugar, and salt. Bring to a boil over medium-high heat.
2. Reduce heat to low and simmer for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally.
3. Stir in the butter and continue to simmer for an additional 5 minutes, stirring occasionally.
4. Remove from heat and let cool slightly before serving.

Serving Suggestions:
Serve the oatmeal hot or cold, with a drizzle of honey, a sprinkle of nuts, or a dollop of whipped cream.
