The 101 Refugees

Tooele County, the birthplace of the U.S. military’s rocket testing facility, is also home to a large population of refugees. Many of these refugees are families who have been displaced by war, persecution, or natural disasters.

The 101 Refugees is a community newspaper that aims to provide a voice for these refugees. It covers news and events relevant to the refugee community, as well as highlighting the contributions of refugees to Tooele County.

In this issue, we feature an interview with a local refugee who shares his story of survival and resettlement in Tooele County. We also highlight the work of local organizations that are helping refugees integrate into their new community.

The 101 Refugees is a publication of the Tooele County Federal Credit Union. It is published monthly and distributed to local refugees, community leaders, and organizations.

Thank you for supporting The 101 Refugees and helping to build a more inclusive and welcoming community for refugees in Tooele County.

PTA leader selected to fill vacated school board seat

Elizabeth Dale will be missed, but I consider this a wonderful opportunity to be a part of something I care deeply about education,” Dale currently serves as the Tooele County representative on the state Parent Teachers Association Board, and has spent the past two years as a volunteer for AmeriCorps Utah Literacy Initiative. She has also served on the PTA board funds committee and the Tooele High School Community Council. Dale said her participation on those bodies has prepared her well for the association she will face as a member of the school board.

“I know there still definitely be a big learning curve, but I think my background will help me a lot,” she said. “It is a study session. I think I’ll be able to come up to speed quickly.”

Once she settles in, her top priority will be to address growing issues and challenges to improve student retention, she said.

“As for teachers, we have a lot of great teachers out here in Tooele County, but it’s going to get harder and harder to recruit new teachers. We need to do everything we can to make sure the teachers we have stay here,” she said.

Dale considers her appointment to the board an honor, but finds it a little ironic, given that her husband, Steve, ran against Schmidt for the district 4 seat in last year’s election and lost.

But he’s not bitter,” Dale said of her husband, laughing. “He’s very supportive.”

Pesky raccoons encroach on Tooele homes

They can be found hiding in crawl spaces, scurrying in attics andemales apartments trashing garbage cans, trampling to trash in the heat of summer animals are especially attracted scrounge for food, Bush said. The for Tooele City, adding there isn’t Bush, animal control supervisor that as more homes are built cans. So it comes as no surprise that as more homes are built later to get them, the raccoon will have had to open and go out of the trap,” he said.

Bush, 44, will fill the vacancy created when former board memer Kathy Schmidt resigned last month to move with her family to North Carolina. She’ll start in the office on Aug. 7 and will serve the remaining half of Schmidt’s term.

Bush, a Tooele City councilman, is extremely excited and look forward to serving in this challenging new position,” said Dale. “I’m extremely excited,” Dale said.

Makin Us Wait, Brent and Sherry Young’s bay-colored quarter horse (number 3 in blue), came from fifth place at the two-quarter mile marker and went on to place second in the final race.

Makin Us Wait has earned $35,000 in competitive national race since the team started training in 1999. Brent Young said, “It was great to see her start in sixth and finish in second.”

Luckily, Brent knew a jockey that had just moved from New Mexico and was willing to ride Allonsie. Makin Us Wait entered the final race with Pace in the money, but she was third. The Youngs weren’t near the money, but the jockey was the main reason they were there.

The $1.1 billion in farm payments to more than 2 million people over a seven-year period, congressional investigators said, was due to an error in the Department of Agriculture’s process for ensuring that subsidy payments are based on record keeping, they said.

“With the current process, the department has not been conducting the necessary checks to ensure that subsidy payments are accurate,” said Grassley.

“USDA has made farm payments to nearly all the farmers between two years after recipients died, without determining if there was a living family or heir to receive payments,” said Comm. Jerry Hurst.

On a related note, the report bolsters the argument that there should be lower ceilings and caps on farm subsidies, Harkin said.

Chairman Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, said the report supports the need for Congress to set caps on farm payments in order to ensure that all Americans can eat.

“Farm payments should be a last resort,” Harkin said. “We need to ensure that farm subsidies are not used to support non-farm-related activities.”

The Youngs started training Makin Us Wait last fall. When she had her first trial race to qualify for the final at the Silver Dollar Futurity, she placed third.

“Makin Us Wait may not sound like the fastest horse around, but at five starts by breeder Brent and Sherry Young of Young’s Stables, Makin Us Wait has recently finished as runner-up in the Silver Dollar Futurity races in New Mexico, Warren, Idaho, and Sherry Young said “It was very close,” Sherry Young said. “It was great to see her start in sixth and finish in second.”

The Youngs have been training and showing horses for the last 15 years, producing many good racers. "This year's grand breed mare was pregnant for four years of infertility problems, they say. They didn't give up and consider the mares a champion horse.

"The Youngs breed horses for a living," Sherry Young said. "It has done right by owners Brent and Sherry Young of Erda. The mares were started on horseback at 15 years, producing many good racers. "It was very close," Sherry Young said. "We were so happy to see our horse start in sixth and finish in second."

Confounded Tribes of the Great Basin, from The University of Utah Press, is unique in that it never had a prepublication review, yet I'm still not sure how it became a bestseller. When I started writing, I had no idea that it would become such a hit. It was just a way to express my love for the natural world and the people who work so hard to protect it.

But everyone wants the fish listed as an endangered species, and Mills said the DWR's main goal is to keep it off the list. The agency wants to deal with endangered species back at the Tooele High School and North of Vine St.

Stansbury tot crowned Utah Princess

Ashlyn Goble-emphasized the importance of gaining self-confidence, learning new skills, having a good attitude about competition and setting and achieving personal goals. The Stansbury debutante received her official state crown, banner, and trophy, plus a $1,000 cash award, and also captures a free photo shoot. Goble was named Miss Utah Photogenic earning another $725 in cash and Miss Personality which is voted upon by the contestants and their parents for the girl who was most pleasant to be around during the pageant. She will also receive compensation for her transportation costs to compete in the national pageant to be held in Anaheim, Calif., during Thanksgiving weekend along with a tour through the streets of Hollywood including a backyard of the popular television show Dancing with the Stars.

“She has been competing in pageants since she was 10 months old,” said Ashlyn’s mom, Vickie. “She definitely entries it, but she was even more excited about winning this pageant because of the trip to Disneyland.”

Goble does anything she can with her Miss Utah Princess title, she will be heading to Palmetto, Fla. to complete her reign as a Blue American Market high point winner.

She was the high point contestant at 3-year-old after scoring high in the Miss Photogenic, Prettiest Eyes, Best Stature, Prettiest Face, Most Beautiful Hair, and Best Personality on stage category. The winner receives a $2,500 check as she crosses the crowns on stage.

Tooele County is known county, especially when the fair rolls around.

The annual Tooele County Fair Open Horse Show kept the tradition alive by

The event attracted about 60 participants with many entries, showing their horses in multiple categories, according to Liz Leonelli, one of the organizers of the event.

In the barrel competition, which identified the best barrel horse according to age and gender, Thorne Young won for her gelding, while Alan Glaser had the best stallion, and Julie Tranfield took the best filly award. Justin Thomas placed third in the eight-and-under division of the western pleasure competition, which showcased how well the animal treaties and is trained to do. Casey Mangum in the 9- to 11-year age group, and Casey Mangum in the open age divisions. Top finishers also took home first-place prizes.

Wanna of the events were given a saddle pad, halter, breast collar and some other accessories for their animal.

“We started this show in conjunction with the fair nearly 40 years ago,” said Leonelli. “It’s just one event in a kind of old-fashioned country fair where the community can come together and show off their very best animals.”

The Heroes of Speed parade will run along Main Street in Tooele Friday.

Sponsor Zion’s Bank has made the festival a free event for everyone to have fun with, and it will bring in more tourists to help Tooele businesses,” said Baum. “The entire community can come together and enjoy the fun.”

‘Ultramotat’ rocks the boat in more ways than one

The new entry for director Paul Greengrass is ‘The Bourne Ultimatum’ and is set to take its place among the ‘fast-paced, action-packed’ films of the Bourne franchise. Greengrass, who directed ‘The Bourne Supremacy’ and ‘The Bourne Identity’, has returned to direct this film. The movie is a sequel to ‘The Bourne Ultimatum’ and follows the story of Jason Bourne, played by Matt Damon, as he seeks to uncover the truth about his past.

The storyline is a classic one: Bourne, who has lost his memory, is being hunted by agents of the CIA. He must find out who is behind the plot to kill him and why. The film is filled with action sequences, incredible stunts, and a fast-paced plot.

The cinematography is top-notch, with the camera movement being praised for its fluidity and seamless transitions. The film also features a great score by David Holmes, which adds to the overall effect.

The performances of the actors are also noteworthy. Matt Damon delivers a strong performance as Bourne, capturing the essence of the character. Scott Glenn and Frank Oz also give good performances in their roles.

Overall, ‘The Bourne Ultimatum’ is a thrilling action film that will keep the audience on the edge of their seats. It’s a must-watch for fans of the Bourne franchise and action movies in general.

CO-RESPONDENT

Loof crashes and loud sounds will headline the demolition derby this Saturday as it closes out the summer season.

That’s the scholarly aura that surrounds a man that understands the deeper meaning of the game and offers conditioning programs to help students when they are injured.

And it was out-of-the-box. Gone was the traditional football mindset that all good things begin with a Mach 2 three-yard gain and 10-yard pass.

When the 49ers checked into their hotel in Woodside, Calif., survived by his wife, Carol, his daughter, and six grandchildren. He died at home in Woodside, Calif., survived by his wife, Carol, son, Craig, and daughter, Alison. At a news conference at Stanford University, Alumni Hall of Fame coach Steve Young noted Walsh had ended all of his recent conversations with friends by saying, “I love you.”

Walsh was well liked by nearly all his former players, and they had a special bond with him. He was a father figure who gave them all a.”

Freddy would fund and trucks will roll to each of the four or so qualifying events at this Saturday night’s demolition derby one by one. The annual show is the highlight of the Tooele County Fair at Desert Peak Motorsports Park. More than 60 drivers are expected to smash and crush their way to the prize money. First place this year will be $12,700, second prize is near $5,000 and the short gate winners will walk away with $1,000.

The number of heat winners depends on the number of entries. Deralt said. Each heat includes six to eight cars. The stewards of each heat continue on to the final match. There are also grand prize and youth power match trophies.

Drivers receive points for their performance. The better the heat, the more points they earn. The driver with the car, winning the heat and being the most aggressive gets the highest points. Each car is inspected by the judge at the end of the event. Each car is also given a string of requirements in order to qualify such as all of the glass needs to be removed, and no metal can be added to the car or the equipment.

And although it seems like pandemonium with crunching metal and flying dust, each driver tries to knock out the other cars while keeping it running. Overall safety comes first, drivers must wear full helmets and they are prohibited from crashing into other cars’ drivers side doors.

Traditionally the demolition derby is a well attended event, and upwards of 11,000 fans have packed the stands of past shows. The show will be held at the outdoor arena, doors open at 5 p.m. The best heat begins at 6 p.m., tickets are $10 for adults, $5 for kids (under 12) and a family pass is just $30.

Walsh was diagnosed with leukemia in 2002 and had heart surgery in 2003, and had months of treatment and blood transfusions. He publicly disclosed his illness in November 2004. He knew he was just a matter of time, a time clock that didn’t even his gratitude could compassion. He died at his home in Woodside, Calif., survived by his wife, Carol, son, Craig, and daughter, Alison. At a news conference at Stanford University, Alumni Hall of Fame coach Steve Young noted Walsh had ended all of his recent conversations with friends by saying, “I love you.”

Walsh began the development of his own football offense when he was an assistant coach with the Cincinnati Bengals. Ursul Carter was a quarterback for both the Bengals and a big offensive star for Walsh. Walsh spread the field horizontally using precisely timed running routes. Walsh essentially abandoned the vertical pass and replaced it with intermediate passes that would tug a defense’s seams open.

Walsh was named NFL coach of the year in 1981 when the San Francisco 49ers finished 15-1-0. Walsh would change the way football is coached and played...
Historic cars to race this weekend at Miller Motorsports Park

Tooele legions big win over Timpview, gears up for tourney

Stock and Indy cars are just a few of many cars that will be on hand as Miller Motorsports Park features a historic race at the Zion’s Bank Heroes of Speed this weekend.

The fifth race for the day is a 40-minute race featuring Big Open Single Seater cars. The BOSS cars are large-bodied, open-wheeled formula cars that include Formula 500, Indy, Formula L, Indy Lights (canarders), and other classic Formula style cars for race cars.

The Mark Donohue Trophy Cup will serve host to historic 1950s and 1960s sports and race cars as well as antique classic stock cars for 10-12 laps. Historic production cars on tap will feature Porsche 911 cars, Shelby Mustangs, Cobras, B.O.S. mustangs, and many others while Winston, Watson, and Beach cup cars dating back to 1965 with hit the track as well.

Next is the Tom Sneary Trophy Cup which will host modern, 1980s sports car racing. Major teams on tap for the cars are European racing cars, Formula, Sports Vipers, and many European and American cars thought they will race 10-12 laps.

The final car-specified race for the day in the David Hobbs Trophy Cup. The Hobbs Cup features all of the varied racing cars. The BOSS cars are large-bodied, open-wheeled formula cars that include Formula 500, Indy, Formula L, Indy Lights (canarders), and other classic Formula style cars for race cars.

During the second frame the Tooele bats exploded as Tyler Almond, Zach Watson and Stan Christianson were all able to make base safely and eventually all three came around to score. Five more Buffalo sluggers took advantage of the inning to increase the lead to 5-0. Mitch Gehrke hit the full righthand for the Buffaloes as he homered a double to start off the inning and later came around to score along with Tyler Almond who made it around the bases due to a couple Timpanogos errors.

A nine run lead after the end of the fourth inning was more than enough to hold on to as they were able to cruise to a 9-1 win.

The Buffaloes now head into the American Legion State Tournament with a date against a tough St. George team.

Historic cars to race this weekend at Miller Motorsports Park

This season hasn’t been the easiest to go through thus far I have got to give a lot of credit to the players for playing hard and making it to the State Tournament,” said coach Angelo Cesaroni.

Tooele now has an eight game home stand in the state tournament. The two teams face off this Saturday at 9 a.m. at Oquirrh Park in Kearns.

Tooele Legion took out a lot of frustration on an overmatched Timpanogos team as they were able to gain a 1-0 advantage over the last game of the season heading into the North Utah State High School Championship.

The Buffaloes struck quickly and often to pour on a convincing victory. Matt Moline led off the game with a triple and was subsequently advanced on a unsere fielded ball to give Tooele a quick 1-0 advantage after the first inning.

"Engines Are Our Business"
Hayden Wright, 12, jumps a bike at the Timpie skate park Wednesday. He has been competing for three years and often goes up against 16- and 18-year-olds.

Hayden Wright, 12, takes a break from skating for a portrait at the Timpie skate park Wednesday. Another Sometimes he will be one of the youngest skaters competing against teenagers as old as 16. "It can be intimidating sometimes, but when two people start to fall I remind myself to do the trick that I know how to do, and the intimidation goes away," he said.

Wright has always loved sports, but it wasn’t until he found his father’s old skateboard in the basement when he was 5 years old that he discovered his love for skateboarding.

"I went down in the basement one day and found this old skateboard and just started playing with it," Wright said. "I like everything about skateboarding. There’s nothing to complain about, but you do fall a lot."

When his father discovered that he was interested in skateboarding he started to teach Hayden how to ride and then moved on to tricks. Now he’s Hayden biggest fan at the competitions.

My dad has been very supportive through it all. He’ll be at my competitions and tell me he did what kind of tricks I should do,” Wright said. “My mom’s been supportive too. She’s waiting at home to make sure we’re all right when we walk in the door. My grandparents take me to my competitions sometimes — everyone just helps out.”

Wright’s next competition is also at the Park City Skate Park in the third and final competition of the series on Aug. 25. The number of competitions drop with the thermometer as there are a limited number of indoor skate parks in the state, but that doesn’t stop Wright from having fun.

“When there’s snow on the ground, I’ll pull off the wheels of one of my older boards and use it to slide down some hills in the area,” he said.
A good car is hard to find for derby drivers

by Suzanne Ashe

erby drivers are putting up a big parade Saturday night. The annual show is the high-light of the Tooele County Fair at Desert Peak Complex. More than 60 drivers are expected to smash and crash their way to thousands of dollars in prize money.

Now and old drivers alike all face the same challenge: where to find a car to enter into the event. Demolition derby cars need to have been built before 1980. "Four-wheel drive don’t work, one hit on the front and they’ll break," said Bobbie Larton, who handles the registration for the annual event.

"We are seeing a lot of younger drivers, so there is still interest [in the sport]," Larton said. The problem is finding a car. The derby rules call for any year O.E.M. — original equipment manufacturer — vehicles or stationary wagons (with some exceptions). The best places to look for demolition cars is wrecking yards, she added.

The oldest wrecking business in the state is McElhiney’s in Grantsville. Owner Dennis McElhiney has been supplying cars to drivers since 1959 when the first derby started in the county, he said.

When McElhiney gets cars in, he removes everything he thinks he can sell that is not necessary for the car to run, and then he handles the car over to a derby driver. He basically gives the cars away, he said.

After the derby, the cars usually come back. Although the body of the car will be shot, he can still salvage the engine and drive train, he said.

"I’m pretty selective in what I go out," McElhiney said, admitting his reluctance to be involved in derbying. McElhiney said he doesn’t like the derby because he views the cars as race cars and valuable investment.

"It’s not a sport," McElhiney said. "It’s like the spotted leopard, when the market is open we run the car."

county fairs around the country share a positive light on their communities where family and friends can get together and celebrate the county in which they live. Tradition is a huge part of the Tooele County Fair held at the Desert Peak Complex where residents can enjoy good music, home arts, livestock shows and, of course, the demolition derby. But it’s also the new vendors, activities and bands that get people excited about spending a day at the fair.

"I think we have more events than last year," said Francine Dea, director of the fair. "Once again I try to spice it up a little bit for each year to bring in new things. We don’t want the county bored with the same events."

The week-long fair, that officially opened last Saturday with the Miss Tooele County 2007 and Leadership Pageants and gift horse show, features new, big entertainment each year. Fans of country music will have the opportunity to listen to the Southern Crossing of bands Little Texas, Craig Morgan, and Restless Heart start at 9 p.m. Originally Billy Currington was scheduled to perform but because it had to cancel, Dea said.

"We were very fortunate to get Little Texas and Restless Heart," she added. "It’s a big package with country bands because all of the fairs going on. We got lucky. We want everyone to come out; they’ll be getting three acts for the price of one."

"Tickets for the concert are $17 and include a two-act show," she continued. "And they’ll be getting three acts for the price of one."

your corn patch when you first see tassels emerge. Shortly after, you will see one or two ears developing on each stalk. Plan on one ear per plant, but plants may produce two ears if plants have plenty of room, water and fertilizer.

As soon as the green-yellow silks emerge from the top of the ear, a moth visits the plants and lays eggs in it. The egglings

You can treat a garden-size patch have to do an overall spray which could be harmful to the bees.

You can apply Sevin dust to the developing silks using a soft paintbrush or use a trigger-bottle will need to re-apply this product twice more two or three days after. If you named the the pollen will fall down the length of the tube.

The ideal time to harvest is the pollen blows away rather much production either, since the pollen leaves toward the tip of the tassels. If the plants are first appear. Check the corn by feeling it. It should be full and plump when you can easily harvest. You can use a small through the silks to see what the corn looks like but you are not doing the right way for insects to enter if the corn is not yet ready.

The ideal time to harvest is in the morning or evening when the humidity is low. The silks turn brown, dry, and the ear needs to be pulled down the end of the ear to carry the crop. For optimum results, you can harvest corn as soon as possible by picking it. The Superseeds, which is a hybrid corn, will hold their flavor longer, both in the stalk and after picking. These hybrids are harvested 100 to 120 days and eaten within 12 hours.

You can tear a small slit in the ear to check the inside of the ear after picking. If the silks turn brown, dry,

Decorate Garden With Bugs That Don’t Bite!

by Donna Erickson

You read in past Kids’ Corner that grasshoppers are giant bugs that drive you crazy. But did you know they also make a great decoration for your garden? Here’s a playful way to bring decorative summer fun to your garden, with bugs that don’t bite! It’s an after-lunch activity, because these giant bugs are created using your recycled plastic plates!

Here’s how:

1. Find or make some exploring in the yard or even under your picnic table, and keep an eye on insects flying around. Look for bugs in all shapes and sizes. If you see a colored plate, you won’t have to paint it at all. For example, if you see a ladybug, use a red plate and add spots and a few other details using a black marker.

2. While the garden decoration dries, go on a stick safari and look for sturdy 18-to-24-inch-long sticks. Use strong electrical tape or tape to attach one end of the stick to the critter. Poke the other end into the ground where your child would like his or her bug or insect to “live.”

3. Extra tip: While the garden decorations are created using your recycled plastic plates, they’re not suitable for very young children. The sharp edges can be a safety hazard, and your child may not understand not to eat them.

Donna Erickson’s new winning children’s series, “Donna’s Bugs,” is airing on public television nationwide. Visit www.donnasbugs.org to find out when it airs on your local PBS station and to sign up for Donna’s e-newsletter.

Fair
$25, which go on sale today through Ticketmaster or at the Desert Peak Complex.

Also taking the stage today are Jordan Blvd at 3 p.m., Stella's Campbell at 5:30 p.m. and the Colgate County Showdown at 6:30 p.m. If you're more interested in home arts, exhibits featur- ing baked goods, horticulture, floricultur- es, photography and clothing will be open to the public from noon to 10 p.m. today and through the week- end. Also at 6 p.m. on the indoor stage the photo contest "There's No Place Like Tooele County" will be held to deter- mine the best photos showing the county. The Family Fun Zone will be open throughout the weekend opening today from noon to 10 p.m., and Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Individual tickets may be purchased, or an all-day pass for $15 or a three- day pass for $25.

Friky will fill with activities for the whole family from a children's art yard — held from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. — to the House of Magic show featuring Shaun Gray. There's an event for everyone. The Truck and Tractor Pull will be held at 1:30 p.m. in the main arena with $10 admission for adults and $5 for children. If you want to stop inside, the 4H talent and fashion show will also take place at 7 p.m. On Friday, a free outdoor screening of the movie "Night at the Museum" will be held on the access field. Free popcorn will be given out on a first-come, first-served basis.

There are many new events on the indoor stage. Dux said, Samson fire and kite dancers will perform inside and outside and a local group called Thittle will sing and dance to Michael Jackson's favorite song. On Saturday a car, truck and motorcycle show will be held from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. for all classic car enthusiasts. "We're expecting the car show to be double what it was last year," Dux said. "It will feature cars, trucks and motorcycles. They won't necessarily be classic, but all types." At 10 a.m. the stock show and auction will be held for anyone to bid on livestock raised by kids in the county. "We want everyone to come to the stock show auction to bid," she said. "There's a good chance you'll fill your freezer with some great stock raised by local kids." A Demolition Derby show will also take place at 6 p.m. New this year just prior to the derby you will be able to witness a spectacular fire and knife dance by Dea.

"Once again I try to space it up a little bit each year to bring in new things. We don't want the county bored with the same events" FRANCINE DEA FAIR DIRECTOR

"There's No Place Like Tooele County" will be held on the access field for children of all ages. They won't be allowed to bring in your own team together and bring them to play. All girls will receive a Free T-shirt. To sign-up and for more information contact:
Guy Sheehan 435-840-8817
Curt Castagno 435-882-7088
Jim Wilson 435-840-1433

Cost will be $300.00 per team. Coaches will take the opportunity to chase and catch a chicken or a pig to win a bike. There will be three age groups with children from ages 4-12 with sign-ups from 5 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. We ask everyone to please come early for the demolition derby," Dux said. "We want everyone to get in and get seat- ed and have parents sign up their kids for the chicken and pig chase.

As one of the most popular events at the fair, each year the derby brings large crowds, most competitive drivers and enter- taining spectators. Tickets are $10 for adults, $5 for children and $5 for a family pass available at the Desert Peak Complex and through Ticketmaster locations. No outside food or beverage is allowed. If you stick around after the derby you will be able to witness a spectacular fire and knife dance.
