The Tooele County School Board is looking for a new member.

School board chairman Morris Maturino read a letter of resignation from board member Matt Lawrence during the board's Tuesday meeting. His resignation is effective June 1, 2016.

Lawrence has accepted an assignment from his employer that will require him to move out of state, according to the resignation letter. Lawrence is a semi-retired senior teacher for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

He was out of town for Tuesday's meeting, but is expect- ed to attend the later 18 school board meeting and participate in selecting his replacement, according to Maturino.

According to state code, the school board will appoint an interim board member to fill Lawrence's seat. That person will serve until the end of December 2016, the end of Lawrence's term.

School district purchases property for new junior high

by Tim Gillie

The Tooele County School District has purchased land south of Stansbury High School to build a junior high school in the future.

School board members passed a resolution Tuesday night to purchase a piece of property in the area for a junior high school in the north end of Tooele Valley.

The school board approved a $1.7 million purchase agreement for 125 acres of land on Bates Canyon Road south of Stansbury High School at its Tuesday meeting.

"We aren't going to build a new junior high school right away," said district superintendent Scott Rogers. "We still have some room to grow in our current junior high school, but our long-range plans call for a new junior high in the area in about eight years.

Construction of the new junior high may begin sooner or later than eight years, "depending on growth in the area," he said.

"This allows us to have a large enough piece of property in the area for a junior high school," Rogers said.

Stericycle hearing set for Monday

Public comment will be taken for disposal company's air quality permit

by Jessica litte

State officials will accept com- ments about a draft air quality permit for a medical waste dis- posal company's proposed facility in Tooele County at a public hearing on Tuesday.

Officials from the Utah Division of Air Quality will hold the pub- lic hearing about Stericycle at 5:30 p.m. in Tooele High School's auditorium.

Stericycle has proposed building a medical waste facility on a 40-acre plot of land near Rowley. The state will hold a public hearing for it Monday.

The large, stone sign is visible for miles. That person will be a new junior high school in the area in about eight years.

Saturday rollover injures five

By Steve Ellison

Two people were injured in a rollover accident while on the way to work Friday morning.

An Aurora T1 heading westbound on Interstates 80 was in the area of milepost 28 at about 12:45 a.m. when the vehicle began to drift to the left side of the lane, according to the Utah Highway Patrol. The car hit three passengers, including three men and two women.

As the car drifted to the middle of the road, the driver lost control and the car collided with a post, causing it to flip over. The post was not damaged, according to the Utah Highway Patrol.

No one was ejected from the vehicle, and all passengers were able to get out of the car. The two injured people were taken by ambulance to an area hospital.

According to the Aurora Police Department, the driver of the car, a 20-year-old male, was partially ejected from the car. The second injured passenger, who was the only occupant wearing a seat belt, was not ejected and received the lowest injuries, according to UHP.

The Tooele man who led area law enforcement on a high-speed chase in Grantsville pleaded guilty to two charges in 3rd District Court Thursday.

Camron Romero, 24, pleaded guilty to one count of third-degree felony assault, third-degree felony reckless driving and one count of misdemeanor reckless endangerment.

Additional charges of third-degree felony assault, third-degree felony failure to stop or respond at the command of police and charges of misdemeanor possession of drug paraphernalia, reckless driving and accident involving property damage were dismissed, as well as a traffic infraction for speeding.

The charges stem from a March 9 incident where Romero eluded Tooele County Sheriff’s deputies in their pursuit of a Grantsville City police officer.

Prior to the chase, a deputy was assisting with a residential lockdown in a trade park off of West Clark Street when they first observed Romero. After running the license plate on Romero’s white Camaro, the deputy learned that he had an outstanding warrant for trespassing.

When the deputy informed him that he would be brought in on the warrant, Romero fled the scene in his car. Romero reportedly led police on a high-speed chase through eastbound Highway 200 and Clark Street, where officers accelerated to speeds in excess of 100 mph while traveling eastbound on the residential street, the sheriff’s office said.

The deputy terminated the chase due to the potential risk to innocent bystanders.

A Grantsville City police officer picked up the pursuit after Romero drove south on Old Lincoln Highway and Clark Street. Romero was eventually tracked down 11 days later when an officer spotted him in the passenger seat of a car in Utah County.

Romero was eventually apprehended after he attempted to flee officers on foot on Sunset Street.

The chase continued through the intersection of the Old Lincoln Highway and Clark Street, where Romero accelerated to speeds in excess of 100 mph while traveling eastbound on the residential street, the sheriff’s office said.

The deputy terminated the chase due to the potential risk to innocent bystanders.

According to a Tooele City police report, Anderson obtained the victim’s cell phone number and after texting with them, allegedly asked the victim to send him “sex pie” and meet him at the park. The victim, who was inside 15 years old, contacted police after Anderson attempted to meet with them at a Dow James Park.

A Tooele City police officer tracked down Anderson, who claimed he only drove by the park on the way to his brother’s house, the report said. Anderson then changed his story and admitted he went to the park in an attempt to meet with the victim in a subsequent police interview.

Anderson claimed he had never seen or spoken with the victim before the text messages, but the victim was able to describe Anderson’s white Dodge Ram pickup truck in detail during interviews with police. The victim claimed Anderson had driven down their street and past their house on several occasions, which Anderson denied, according to the report.

Anderson is scheduled to appear again in 3rd District Court for sentencing on June 14 at 1:30 p.m. before Judge Robert Addison.

Romero is expected back in court on April 14 at 9 a.m.

Salt Lake mayor: No North Carolina and Mississippi travel

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Salt Lake City mayor Jackie Biskupski has banned North Carolina and Mississippi from hosting city or county events after they passed laws that she said violate anti-discrimination laws.

The city’s first openly gay mayor, Biskupski, said Tuesday in a statement that she fears the laws passed in those states are “desperate and designed to stifle opportunity for the LGBT community.”

She cites Salt Lake City and other cities as examples of states and cities that have barred similar travel in response to recently implemented laws in Mississippi and North Carolina that limit protections for LGBTs, gays and transgender people.

Biskupski and the city council also invited businesses in those states to relocate to Salt Lake City.

“The announcement means Salt Lake City is joining a growing list of cities and states that have barred similar travel in response to recently implemented laws in Mississippi and North Carolina that limit protections for LGBTs, gays and transgender people,” Biskupski said.

She said she’s invited businesses in those states to relocate to Salt Lake City.

Tales about Spring Creek on the west side of the Stansbury Mountains hold true

For years, I have heard old timers tell stories about Spring Creek, which is a flowing stream. It runs north towards Fish Creek. All terrain vehicle riders have turned the road network into a series of short cuts. There is a problem with them. There is no way to follow your nose toward the mountains. In years past, I have been able to drive my old truck all the way to the area where they had a series of long detours. The washes are high. You have to be extremely careful, then turn around. It’s called Spring Creek on the west side of the Stansbury Mountains north of Tooele. It is hidden in that direction.

I knew the creek was supposed to be on the west side of the Stansbury Mountains south of Tooele. It’s called Fish Creek on the west side of the Stansbury Mountains north of Tooele. It is hidden in that direction.

Elda unsuccessful after two years of work.

Court organized a fundraising dinner during the 2006 Elda Days to raise the costs of acquiring the 9-foot by 5-foot monument. Landscape Construction Supply in Tooele completed the work on the rock, but Court ran into a difficult situation when it failed to raise the money.

According to a Transcript Bulletin story from 2004, Court approached a developer about placing the sign at the intersection of Bate Canyon Road and SR-36. A verbal agreement to locate the monument on public land fell apart, however, when the property owner wasn’t clear enough about who would be responsible for maintaining the sign, so it would be located.

The sign eventually found a home at Green Box Recycling in Tooele, according to Conner’s partner, Sam and Pyper Clark.

Pyper Clark said she was one of the Elda signs during a trip to Green Box Recycling and Conner told her he wanted to put it in for his Eagle Scout project. When Conner made that decision official, they approached the recycling business about purchasing the sign and Green Box Recycling donated the sign, which has been paid for by Court’s efforts.

“They were happy to do it with us,” Pyper Clark said.

Finding a location for the welcome sign was still a challenge for Conner, however, as state and local governments were reticent to placing the large stone signs too close to the roadway. Pyper Clark said no agency wanted to take on the liability of putting the monument on public land.

Merna Dalton, president of the Tooele Valley Daughters of Utah Pioneers, said her organization also made efforts to find a home for the welcome sign. That effort also went unsuccessful presentation before the Tooele County Commission a couple years ago, Dalton said.

“Just that there was a really size gesture by her,” Dalton said.

With a location finally set and the engraved rock in its possession, the process to get the engraved welcome sign in place finally had momentum again.

high before developers come in and buy up all the prime prop-ty,” Rogers said. “We’re trying to think of other ways of doing this.”

The sale price for the 19 acres, almost three times the size of the 11-acre property, is $2 million. However, the sale includes 17.4 acre-feet of water for a $540,000 value and developer Sam White will add an 11-acre feet of water at a value of $310,000. That leaves the school district paying a cost price of $1.7 million for 19 acres and one acre-feet of water.

The seller is in Flagstaff Ranch, which runs Charles Ware as the resident agent, according to the Utah Department of Commerce.

The purchase agreement calls for the seller to turn the tract back for agricultural use at $370 per year until the district builds a school on the property.

The purchase agreement also gives the seller the first right of refusal to purchase the property at fair market value if the school district decides not to build a school there.

In February, the school district acquired 36 acres in Tooele for a future school.

The funds to buy the property were included in the general obligation bond passed by voters last November.

The $4 million bond included $1.5 million to build two elementary schools and $4 million to acquire property for future secondary schools.

The bond also included $7 million for increased capacity at Tooele High School, $2 million for technology and wireless upgrades at several schools, a new outdoor track at Tooele High School and a weight room for Granite High School.

Merna Joan (Garrard) Walbeck

Merna Joan (Garrard) Walbeck passed away Tuesday, April 12 at LDS Hospital in Salt Lake City. Merna was born June 19, 1915, to Marylin Leslie Garrard and Jean Smith (Barr) Garrard. Merna was the oldest of three siblings and enjoyed her role as a big sister. She grew up in Lake Point and attended Tooele High School in 1937.

high school Merna moved to Salt Lake and worked at the church office building; she lived with roommates in Salt Lake. One of those roommates was Carol Walbeck; Thomas. Carol intro- duced Merna to her brother Dale and they started dating. Dale and Merna were married on Nov. 28, 1938, in Las Vegas, Utah. They spent their early years in the mountains and on a farm in Rine Park. On Sept. 21, 1939, they were welcomed with their first child, an son, David Leslie Walbeck.

Dale returned to Salt Lake and Merna moved back to Lake Point. She was too happy to be back in her home town. Merna was a shrewd woman who taught David and Brian that the key to a happy home is to share and to serve others. Merna was blessed with three grandsons, Trenton and Emmerson and his brother Leonard (Colleen) Garrard of Lake Point and Delila (Dans) Garrard of Lake Point. She is also survived by many brothers, sisters and in-laws and many special nieces and nephews. Merna was preceded in death by her parents Marylin and Jean Garrard. A viewing and family visitation will be held on Saturday, April 16 at noon at the Lake Point LDS Chapel at 1105 Canyon Road in Lake Point, Utah. A memorial service will follow at 1 p.m. Interment will take place Monday, April 18 in the St. View Cemetery in Beaver, Utah at noon. Services entrusted with Dildickson Memorial, 435-277-0050.

Bob Ott is a familiar face to many Tooeleans, working as lead mechanic and league manager at All-Star Lanes. But there’s more to the story for Ott, who moved to the area with his wife, Judy, when he retired from his job in public transportation in northern California a couple years ago. Ott has raced motorcycles and has built an impressive car collection, and in recent years, has become a published children’s book author. His first novel, “Belle,” is in the process of being made into a movie with Ott’s own daughter, Krista, cast as the title character. Ott built the car — a 1898 Orient — that will be featured in the film. It took Ott approximately 27 years to create “Belle,” a

Ott: ‘I’ve probably done more things in my life than any five people I know’
Steve McQueen and I — I've put pictures of us sitting around a campfire having a beer after a race back in the day," he said.

He then went to work as the transportation supervisor for Prince County, California, putting him in charge of the bus fleet that runs between Lake Tahoe and Sacramento. He retired in 2010, and he and his wife relocated to his native Tooele County. The couple will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary next year.

"Now I'm the league manager and the head mechanic and I've thrown every single game," he said. "I'm like, 'I retired, get your life back.'"

Ott said he developed the idea of writing a book in 1991, but he had little time to start, according to the book's preface. He credits the instructor of a college course in beginning writing for being there at the time. Mrs. Winston, for giving him just the right idea of how to put the story together.

"She said to take a large box, like a big cardboard box, and every time I thought of anything that should be in the book to put it on a scrap of paper and throw it in the box," Ott wrote. She said "to mewrite the first line of the book and throw it in the box. Write the last line of the book and then it in the box. She said to hand it to her and she would put stories, sentences or paragraphs on them. So I wrote the box overflowed."

According to the book's preface, Ott finished the class with an empty box. It would be five years before he began coming up with ideas and putting sentences on paper, and then he began writing and finally finished the book he’d long wanted to write.

"When I was young, I wrote poems," Ott said. "I wrote a whole book of poems for my wife, and I always had that idea of writing a book in my head for years.

"I wrote this because I enjoy writing. I just want to go to get it published. I just wrote it — I just went to give it to my kids to pass down to my grandchildren. Sometimes said, "Well, maybe if you try to get published, maybe someone will publish it," Ott said. "I said, 'OK, I'll just call a publisher.'"

But getting publishers to take a chance on the book was far from easy. First, Ott learned that publishers don't typically deal directly with authors. Instead, they deal with the author's agent. After hiring an agent, Ott won enjoyed 140 letters before finally getting a publishing deal.

"I'm like, 'I've got it. I'm never going to get published,'" he said. "I had the book printed out first class on a 6x31x3 paper. There was a lady who lived down the street, she was probably 70 and I liked to read, so I gave her the final book and had her look at it.

"When she got done, she said, 'You've got to get this book to a publisher and I'll tell you the end of it. I had the book and I wrote a letter on my face.' I said, 'OK, I can't do it.' I've never been going until I get it published. She kind of pushed me over the edge.

The book is currently in the process of being published in China, and Ott has people come up to him in the bookstore to tell him that their child has read "Belle" and come a book report on it.

"Scoot "Belle" was published in 2009, Ott has written 15 more books — 12 of which are part of a series that says are in the same vein as "Daisy of the Wimpie Kid," following a young character through various activities. He also is writing a book entitled "My Life — So Far," loosely based on his real life and some of the experiences he's had as an ombudsman for the3 racetrack.

After leaving home at 11 it was a month before, he married the wife, Belle euthe 4x, at 1. On several three years of days as a member of the Special Olympics, he represented two Purple Hearts.

He retired after driving sprint cars in Australia and taking vacations in England — ”I raced probably everything that was available," he said. Through racing, he has appeared in a couple of movies, and, with his car collection featured prominently in "Belle," he also appeared in "On Any Sunday" and was a stunt motorcycle rider.

"I've probably done more things in my life than any five people I know," he said.

In his retirement, Ott has gone to work at All-Star Lanes. He originally wanted to work there only one or two days a week as a part-time employee, but it has grown into a full-time role.

"Now I'm the league manager and the head mechanic and I've thrown every single game," he said. "I'm like, 'I retired, get your life back.'"

Buffaloes beat Union, coach still not pleased

By Darren Vaughan

The Tooele softball team beat Union 12-6 on Tuesday to improve to 3-0 in Region 10 play but a series of miscues that had Buffaloes coach Melanie Horrocks concerned.

"If you want to win, you can't have a lackadaisical attitude not believ- ing in your teammates and changing out- lineup aspirations that left her coach "You still have to work," the coach said. "We can go from a post a five-run rally in the fifth inning."

"Collegetively, that should have been a bigger game," Horrocks said after making her team run up runs to put their offense in the edge after the fifth inning."That was all on us. We didn't do what we needed to do in the dugout."

Butler said, "Sometimes it was the only way to win if you know what I mean."

McIntyre doubles twice in win

By Darin Starke

It didn't take long for the Buffaloes to extra a lead over Union in the first 3-5 minutes in Region 10 action.

All it took was seven pitches to finish off batter McIntyre, who promptly dropped a sacrifice bunt.

Carson Kelly's 3-2 pitch over the right-field fence in the first home run, 0-0."

"You can always be better," he said. "There's no limit to success, that's a hard part but we've continued with our offense this week."

"If we do the things we need to do in, McIntyre could have been the night's star," Horrocks said. "We did have our chances, allowing no runs on nine hits, striking out six and allowing"

STELLAR BASEBALL

McIntyre's home run in Region 10 got the Buffaloes on their way to a 5-0 start to the season.

The Stansbury High School soccer team beat Bear River in Tuesday's non-conference matchup.

The Buffaloes allowed the first goal of the day in the 30th minute.

"I feel like our defensive line started out slow earlier in the season," he said. "But as we've been playing, we're peaking. I feel like wePage 15 in a row for the second straight game, but the few dangerous long balls sent toward the Stallions' defense were caught out."

"The Cougars are a tough team to beat," Horrocks said. "They have some of the best hitters in the state."

I was a little lady about 2 years old when my son said he wanted to eat kale until last summer. I personally never got the hang of it. I think I ate kale until last summer. My son had prepared it. I know — I was one of those greenisha-food eaters and, voila, a piece of grilled kale and that salad was an amazing, healthy lunch! It was an amazing, healthy lunch!

Using Find My Device in Windows 10

When you click the "Find my device" page open with a map showing the last known location of your device. Your device update its location periodically when connected to Wi-Fi. Unfortunately, when I looked at the map for my device, it showed that it was across the state on my neighbor's home.

The laptop has never left my home so there is some question about the accuracy of this feature. Let me know what you find out about your device's location and how accurate it is.

You can also add and remove devices from to your account. I tried it in my account, and there was a laptop that I bought and registered, but I had to refresh it in my account settings, so you must add this device by clicking the link to the right any time.

I should mention though, if you sign into your Windows 10 account, the Find My Device feature is running Windows 10 is new, it will go in the account associated with your device. For example, if you sign into Windows 10 on your computer, you must sign into your account to access your device information.

The Prowo City Center Temple's amazing story

Jon Bryan of Jacobsen Construction, builders of the new LDS Prowo City Center Temple, was the presider at the Sevier South Pioneers/Sevier Canyon Chapter monthly potluck dinner and business meeting on Wednesday, April 6 at the wonderful EVC in Cedar City.

Jon told of the many miracles and "outside of the box" building techniques used during the construction of what was to be a brand new temple for the LDS church. He also pulled off this engineering marvel after all had broken down by fire, the designers found that the old brick and iron mansions were enough to erect alone to apply some grounds breaking inventions to shoe up the walls to much stronger than they had ever been before. In the entire building sat some 50 feet high on stilts to that some foundations, some going as deep as 45 feet, could be poured. The inner walls, which needed to be taken down in the 1870s because the heavy weight was causing the walls to bow out of shape, was restructured with structural steel framework that was anchored into those same 15-foot-deep foundations.

The building and building techniques had been tried and tested in the new French school by the famous French architect., and this project was much more massive than any project completed in Europe. Special glass cast shapes were used to cast in the wall to bring all together. The old time sand cast technique was also used to cast window frames and glass, and new modern cement based mortar was used beside the bricks that were cast in the building.

The area was completely removed from the existing bricks and glass, and modern new cement based mortar was used beside the bricks that were cast in the building.

Making Money Grow

Have you heard the phrase, “Money Doesn’t Grow on Trees”? The sad truth is, money doesn’t grow on trees. We have searched the world over and can’t find one anywhere.

But what if we did? It might look something like this. How much money can you find growing on our silly money tree? (Each “leaf” is a $1 bill.)

The Big Question

Do you plan how to use your money wisely — for spending, saving, investing, and donating? But how do you get money to put in the bank?

Try to use the word donate in a sentence today when talking with your friends and family members.

Tom was able to donate a large sum of money to the school’s fundraiser.

Complete each of these rhymes to discover ideas about ways kids can earn money.

Try this to earn some money:
Ask the neighbors on your block
If you can take their pooches
For a nice long walk.

With a box for a counter,
There’s money to be made
From lemons, water, sugar
By selling lemonade.

Earning money around the house
Really isn’t super hard.
Just ask a parent if you can help
By weeding in the garden.

Parents should always know what you enjoy doing and remember when you were 3, 5, 7, 9, 11, that was your favorite hobby. They can do the same.

Try this to earn some money:
Ask the neighbors on your block
If you can take their pets
For a nice long walk.

If you have some old toys
Here’s an idea that will not fail:
You can make yourself money
By having a garage sale.

Maybe someone that you know,
Maybe even right next door,
Would pay you a buck or two
To pick up something from the street.

Do you plan how to use your money wisely— for spending, saving, investing, and donating? But how do you get money to put in the bank?

It might be nice if people could just give you money. But most people get money by earning it. That means they do some sort of work in exchange for money. This is called income.

This week’s word:
In a short time?

Can you find five or more pairs in a short time?

Can you think of three more ways you could earn some money?

Olivia and Logan each set up a lemonade stand. Count how much money they each made. Who made the most?

INVESTING

EXPENSES:
12 lemons cost ................. $1.20
1 3/4 cups of sugar cost ........ 0.20
10 paper cups cost ............... 0.60
Total cost for 10 cups of lemonade: $2.00

INCOME:
10 cups of lemonade at 50¢ each ... $5.00

PROFIT:
(The money you make after covering your expenses) ............ $3.00

On a hot day, you might sell 100 cups of lemonade! How much money would you earn?

Step 1: The Business Plan

You will need at least a little cash to get started. Visit or call a local store to find out the cost of the items you need. Add up your costs to determine your price and profit. Here is what the math looks like:

Six county runners head to Boston Marathon

by Charlie Roberts

TOOELE TRANSCRIPT-BULLETIN
B8

Nearly 400 runners registered for the Boston Marathon, which will be held on Monday, April 18, in Boston, Massachusetts.

The Boston Marathon is a 26.2-mile race that is one of the most prestigious and challenging marathons in the world. It is a qualifying race for the Olympic Marathon, and the top three finishers are automatically qualified for the Tokyo Marathon.

The race is held on Patriots’ Day in Boston and is one of the few marathons that requires a qualifying time for participation. The qualifying time is based on age and gender and is calculated based on the standard time for the marathon.

The race attracts runners from all over the world, including professional athletes, amateurs, and even some who are just starting out in their running careers. The Boston Marathon is known for its challenging course, which includes hills and climbs that test the limits of even the most experienced runners.

It is a race that is considered to be the pinnacle of running, and runners from all over the world aspire to qualify for it. The race is held on the third Monday in April and is considered one of the most prestigious marathons in the world.

This year, the Boston Marathon is expected to attract more than 30,000 runners from all over the world, who will compete for the top spots. The race is a true test of endurance, skill, and determination, and it is a race that all runners aspire to complete.

The consequences of dying without a will

Dear Savvy Senior,

The consequences of dying without a will can happen to anyone, even to the most financially savvy. If you die without a will, the legal process that distributes your assets will be handled through probate, which is the legal process that disperses a deceased person’s property. In the absence of a will, the surviving family members of the deceased person can disagree on how that person’s property should be distributed. This can lead to disputes among family members, especially if there are emotional ties involved.

In the absence of a will, the property is distributed according to state laws. In the majority of states, the surviving family members of the deceased person will inherit the property, including the deceased person’s personal belongings and real estate. The surviving family members may include the deceased person’s spouse, children, siblings, parents, or any other family members that are named in the will.

If there is no will, the state laws of the deceased person’s residence will determine who will inherit the property. In some states, the property will be distributed equally among all surviving family members, while in other states, it may be divided among family members according to a certain percentage.

In addition to the surviving family members, the deceased person’s creditors will also claim a portion of the property. If the deceased person had outstanding debts, those debts will be paid off from the property before it is distributed among the surviving family members.

It is important to have a will to ensure that your property is distributed according to your wishes, and to avoid disputes among family members. A will can also help to reduce the taxes that are owed on the property, and it can help to minimize the probate process.

If you do not have a will, it is important to consult with an attorney to discuss your options. An attorney can help you create a will that will protect your property and ensure that your wishes are carried out.

Sincerely,

Can the Stallions make it four straight?

By Darren Vaughan  Stansbury can’t get caught looking past tough Region 10 toward state champ bracket

The Stansbury softball program enters the 2016 season with the opportunity to accomplish a feat so rare that it has only happened twice in the 26 previous seasons the Utah High School Activities Association has had softball as an officially sanctioned sport.

The Stallions, winners of the past three Class 3A state championships, are gunning for a rare four-peat. Only Bingham, which won four consecutive Class 4A titles from 1991-94, and Bear River, which won five straight Class 3A titles from 2008-12, have reached that plateau.

But the Stallions aren’t focused on that just yet. Between now and the start of the state tournament in May, there is a tough Region 10 season on tap that will leave the likes of Stansbury, Tooele and Grantsville battle-tested and ready to claim their spot atop Class 3A.

“We lost a lot of kids from last year’s team, so we’re trying to see what’s going to happen,” Stansbury coach Bridget Clinton said, noting how tough it is to place state-championship expectations on a new team.

Four other squads have accomplished a three-peat in state history. Box Elder won three straight Class 4A titles from 1995-97; Juan Diego won three straight in Class 2A from 2001-03; Manti won 2A titles from 2005-07 and Tooele won Class 3A titles in 2003, 2004 and 2005 as part of a run of six state championships in eight seasons.

Stansbury has a number of players who have been through the grind of past state title runs, led by shortstop Anjalee Batchelor and third baseman Alyssa Guymon.

Batchelor, a Division I prospect, had an excellent season in 2015. Her 17 doubles were the second-most in a single season and her 50 RBIs were fifth-most, despite missing the final games of the state tournament with an ankle injury.

Guymon, one of the Stallions’ vocal leaders, provides steady play at third base as part of arguably the state’s best defensive infield. She also plays a crucial role as Stansbury’s No. 2 hitter, helping set the table for Batchelor in the No. 3 spot.

This season also represents a shot at history for Clinton, who can become just the second coach in Utah history to win four consecutive championships, with Bear River’s Calvin Bingham being the other. Clinton, who also coached Grantsville to the Class 2A title in 1998, can also move into a tie with former Tooele coach Barry Pitt for fourth all-time in total championships with five.
