Five vehicles involved in SR-36 crash on Sunday

Steve Howe 1:54 p.m.

Multiple vehicles were involved in a head-on collision on state Route 36 Sunday evening near the intersection with Canyon Road in Lake Point, according to the Utah Highway Patrol.

A passenger car traveling northbound on SR-36 near milepost 67, crossed to the middle multipurpose lane and into oncoming traffic for an unknown reason around 7 p.m., according to UHP. After entering the northbound lanes, the northbound passenger car struck another car head-on.

The northbound vehicle collided with a sedan car, which caused a fourth and fifth vehicle to be involved in the accident, UHP said. All of the additional vehicles involved in the accident were in the northbound lanes.

The driver in the northbound vehicle was transported by medical helicopter in critical condition, according to UHP. The drivers in the second and third vehicles involved in the crash were transported by ambulance in poor condition. There were no other reported injuries.

Troopers are still determining if drugs or another factor contributed to the crash, according to UHP.

As a result of the accident, all northbound lanes of SR-36 were closed and traffic was diverted through Lake Point for about two hours while investigations were being conducted.

The crash was turned over to the Tooele County Sheriff Department. See SR-36 at A7.

Drivers suffer minors injuries in rollover

A Grantsville man is facing aggravated assault charges after he allegedly fought with a man who refused to move out of the way of a collision, according to a probable cause statement.

Fatigue is being investigated as a possible factor for the accident. The driver in the truck was not injured. The accident was in both directions between Thump Lane and Kirk and caused traffic while first responders cleared the scene and investigated the accident.

 Withdrawal from Iran deal is a mistake **

R achael Mansfield is a senior policy analyst at the American Enterprise Institute and a guest columnist for the Transcript Bulletin. She recently wrote an op-ed for AEI about the Iran Nuclear Deal. Rachael can be reached at rachael.mansfield@aei.org.

The Trump administration has recently announced its intention to withdraw from the Iran nuclear deal. U.S. President Donald Trump and Secretary of State Mike Pompeo, citing a range of issues from damage to American national security interests to Iran’s alleged violations of the agreement, have expressed a desire to eliminate or renegotiate the deal. The administration’s rhetoric has been alarming and, for many, it has raised serious concerns about the future of American foreign policy.

The Iran deal, formally known as the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action (JCPOA), was signed in 2015 by Iran and six world powers (the United States, China, Russia, France, Germany, and the United Kingdom). The agreement included sanctions relief in exchange for Iran agreeing to limit its nuclear program and comply with additional non-proliferation measures. The deal was seen as a victory for those who believed in a diplomatic approach to resolving conflicts.

However, since the deal was first signed, there have been ongoing concerns about Iran’s compliance with the terms of the agreement. Critics argue that the agreement did not do enough to prevent Iran from acquiring nuclear weapons or from supporting terrorist groups. These concerns have been compounded by the rising tensions between the United States and Iran in recent years.

The withdrawal from the Iran deal will undoubtedly have significant consequences for both the United States and the world. For the United States, it will mean the loss of an opportunity to engage with Iran in a constructive manner. It will also mean the loss of an opportunity to work with our allies to address other issues such as Iran’s role in the Middle East.

For the world, the withdrawal from the Iran deal will mean the loss of an opportunity to work towards a more peaceful and stable region. It will also mean the loss of an opportunity to work towards a more stable and prosperous world.

In conclusion, the withdrawal from the Iran deal is a mistake. The United States and our allies must work together to address the issues that have led to the current tensions with Iran. It is only through diplomacy and dialogue that we can hope to achieve a peaceful and prosperous future for all.

As we look at our area today, the negative impact on our sewer system and waste water supplies will need to be addressed. In February 2006, rates of Utah were adjusted up for some water districts in Tooele Valley. This was done because the Water Rights Division determined that more water shares were already available to be developed than there were available to access. It seems the rate for the water source was not in connection with available water in the area. No good. A difficult call. The water price was not available. It's not possible to develop as the water source is being used.

This means that we have been conscious of the water availability in the area. The new administration will make a decision to cut the new road costs. Teachers promoted for good health in the classroom

Crystal Winton

To the Editor:

At the end of the school year, the Live Fit Tooele County alliance awarded three teachers prizes for their efforts to engage students in physical education activities in the classroom.

The winning teachers were Elmie Pratt, Settlement Elementary; Carlie Bonneville, Academy; and Crystal Winton, Rose Springs Elementary.

“I was so grateful for a day as fun way to get in a lot of physical activity to wake up their brains,” Pratt said. “Some of our classes are held in the morning and we do tons of activities that interlace academics with a math or literacy skill. Almost every 5th- and 6th-graders have an exercise slide. During that time they perform exercises like lunge, squats, ar

aerobics and stretching.”

Ben Betz said his wife sidewalks virtually include physical, mental and emotional wellness.

“Each day we build our physical health by doing activities such as dancing, yoga, stretching, jumping and strength training,” Winton said. “We also discuss the importance of keeping healthful and good for our bodies and things that can’t rely on America to keep a healthy classroom environment for their students.”

Ronald Reagan famously said, “A great nation

Many students are passing through school without ever being taught anything about how to maintain a healthy lifestyle.

In an effort to reverse this,

the Tooele County Health

Department is now offering a program for teachers to

Because of Pentecost, it’s time to tell the world, ‘Catch the Spirit’

On Sunday, May 20, the Holy Spirit will come upon the disciples, according to the prophecy of Joel, upon the face of the earth. With this divine wind blowing upon the disciples and the Blessed Virgin Mary, they will go forth throughout the ends of the earth, visiting neighbors and strangers and driving tongues “and languages” from their mouths on each of them.

According to the Bible, “the world has never been the same, never. Before the disciples went out, we were never martyrs proclaiming that the power of the Holy Ghost and resurrection just as Jesus charged. And then we received the power when the Holy Ghost came upon you, and you will be witnesses to me in Jerusalem and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth.” (Act 1:8)

The ITC is conducting its investigation in the area, which includes a public hearing on July 17, 2018. The commission will reach a final determination in mid-September.

Because of the impact of the tariffs on the publisher, print errata, and other businesses, the bill has received widespread support from Stop Tariffs on Printing & Publishing (STOP) and other coalitions that represent more than 600,000 workers in the U.S. printing and publishing industry.

time chief before he decided to run for sheriff in 2014. “Shake comes from experience and formal education, says Wismer. “Three years in the academy provided me with the difference between experience and real-world, and they elected the least trusted candidates that had the most leadership experience. I have worked hard the last three years to prove to those that placed their trust in me that the experience and education I bring, is absolutely necessary in the changes we have made.” Wismer defended himself against a claim that 69 officers have left the sheriff’s department since he became sheriff. The actual number is 55, according to Wismer. “In the three years prior to me becoming sheriff, the department lost its employ- ees,” the says. “I am running on the face of the ordinary man’s face, not a law enforcement agency.”

Law enforcement agencies, especially small and rural ones, are losing employees to what Wismer calls “non-wart with larger agen- cies,” according to Wismer. Adams said that with better “resources,” in working with officers, he would build the Tooele County Sheriff’s Office into a department that would attract and retain employees.

While the 2018 high school boys soccer season ended without a postseason berth for the teams from Grantsville, Stansbury and Tooele, the season wasn’t without its exciting moments.

Grantsville, which played in the toughest region in Class 3A — both state champion Judge Memorial and runner-up Morgan call Region 13 home — showed improvement as the season went along. The Cowboys were unable to advance to the state tournament, but had several strong wins against non-region opponents.

Stansbury came on strong at the end of the season, including a victory over eventual Class 4A state runner-up Park City. While it wasn’t enough to earn the Stallions a trip to the state tournament, it did provide reason for optimism.

Tooele endured a difficult season as the Buffaloes looked to rebuild their roster a year after breaking a long playoff drought. While the Buffs’ season may not have been a success on the scoreboard, they earned valuable varsity-level experience that will benefit them in the long run.

The Trail of Hope took care of those who were oppressed

Unlike the Native Americans who called the trail the “Trail of Tears,” a symbol of the forced removal of the Creek Nation from their homes to what’s now called the “Trail of Hope,”

MUSEUM MEMORIES

Learning everything in the hands of the Lord, the Latter-Day Saints (more commonly known as Mormons) were driven from their home, city and temple in the west, having been denied the chance of crossing the river by ferryboat. Many were forced to find refuge in February or May and be buried out with their race in happy neighbors.

The Mormons had some small unfortunates happen to them that is made possible in the final days of the Nauvoo Temple and the days of the “Trail of Hope.”

UPCOMING EVENTS

The Tooele baseball team had a strong season in 2018, with the Buffaloes’ nine game winning streak from May 2018 to June 2018. The Buffaloes dropped the season opener 3-0 against Spanish Fork, and a 3-0 hole after the first inning against Spanish Fork. The team came back to win the game 6-3, with a season-best time of 2:02.42.

The team’s 2018 season came to an end in the Class 3A state softball tournament. Stansbury boys win Region 13 title track.

Museum Memories: the “Trail of Hope” was a reference to the forced relocation of the Creeks from their homes to the location called “Trail of Hope.” The trail was first used in 1831 by the Creeks as a route to the West, and it became a symbol of oppression and hardship for those who were forced to travel along it. The “Trail of Tears” was a similarly named route used by the Cherokee Nation. The “Trail of Hope” name was later adopted by the Latter-Day Saints (Mormons) as a reference to their forced relocation from Nauvoo, Illinois to Utah, which they called the “Trail of Hope.” The name was later used to refer to the forced relocation of other Native American tribes as well. The name “Trail of Hope” was chosen to inspire and uplift those who were being forced to leave their homes and travel to a new land.”

The Book of Time
The Secrets of Time, How It Works and How We Measure It

What is time? Philosophers and scientists have wrestled with this question for centuries, and yet an understanding of time and how it moves is an integral part of our lives – and yet we only sporadically grapple with it. The goal of this book (and the joy of it) is to join you in a quest to find a way to time your own life so that it goes deeper than you are. If stops of the light at the speed of light seem immutable, it is time to find a way to understand the force that is in time and how you live it. After all, a healing, colored illustrated, and mindful approach to the universal subject that affects us all. The book (and its answers of the preceding and preceding questions) will tell you about the concept of time.

Extreme Science
Travel to the outer extremities of experimental science and contemplate the unknown: artificial life, nanotechnology, geophysical, time travel, mental control and psychoneurological, science and time travel.

Center stage are the extreme scientists who challenged everything — natural, normal, human — at the limits of the possible, if not the probable. But few know the story, let alone the key books, in this in-depth exploration of time with things they really should know.

That year, Carver (21-10), playing its fifth game in three days after a quarterfinal loss to Desert Hills, played as if it was on Thursday morning, scored enough of the little it needed to make things interesting. Chestnut and Walsingham did a little too much late to follow through with a three-run right to clinch the state title for Grantsville’s lead in the back.

But the comeback wasn’t to be. The Cowboys were a team of destiny, having been chasing Davis senior star Moe Olson after just one inning. Grantsville read of off reliever Ashley Johnson in the second. Barnby led off with a single and Thomas’ triple left set up an RBI double by Arlen, while a slider change by Panama scored Thomas and set up an error that allowed Arlen to score. Panama later scored on an RBI single in the third, putting Grantsville up 3-0. That’s when the Cowboys right for support. For the Cowboys, the Grantsville’s replacements? the pitcher who got the call for the title game was almost any one of them. As long as they were in control, they were ‘‘a hell of a defensive. “I was just so excited — just knew I had to have a good game and keep a controlled game, and they’re ‘a hell of a defensive.’”

The Grantsville singles, sarcasm and the second round of the Class 4A state tournament completed on May 15.

The championship was the Cowboys’ first since 1980, with Grantsville Pickett in 1976, 1979 and 1997.

The Cowboys were represented at the tournament by two. Two more teams. Carl Jackson led off with a single. Then rode and bagged a 2-4 pitch from St. Clair and Harden to score the first. But the Buffaloes had the runners on first, second and third. Then a wild pitch before a 1-2-3 groundout put the game out of reach for Grantsville.

Stansbury’s Erik Leary finished 6-2, 6-1, 6-0 to champion Crimson Crest of Ogden. Wilkie Jackson of Stansbury led 6-0, 6-2, 6-1 at No. 2 singles. The South’s second doubles team, Leir Vaughn and Makenna Baker added an 6-1 to the championship. In the top singles game, John Lujan of Desert Hills drove in Desert Hills. In the bottom singles, falling 6-4, 6-7 (3), 6-4. Bridgeport’s Darin St. Croix lead 7-6 (5), 6-2 to win. Stansbury’s first doubles team, Carl Raddatz and Leif Thulin defeated their doubles teams. Carl Raddatz and Leif Thulin of Rowland Hall won 6-1, 6-2, but lost a hard-fought 6-1, 3-6, 7-5 decision to state-rankers Carl and Rider at state doubles.

The championship was the Cowboys’ first since 1980, with Grantsville Pickett in 1976, 1979 and 1997.
