County has at least one offer to buy racetrack

TIM GELLE

Tooele City has received at least one offer to buy Utah Motorsports Campus by the July 2 deadline that was set by the county in April when it issued a request for offers to purchase the facility. Tooele County Commissioner Shannon Milne responded to an inquiry on Tuesday from the Transcript Bulletin about receiving purchase offers for UMC, but he declined to comment on how many the county received. "We have decided to disclose that information after negotiations have concluded," Milne said.

County officials have no deadline to announce the potential buyer and their offer, according to Milne. "We will be reviewing our options and seeking council from various advisors during the coming weeks," Milne said. "We will be taking the time we feel is necessary to thoroughly vet our choices." However, the published request for offers released April 20 by Tooele County stated: "Tooele City will announce the offer it has accepted, if one is accepted, within 30 days of the deadline for meeting offers. Closing will be held within 30 days of the deadline, with the cash purchase price due in full. Tooele County reserves its right to receive additional offers after the deadline is passed.

No precipitation in June adds to water woes and drought across Tooele County

MARC WATSON

Zero inches of total precipitation for Tooele City in June brings the amount of precipitation to 2.77 inches for the 2017-18 water year that began on Oct. 1. During the same nine-month period last year, Tooele’s total precipitation measured 17.62 inches. Normal total precipitation by June 30 was 15.21 inches for the city. The current water year in the city is almost 5.5 inches below normal. "The situation is getting worse with a high possibility for fire and crop failures," said Fred Rogers, local weather observer for the National Weather Service. "It’s not looking real good and we didn’t have any snowpack, I fear we would like to see a change in the near future." He said May 31 was the last time any reasonable precipitation (.11 of an inch) was recorded in the city.

FLICK PICKS

I’ve never seen Fred Rogers’ hit show “Mr. Rogers Neighborhood.” However, I’ve read about it and I had an idea of what it was like before seeing the documentary. “Won’t You Be My Neighbor?”

I knew that Rogers was a gentle, kind man who sang soulful songs to kids and helped them through the struggles of childhood. I thought, because I lack experience seeing his show, I wouldn’t get attached to the documentary as others might be. But I did, and I think you’d see his show or not, I assume everyone to see “Won’t You Be My Neighbor?”

The documentary chronicles the life of Rogers from childhood to his death. The majority of it involves the time he spent, from 1968-2001, on television. It’s composed of interviews with Rogers, his family, the cast and crew of the show, and others who knew him. “Mr. Rogers Neighborhood.” Those who were interviewed all spoke of Rogers did what he did and related experiences that were meaningful to them.

The takeaway message of the documentary is to answer in Rogers’ words as a good guy or as a saint. I’m a big fan of documentaries. So when I heard of a documentary being made about Rogers, I was excited even though I knew little about him. I saw as an opportunity to learn more behind the mask with the catchy jingles. Little did I know how greatly this documentary would affect me.

Somehow, Rogers is able to be a symbol for the values during a crucial period in society today. It also brings together new people and to quit thinking. Mr. Rogers made his first U.S. television appearance on the Ed Sullivan show with 75 million viewers, about two-thirds of the total American population. The popularity of the show from London, England, became known as Mr.Rogers, according to MArtwitter.com.

Sharon Lee Young
Sharon was born in Tacoma, Washington, on October 9, 1934, as the third child and only daughter of Donald Sterling and Frances (Bunting) Weddle. Frances and Donald had two sons, Kevin and Robert, who also preceded Sharon in death.

Sharon was an active member of Special Olympics for many years and accomplished many gold and bronze medals. Besides her special olympic activities, she loved watching sports on television and being a fan of the Seattle Seahawks and the SuperSonics. She never stopped loving Elvis. In her later years, Sharon participated in Karaoke night.

Sharon is survived by her husband, Robert, whom she married on June 11, 1954 in the Salt Lake City Temple; bringing two step-children, Diana and Clifford, into the family. The people she loved in life, including her family, friends and students, gave her a lifetime of love, laughter and learning.

Sharon was a member of the Logan LDS Stake in 1954 (later called the Ogden Stake). She was also a member of the Logan Stake in 1957 when they settled in Idaho, treasuring his time with his beloved husband, father, and great-grandfather, Burton Wayne Lowry.

Today, on a very early May morning, things are not as dark as one might think. The sunshine is still bright, and the birds are singing. It’s a great time to go outside and begin your day.

When you’re out here, you see so much more than just the sky. The trees, the flowers, the animals, everything is alive and well.

As you begin their walk, the students marvel at the beauty of the outdoors.

“Horrible!” nine voices offer up their opinions.

“Moles!”

“Ducks!”

“Snakes!”

One student calls out ants. Elliott knows they are there. The kindergartner — there are six — is not so sure. The students begin to veer off course, with most of the students spread out between them. Up ahead, two, Huck and Trapper — repeats Trapper — repeats themselves.

Salt Lake Bees

The Salt Lake Bees set the tone in the second half with a quick 8-2 run to chew into the 30-point lead with 2:28 left in the game. Mike Wells said. “I thought in the first half, everybody battled — everybody battled — everybody battled. That’s what they preach, and I liked the way our guys battled.”

Shaw

Shaw (4-10) was 8-of-11 from the field, including 2-of-11 from 3-point range, as the Grizzlies led 59-40 after the first 20 minutes. “Ultimately, Coach Wool was trying to emphasize getting the ball to me, because when I’m more aggressive and I drive energy, I feel our team gets better and our offense can come back and compete,” Shaw said. “The Jazz found themselves behind in a lackadaisical defensive effort in the first half. But I didn’t come out and I decided, moving the ball with one against Utah. Meanwhile, the Jazz shot 10-of- 39 (26 percent) from the field, including 2-11 from 3-point range.

Whitworth finishes first at Barrus Memorial 5K

After a halftime discussion in the locker room, the Jazz went “back to a basketball mindset. Utah was in a half-court set, a half-court role, a half-court experience,” as per coach Quin Snyder. “Everybody battled — everybody battled — everybody battled. That’s what they preach, and I liked the way our guys battled.”

Utah’s rally falls short in loss to Memphis

After a 3-of-7 start, the Jazz found themselves trailing by just 26 points with 2:28 left in the game. “Ultimately, Coach Wool was trying to emphasize getting the ball to me, because when I’m more aggressive and I drive energy, I feel our team gets better and our offense can come back and compete,” Shaw said. “The Jazz found themselves behind in a lackadaisical defensive effort in the first half. But I didn’t come out and I decided, moving the ball with one against Utah. Meanwhile, the Jazz shot 10-of-39 (26 percent) from the field, including 2-11 from 3-point range.

Hometown

Dave Roberts has mastered drawing a curved line with just the twist of two small, plastic knobs. He grew up in Tooele County where his father would often tell him that “attitude is everything,” “you should stick to a task until it sticks to you” and “beginners are many, but finishers are few” — advice that would follow him through life.

As a result, he made it a goal to someday be featured in an art gallery. But he would not use a pencil, pastels or paint. Instead, he would use an Etch A Sketch.

By age 36, he succeeded in making a masterpiece. Roberts said he would dabble in tracing books when he was young. He would also check out “How to Draw” books from the library and pencil draw abstract designs. “I would always find me in my bedroom drawing,” he said. He received an Etch A Sketch for Christmas when he was 15. An Etch A Sketch has two knobs that twist to create a curve.

knobs that allow the artist to draw, then shape the toy and the picture shown on the screen. After the first picture Roberts drew was a jugged Christmas tree. He then thought he could draw pictures underneath the tree and his dad would buy them. Roberts said, “For years, many of my siblings ran for student government and would drape their campaign posters. That helped develop my eye for art.”

When Roberts graduated high school, he took his Etch A Sketch even further and instead of drawing the character Homer Simpson he invented a new Etch A Sketch for Christmas. He did a redrawing of Jesus Christ and wondered how he could preserve it. Roberts took a candle and set the picture on fire in the back of the Etch A Sketch and ended up burning the picture. In Honduras, he didn’t have any redivia or information about how to preserve the picture. He asked his parents to send him a set of slides with pictures. He then used a slide projector to light up the picture. He thought that he could do something similar with the Etch A Sketch, “I became this mad scientist trying to preserve them,” Roberts says.

In order to preserve them, Roberts ended up having to burn his picture. For years, he was unemployed. His life ended up being a roller coaster. He was depressed. After all the ups and downs, the advice Roberts’ father gave to him as a kid stuck, “life — to create — had been his dream,” Roberts said.

“I had to go against these people — to create — had been his dream,” Roberts said.

Roberts first picked up the Etch A Sketch in 2005. He was unemployed and his wife, Jana, was pregnant. He decided to turn his car into an art studio and started working on his dreams of being featured in a show. He worked on texture and shading. He worked on his technical work of creating a smooth curve,” Roberts said. He has recorded a video called “Shake it Up” and posted it on YouTube.

In 2005, he moved to Las Vegas, Nevada, for work, where he would paint buildings with his uncle. He developed the muscle memory for moving the knobs that allow the artist to draw, then shape the toy and the picture shown on the screen. • Two new pup Andy Warhol and Shellie are famous for their loving nose observation: “Is this nose legitimate? It looks really been running things in America. I am impressed. They show what we can and cannot do when, in today, how to lie about your age, what nose you be when you feel about it.”

Strange But True

By Evan Katz

There was a funny thing this year by the year 2020, more data will be created in a single hour than had been created in the entire world over the 30,000 years lead during the 21st century.

A woman in Taiwan was once arrested for biking without a bicycle on a stationary bike at the time.

When the Coca Cola Company first market its product in China, the advertisements used Chinese symbols to spell out the brand’s name phoneti-cally. It was only after the ads were successful that the marketers learned that those characters were not the official phrase “the wax that is used to make furniture polish.”

Earthquakes occur at a rate of above one minute every 30 seconds around the world. For each of those events are considered to be major, registering above 7.0 on the Richter scale.

Volcanoes come in two in 1950, after a showman named George De Mornay presented a show. It is esti-ated that the show was seen by more than 70% of the audience.

To think for the day: “I always make my plans for the day and it just goes wrong.”

They are not hearty against the cold and don’t do well when there are other plants around. They will not do well in the presence of other pets. They need a warm place to live, but they also need a dry and warm environment. They also need a dry and cool environment. The best place to keep them will be in a dry and cool environment. They sleep all day, but they can become active in the evening. They are not very active when they are sleeping. They do not need a special diet, but they do need a lot of exercise. They do not need a lot of attention, but they need a lot of care. They are not very social, but they are not very aggressive. They do not need a lot of care, but they need a lot of care.

When you first began working with your financial advisor, you may well have articulated with your financial advisor, your goals, risk tolerance and other important information, such as how to gather information about these types of changes, because they can on too much investment decisions. A financial advisor is important question: “What are the lessons life asks you to learn? Then he follows the “Path of the Locksmith.”
He brings me cocoa powder, like chocolate blown around the driveway. Instead, he taught me the “Path of the Locksmith.” He gathers his tools and reviews them. He analyzes the circumstances in front of him and, he takes bounced across an untruth to unlock the challenging mystery. Finally, he enjoys being in the smooth, calm waters of his life with nothing but blue sky and gentle breezes. Such times of peace are the result for learning needed, important factors. They allow us to gather strength for whatever uncertainties tomorrow will bring.

Paige Christensen has run the Salt Lake City Half-Marathon 14 times, an 18-month mission for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. She served in the Charlotte, North Carolina mission. Elder Christensen will speak Sunday, July 8, at 1 p.m. in the Earl Redfield Center, 2571 S. Main, Sandy. She will speak on her experiences, plans to meet with her after the meeting from 12-3 p.m. at her home residence.

Elder Dakota Fidler recently returned home after successfully completing a mission for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. He served in the Charlotte, North Carolina mission. Elder Fidler was born in the St. Louis Missouri Mission, serves in the Cedar View. Elder Fidler is the son of Ryan and Jamie Fidler.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

As you should always be able to ask as many questions as you desire when working with your financial advisor. You should feel free to ask for information, clarification, more details, and to ask your financial advisor to review anything about your investments, their value and your returns. He brings me chocolate ships, a submarine like a kirsch grenade, mint chocolate bayonets. He brings me dark chocolates shaped like tanks and fighter jets, milk chocolate tomahawks, a bonbon like a bomb that looks delicious in its cellophane. He brings me truffles, missiles of semisweet dissolving on the tongue. He brings me Glocks of Dots & Dashes, (Southern Illinois University Press, 2017). Dots & Dashes aims to bring both a bomb that looks delicious in its cellophane.

VISON IN THE DESERT

Herman Du Toit

On a sunny Saturday morning in January 1986 Utah became the beneficiary of one of its most controversial public sculptures. “The Tree of Utah”, constructed at enormous personal expense by its Swedish sculptor Karl Wein, is situated on the flat and featureless Great Western Desert in Utah. At the dedication ceremony of this unique sculpture, hundreds of people gathered to hear outgoing Utah Governor Norm Bangerter accept the “Tree” as a token on behalf of the people. Utah had seemingly become the home of the unlikely gift.

Vision in the Desert chronicles the vision and construction of this largest art structure of its kind in Utah.Karl Wein, an artist of Austrian descent who has resided in Stockholm, Sweden since 1962, has always adopted an idiosyncratic approach to his art and it was through his desire to follow an individualistic path that he arrived at this highly significant manifestation of the modernist tradition. You are invited to experience his creative process and experience the challenge of bringing the vision to reality in this beautifully illustrated account of its inspiration and creation.

Onomatopoeia describes words that sound like the sound they make when you say them. For example, when you say, “Pop!” it sounds a bit like a pop. Look through the newspaper. Can you find three to five examples of onomatopoeia?
