Health department accredited for emergency preparedness

TOOELE — The Tooele County Health Department was recently accredited by the Project Public Health Ready Program for its emergency preparedness plan.

Executive Director Crystal Howk said the PPHR program was created by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in 2016, and has since become a national benchmark for community health and emergency preparedness.

“Preparing for a crisis is serious business,” Howk said. “It’s about ensuring all our citizens are prepared and safe in the event of a disaster.”

The accreditation process includes a self-assessment by the department, followed by a review by the Accreditation Board, which assesses the department’s emergency preparedness plan for compliance with national standards.

“We are honored to have been accredited for our emergency preparedness plan,” said Howk. “It takes a lot of work and dedication from everyone at the health department, but we are proud to be able to say that we are prepared to respond to any emergency that may arise.”

Grantsville developers expected to provide details with new plan

GRANTSVILLE — City Planning Commissioner Matt McBeth said the new general plan for the Grantsville City General Plan is expected to be completed by late spring.

McBeth said the plan will address a variety of issues, including transportation, land use, and economic development.

“It is a comprehensive plan that will guide the city’s growth for years to come,” McBeth said. “We want to ensure that the plan is inclusive and considers the needs of all residents.”

The Grantsville City Council approved the funding for the new plan last month, and the planning commission is now working to finalize the final version of the plan.

“Once the plan is finalized, we will present it to the city council for approval,” McBeth said. “We are excited to see what the new plan will bring for the city of Grantsville.”

Metal detecting at park leads to high school ring recovery

A long lost Tooele High School class ring has found its way back to its owner. Kasey Nobles’ Class of 2006 high school ring was returned to him last week by Josh Johnson, who found the ring while metal detecting at Elton Park in Tooele City.

Johnson said he and his father often take their metal detector to different locations in Tooele County to see what kind of treasures they can find. “It was a nice day out and we wanted to go somewhere clean,” Johnson said. “So we decided to go to Elton Park.”

Johnson said he dug down about eight inches and discovered the ring after the detector sounded. “We could tell it was a Class ring,” he said. “But it wasn’t until we got it home and cleaned it up that we found it had a name engraved on it. We’ve found rings before, but never one with a name.”

Johnson found Nobles on Facebook and sent him a message. A meeting was set up to return the ring. “Kasey said he lost the ring right after he bought it,” Johnson said. “He wasn’t even able to wear it his senior year.”

Johnson said he was happy to see the ring reunite with its owner. “Returning lost items, when possible, is just part of metal detecting,” he said.

The current effort is bipartisan. But if you are going to come up with a large number of migrants from the four foreign countries, you should do that in a conscious policy, rather than just picking names on a list.

First, there’s the question of how long such a policy can be sustained. If you are going to make an annual assessment of how many of the three foreign countries are going to be the ones that are going to be picked, you will have to go to court to get that decision reversed.

Second, there’s the matter of whether or not you have the resources to carry such a policy. If you are going to be picking names, you will have to have a list of all the people that you have picked in the past. That will have to be a process that is open to the public.

Third, there’s the question of whether or not you have the resources to carry such a policy. If you are going to be picking names, you will have to have a list of all the people that you have picked in the past. That will have to be a process that is open to the public.

I just love to watch the world into professional bonkers. It follows logically, then, that many of the 30 million-plus viewers each week on all networks will die horrible deaths. It is expected that many, or most, of the 10 million plus viewers who pirate the widely watched program on Tonight will get slaughtered. Fair-board announces Phil Vassar as concert headliner for this year

TIM GILLIE

Spring hasn’t even arrived yet, but the Tooele County Fair Board is getting up for the summer season. Ron Durr, the board chair, announced this week the selection of country songwriter and performing artist Phil Vassar as the headliner for the Friday night fair concert.

Vassar is one of a handful of musicians to have topped both the songs and artist charts as a songwriter and as an artist, according to Baum. He has 10 No. 1’s, 15 top 10’s, and 26 top 40’s.

Vassar’s top songs include “Just Another Day in Paradise,” “Carlene,” “The Last Summer,” “American Child,” “Fire a Little Wild” and “My First Thirty Years” performed by Tim McGraw; “Right on the Money” performed by Alan Jackson; and “I’m All Right” and “Bye Bye” performed by Judie Mornihew and many more.

“American Soul” is Vassar’s ninth album. He also recently launched “Songs from the Cellar,” a nine-influenced musical version series airing across the U.S. and Europe.

The Tooele County Fair board is gearing up to make sure Utah is economically stable and fiscally responsible as it gets ready for the 2019 fair and the fair board and the junior fair committee is to solicit input from the public for things to include in the 2019 fair.

The purpose of the meeting is to solicit input from the public on the 2019 fair.

“We would like to hear from the county residents as we start planning the 2019 fair and see if they have suggestions for things to include in this year’s fair,” Baum said. We’re also looking for a few new members for both the fair board and the junior fair board.

reform. Should a consensus be reached, a special legislative session may be called.

“This year, we are looking at restructuring potentially $200-$300 million of the education fund to our point of need because our general fund is not going to be able to accommodate our population,” as Sen.侈breer, chair of the Senate Education Committee, said in a press release from the Utah Senate. “It’s not a sustainable practice. We’re committed to making sure Utah is economically stable and family responsible.”

The Legislature passed SB 87, which sets up procedures for temporarily transferring money from the general fund to the education fund in order to meet the state’s constitution-given responsibility for educational expenditures.

SB 87 also requires a 2% cut in spending across state government agencies to balance the state budget in the wake of low oil prices, slower-than-expected economic growth, and historic low levels of revenue. The Legislature also passed HB 220, which calls for a tax on certain low-level radioactive waste.

The bill passed the House 55-20 and the Senate 23-5. HB 220 became law on March 16 without the governor’s signature. The state’s constitution gives the governor 10 days from the time a bill is transmitted to him to either sign or veto the bill. If he does neither the bill becomes law without his signature.

• House Bill 185 Radioactive Waste Amendments. Passed and became law without governor’s signature. HB 185 imposes a fee on certain low-level radioactive waste disposed of in the state. It also calls for the classification of low-level radioactive waste or the waste it is received at the disposal site and require a site and waste specific assessment before low-level radioactive waste can be accepted in the waste.

HB 185 passed and the House 55-16 and cleared the Senate Government Operations and Political Subcommittees Committee-5. The bill passed the Senate, however, and awaits Senate floor action before it can be transmitted to the full Senate.

It also calls for the classification of low-level radioactive waste or the waste it is received at the disposal site and require a site and waste specific assessment before low-level radioactive waste can be accepted in the state.

Opponents of HB 220 claim the bill will open the door to accepting depleted uranium and higher than Class A low-level radioactive waste in the waste. She needs to keep the runners over the next three innings, keeping the baserunners over the next two innings, giving the infield over the next two innings. students involved, according to school records. All incidents resulted in out of school suspensions. So far in the 2018-19 school year, there have been 17 incidents of stu- dents using or possessing illegal sub- stances, with 17 students involved. All of those students were also given out-of school suspensions. According to school records, there have been 52 incidents resulting in out of school suspensions, according to school records. As for those students, there have been 60 incidents this year, with 41 incidents resulting in out of school suspensions. According to the Student Health and Risk Prevention, or SHARP survey, 20 percent of students reported ever using e-cigarettes or vapes in their lifetime in 2017. Up from 10 percent in 2015. The 2017 SHARP found 6 percent of students had used e-cigarettes or vapes in the past 30 days, a decrease from the 30 percent figure in the 2015 survey. Hansen said a major concern about the use of THC cartridges in vaping devices is the substance’s consump- tion. “The THC content in there … THC cartridges is much, much higher,” Hansen said. Hansen said devices are used to play music and come in a variety of scents and fla- nors, he said. “People think of drug deals as a mile or so away and that’s not true,” Hansen said. Hansen said social media is playing a role in drug possession and use at school. Through popular platforms like Snapchat and Instagram. “Everybody thinks of drug deals as a mile or so away and that’s not true,” Hansen said. The event for parents, students and educa- tors will provide ongoing mainte- nance for 12 Tooele County resi- dents, Hall said. “It’s always good to be able to help someone, especially a veteran,” Hall said. Along with reconditioning the wheelchair, Hall said Autotech will provide ongoing main- tenance and repairs for free. Twenty-two young women and men participated the Ninth Annual Tooele High School Mr. and Miss Super Amazing Pageant in the school’s auditorium on March 8. Brock Lawrence and Ellie Jensen were crowned with the title Mr. and Miss Amazing. The competition included a variety of categories including famous/formal wear, talent showcase, and onstage questions. The pageant is designed for students with disabilities, ages 14-24. Moments in Time

On April 3, 1996, at 8:03 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, the baseball player’s bat made contact with the baseball, sending it soaring through the air. The ball, with its orange color and red stitching, soared through the night sky, accompanied by the sound of the bat’s crack. The moment was captured by the stadium’s lights, illuminating the field and the spectators. The ball reached its peak altitude, where the gravitational force and the air resistance were balanced, before starting its descent to the Earth. The photographers, eager to capture the moment, held their cameras steady, focusing on the ball’s trajectory. The fans, standing on the field, cheered as they watched the ball fly. The moment was frozen in time, captured in photographs and videos. The baseball, now a relic of the game, is preserved in museums and baseball halls of fame, a testament to the power of sport and the beauty of moments in time.
