Fire near South Rim leaves 351 acres burned

STEVE HOWE 7/18/2019

A volatile fire scorched 351 acres just north of South Rim after it was sparked yesterday afternoon.

The fire was first reported at about 5 p.m. on Wednesday when a bird struck a power line and set a nearby brush fire.

Fire crews worked to contain the blaze throughout the night.

The fire is believed to have been sparked by a bird hitting a power line, which caused it to short, according to Tooele Fire Chief Austin Huffman.

Two helicopter crews, an air attack plane, and several fixed-winged aircraft were used in fighting operations, Huffman said.

Nutmans declared disqualified to serve on Stockton Town Council

STEVE HOWE 7/18/2019

In a 7-2 vote, the Stockton Town Council has been deemed not qualified for the office after the town attorney disqualiﬁed him as not meeting legal qualifications. David Nutzman was appointed by the council to serve on Stockton’s Town Council Monday morning.

The appointment was made following the resignation of former mayor Mark Whitney.

The council seat was opened by the resignation of former mayor Mark Whitney.

Nutzman was appointed to the position by Mayor Thomas Karjola being selected to fill the council seat opened by the resignation of the former mayor.

A July 5 legal opinion from Stockton Town Attorney Roger Baker stated Nutzman was not qualiﬁed to serve on Stockton’s Town Council.

Grantsville approves first phase of high-density development

MARK WATSON

The project area is bordered by Main Street, Clark Street and the land is mixed R-3, R-2 and U-2. City Council members approved a General Plan change to allow for 28 townhouses in the area.

IV Development Partners, LLC plans to move forward with the development as planned in this area, according to attorney Bruce Baird. "We would like to see this development agreement locked as it is now, no kick in and go," Baird said. "We want to build it and not lose the line in road." Baird and Reid Dickson of the grantsvilleplan. "We're not going to build the road," Baird said. "The entire development was first proposed in 2005. According to revised meeting minutes, it's made for about eight years because of the recession. Baird indicated there is a need for higher density housing and the development is financially sustainable. Councilmembers Jeff Harrison, Sam Gray and Jewel Allen voted to approve the development agreement. Councilmembers Scott Stovall and Brian Spence were not at the meeting. Baird said to add an addendum to the agreement to owned the site for the document in case of another round of construction. The agreement was approved. A proposal for the park was approved by councilmembers instead the park to be built during the second phase. "It would be nice to have the park sooner than later," Allen said.

Baird said a development agreement for the entire project is not in place, but councilmembers would like to see the first phase ends up first. "We hope to approve 25 units at one time," Gramlich said. "We want to have a park, but we can live with that.” Baird made a remarkably low, but we can live with that. Baird made a request for early passage to the entire development. The agreement includes a 5% bonus area around the entire development. The agreement includes a draft general plan, and also a survey for residents to take in the process. Councilmember Jewel Allen said the city received a transportation grant of $10,000 through the transportation grant to begin the process of revising the General Plan. Baird said the city was required to match the transportation grant $10,000.

Grantsville seeks more comments before finalizing new General Plan

MARK WATSON

The Greenhills Planning and Zoning Commission will take more comments from the public before finalizing the new General Plan at 7 p.m. Tuesday, July 30 at Grantsville City Hall.

"We encourage people to come because this is their last opportunity to speak up and be heard on what they care for the city with the future of the General Plan,” said James Topham, Grantsville Planning commission chairman.

The last General Plan was completed in 2013. "We made some comments at the last meeting before the plan moves on to the City Council,” she said.” Mayor Brent Marshall said the City Council would consider the General Plan during its meeting on Aug. 27.

City leaders and Rural Community Consultants of Springdale have been working on the plan since July 2018. Spreading residential development in the city is a major concern for residents, according to the consultants, "Grantsville is a place that is going to grow and there is a fear from residents about what will come, said Phil Raman of Rural Community Consultants of Springdale. The city has held three workshops about the plan during the past five months at Grantsville High School. "Comments at these workshops have been very helpful,” Topham said. "We have no public comment deadline to have the plan approved," but at the same meeting, the consultants said they had one unanimous of the deadline,” she said.

The website grantsvilleplan.org includes a draft general plan, and also a survey for residents to take in the process. Councilmember Jewel Allen said the city received a transportation grant of $10,000 through the transportation grant to begin the process of revising the General Plan.
RDA OKs development agreement for 1000 North retail project

But RDA wants to approve site plan before work begins

STEVE HONG

The Tooele City Redevelopment Agency approved a development agreement for a retail development on 1000 North, pending final approval of a site plan.

The development agreement for the 13-acre property with M-53 Associates includes a ten-year site plan that includes a stipulation by the city — wouldn’t be broken ground retail development.” Said said.

The exchange for concessions from the RDA, including $5.25 million in financing of $150,000 annually over 15 years and tax increment payments up to $4.75 million over 20 years, the developer approved a permanent certificate of occupancy for at least 37,800 square foot commercial retail development.

While the RDA, which is comprised of the Tooele City Council, approved the agreement during Wednesday’s meeting, a significant stipulation was attached to the approval. Board member Scott Wardle’s motion to approve the agreement included the stipulations that the site plan, which was not yet available, must be approved by the board before Tooele City Mayor Debra Winn signs off on the arrangement.

Wardle’s motion was sectioned by RDA board member Melodi Gochis and passed by a 4-0 vote, with RDA board member Steve Pruden absent. Prior to the discussion on the agreement, RDA Chairman Brad Winn acknowledged the work that took to get the 1000 North development to this phase.

“I want to thank all those that have worked on this for many, many years to get to this point,” Pruden said. “It takes a lot of work and a lot of effort and involved a lot of people.

The city’s RDA bought the property for $5.1 million in 2015 from Gilad Development to enter the site — deemed as a prime commercial retail location in the city — wouldn’t be developed only for residential use.

A real estate purchase contact was signed with the RDA and M-53 in April 2015. The $4.2 million sale price to M-53 includes a stipulation that if M-53 does not begin construction within two years after closing, it must pay the RDA another $1 million.

Tooele City’s RDA has approved a development agreement for the property at 1000 North and Main Street in Tooele.

CLERK’S CORNER

Make sure door-to-door solicitor has county or city issued ID badge

Hi. Tooele County! I am Tenille Tingey, Tooele County Clerk Marilyn Gillers chief deputy. I am a new contributor to the Clerk’s Corner, and I am thrilled for the opportunity to help Marilyn share the goings-on at the clerk’s office.

It’s officially summer and we are busy enjoying the sun. Warm weather also brings out businesses that offer services to residents via door-to-door sales. Solicitors often carry county resident great services, but did you know that solicitors must carry a county or city issued ID badge?

For residents in unincorporated areas of the county (Snippet Park, Lake Point, East, South Rim, etc.), our office handles the licensing and badging of solicitors. It is a good practice to verify that solicitors have a county or city issued ID badge. It verifies that you have issued proper license and the solicitors themselves have had background checks.

The solicitors are educated during the licensing period that they can’t knock on doors that have a No Soliciting sign. If you are having problems with unlicensed solicitors, or those who ignore your No Soliciting sign, please call dispatch at 435-882-5600 to report the problem. If you have any questions about the solicitors, please give us a call at 435-843-3141.

The primary election for Amended Park Service Agency and Tooele City in Aug. 13. The ballots are coming out next week. Watch for your ballot to come in the mail! You will only get one if you live within the boundaries of these two entities. Happy voting!

Tenille Tingey is the chief deputy Tooele County Clerk.
In 1919, Women’s Club wants swimming pool in Tooele

A massive brawl broke out July 18, 1919, when a group of teenagers caused a scene because of the lack of a swimming pool in the city. On that same day, the Tooele Transcript Bulletin published an editorial calling for the construction of a city swimming pool.

The editorial stated that it was important for the city to have a swimming pool, as it would be beneficial to the health and well-being of the residents. The Tooele City Council was urged to take action and consider the establishment of a city swimming pool.

Today, the Tooele Transcript Bulletin continues to advocate for the importance of public health and safety, as well as the need for strong community support.

Read more about the history of Tooele City's swimming pool and the efforts to establish it in the July 20, 1919, edition of the Tooele Transcript Bulletin. Contact us at 435-882-0050 for a copy of the historical newspaper.

Second facility for troubled teens closes in a month

Mount Pleasant, Utah (AP) — A company that runs treatment centers for troubled youth is closing a second Utah facility as officials investigate claims of sexual abuse by staff. The Montana-based Sequel Psychiatric Corp. said in a statement Monday that it will cease operations at Red Rock Canyon School in St. George, Utah.

Sequel said in court filings that it had no reason to believe its actions were lawful but that it was ceasing operations pending an investigation. The Utah Department of Health and Human Services is investigating allegations that occurred during the third quarter of 2018.

Risk factors for heart disease

- Diabetes
- Metabolic syndrome
- Stress and depression
- Smoking
- Lack of physical activity
- Pregnancy complications

How women can reduce their risk

- Start a regular exercise plan: at least 30 minutes per day, five days per week
- Maintain a healthy weight
- Eat a healthy diet
- Quit smoking

If a heart attack does occur, what are the treatment options?

- Aspirin: A 911 operator may instruct you or the person having a heart attack to take aspirin, or EMS personnel may give you an aspirin immediately.
- Other medications: Intravenous, antithrombotic agents, blood thinners

Surgery: coronary angiography and stenting, coronary artery bypass surgery

Dr. William Brann is a board-certified cardiologist. He has been in practice for more than 25 years and practices in the Salt Lake City area. He specializes in both coronary artery and peripheral vascular disease.

Although heart disease is generally thought of as a man’s health issue, more than men die of heart disease each year, making it the leading cause of death in women in the U.S. The symptoms of a heart attack in women can present themselves in different ways, and many women may not recognize the signs.

What are the symptoms of a heart attack in women?

- Pressure or discomfort in the neck, jaw, shoulder, upper back, and abdomen
- Shortness of breath
- Right arm pain
- Nausea or vomiting
- Sweating
- Light-headedness or dizziness
- Unusual fatigue

According to Dr. William Brann, Cardiologist with Salt Lake Regional Medical Center, “in some cases, these symptoms can be much more subtle than the obvious crushing pain in the chest that men often feel.” Dr. Brann continues, “Unfortunately, many women tend to minimize their symptoms, which can lead to heart damage.”

Family mourns 6-year-old girl killed by father’s golf shot

OREM, Utah (AP) — Relatives of a 6-year-old Utah girl who died after her father accidentally struck her with a golf ball are remembering her as a loving, playful child.

Anna Hill’s uncle David Smith described her as a happy child who preferred sunshine and enjoyed playing tennis with her parents. Smith said Hill’s parents rarely played golf, but he often with her father and that is one of their favorite activities to do together.

Police say Hill was struck by her father’s golf ball in the back of the head on Monday morning, while the father and daughter were playing at Hoop Ridge Golf Course in Orem about 40 miles south of Salt Lake City.

"A complete, fluke accident because it appears to have been a tragic accident," said Phil Vassar.

The warmhearted and pride of the people, the community feel in the following stanzas, even in his final hour — the weather, all around him of the state could not hold him. In the last stanza, it’s the Mountain Range region.

Perhaps that’s the reason why he has won the Irish Open in the past three years, earned by lager galaxies wherever he goes.

And maybe it’s what will transform the most form of gotten into a major championship this week, or Royal Portrush.

It’s the closer I’ve ever felt to playing at home,” Rubin said Wednesday, “without being at home.”

The first of his Irish Open career came just down the road at Portrush in 2017. He stayed in Portrush that week and recalled going to the Bloody Spade for all his finest days in music, on six of seven occasions.

He’s coming off a win at the British Open one day.

He doesn’t have himself just in his three appearances at golf’s oldest major, finishing third and fourth before missing the cut at Carnoustie last year, but a second Irish Open win over two weeks ago made him feel good about his links game once again. So he’s ready to overtake a five-stroke deficit in the final round.

“I’ve never been there, but I should’ve,” I can almost sentimental (myself) that Jon Rahm..., Rubin said. “That’s what mine’s all about.”

Both of those sites came relatively mild, small environmental conditions, but it is likely to be different at Royal Portrush this week. It was rainy and windy Wednesday — Rubin went out the first tee in the morning, spent a few minutes there, and walked inside again — and that little bit of bad weather for this week as the event returns.

Ten-year-old Jason Williams gets a hole-in-one on the 5th hole at Tooele Country Club during the Junior Club Championship Wednesday — Rahm went to the 10th hole with an 8 under par. He accomplished the feat the second time he played the hole over the last two years, and walks inside again — and even between rounds.

Rahm thrives on isle of Ireland

Forbes’ Irish Open (AP) — There’s something about playing golf on the island of Ireland that brings out the best in Jon Rahm.

The Irish Open is traditionally one of his best tournaments of the year, and his recent success is a welcome return to form after a difficult 2018. Rahm enters the 2019 Open with high expectations and will be looking to make a strong showing on the links.

Rahm, who has won the Irish Open twice in the past, is known for his killer short game and long driving ability. He has a strong mental game and is known for his ability to handle pressure.

However, Rahm has struggled with his putting in recent tournaments, which could be a concern for his performance at the Irish Open. If he can improve his putting, he will be well on his way to a strong showing.

Either way, Rahm is expected to be one of the top contenders at the Irish Open and will be looking to add another victory to his collection.

The first of his Irish Open career came just down the road at Portrush in 2017. He stayed in Portrush that week and recalled going to the Bloody Spade for all his finest days in music, on six of seven occasions.

He’s coming off a win at the British Open one day.

He doesn’t have himself just in his three appearances at golf’s oldest major, finishing third and fourth before missing the cut at Carnoustie last year, but a second Irish Open win over two weeks ago made him feel good about his links game once again. So he’s ready to overtake a five-stroke deficit in the final round.

“I’ve never been there, but I should’ve,” I can almost sentimental (myself) that Jon Rahm..., Rubin said. “That’s what mine’s all about.”

Both of those sites came relatively mild, small environmental conditions, but it is likely to be different at Royal Portrush this week. It was rainy and windy Wednesday — Rubin went out the first tee in the morning, spent a few minutes there, and walked inside again — and even between rounds.

This week as the event returns.

...and Walsh later scored on a sacrifice fly by Tovar to drive in Rojas with a ground-rule double. After the River Cats scored twice in the top of the fifth inning to cut the score to 8-7, with Walsh hitting a three-run home run and Lund adding another to the lead with a single to right field. The Bees scored six unanswered runs over the next three innings, and while the Beetles scored the game in the bottom of the sixth inning singles by Roberts Festa and his Big Way, Aramis Garcia's double loaded the bases with two runners on base and a three-run lead for the Beetles. The American Legion state tournament will begin July 26 in Salt Lake City, and will continue through Aug. 3.

Tight schedule

Justin Rose isn’t alone in trying to adjust in a schedule that has one major on top of the next one during these months — the Masters in April, PGA Championship in May, U.S. Open in June and British Open in July.

He mentioned earlier this year that previously, he had to think about a major for nearly two months after the Masters. That’s no longer the case with the PGA moving to May, and Rose said he had a hard time finding a rhythm.

“I think we’re all trying to adapt to this new schedule, which is going to be fascinating and fun for everyone,” Rose said. “It’s going to be about tuning in and enjoying the margins. If you get it wrong, you’re going to struggle.”

Rose suggested a long swing has helped him find the middle ground, but he said he was still trying to find the right length for his swing. He said he had been using a golf club with a longer grip handle, which helped him find the right length for his swing.

“Let’s get real,” Rose said in a message on Twitter that begins, “I think we’re all trying to figure out what’s going to work. I think we’re all trying to figure out what’s going to work.”

Rose also suggested that he had been working with local, state and federal emergency services.

“We’re trying to get the word out about how to stay safe in Wildfire Season,” Rose said. “We’re working with local, state and federal emergency services. It’s important to be prepared, visit us at rockymountainpower.net/wildfiresafety.”

Wildfire safety is here and safety is top of mind for you and us.

As wildfires become more frequent and intense, we’re taking even more steps to keep you safe — especially as more wildland-urban interfaces are created. We’re trimming vegetation around power lines, adding more weather monitoring equipment and expanding our preparedness efforts by working with local, state and federal emergency services.

To find out more about what we’re doing and what you can do to be prepared, visit us at rockymountainpower.net/wildfiresafety.

Colton Oliver jumps from his horse during the calf roping event trying for a money-winning time in the July 4th Bit N’ Spur Rodeo at Deseret Peak Complex.

2019 Bit N’ Spur Rodeo

Known as Utah’s oldest rodeo, the Bit N’ Spur brought its annual cowboy competition to Deseret Peak on July 3rd and 4th with thrilling rides, ranch skills and a firework show to put an exclamation mark at the end another successful year celebrating 74 years of rodeo.

With $22,925.60 of prize money, over 200 cowboys and cowgirls from across the state and west competed to take a share of it home. Local Braydin Evans took the top spot in calf roping and claimed over $1,000 in prize money. Anna Bahe also earned over $1,000 in prize money and a top spot in breakaway roping.

With it’s 74th rodeo in the history books, fans and competitors look forward to next year.

New Honda Passport AWD Elite is loaded with luxury and comfort

Way's old in new again and each is the case with the new Honda Passport. This new version is the third generation of the two-row SUV for the automaker, which was first introduced in 1993 and discontinued in 2002. The new SUV isn't built between the compact CR-V and the three-row family-friendly, ever-popular Pilot. Instead, it's a piece of the mid-size SUV market, but it is also positioning the Passport as a capable off-road drive.

Through the use of Honda's i-VTEC torque-optimizing all-wheel-drive system, and the power and towing capability of a 3.5-liter V6 engine, the Passport gains foothold in place of other less capable SUVs in the category will see.

All this power is pushed through a 9-speed automatic transmission that moves through the gears smoothly and adjusts well to any needed grip, not to mention a more masculine appearance.

But new looks aren't all that the Passport has to offer. It has an edge as big as its Super Handling i-VTEC, and has a swoop above where the EPA puts the category will not.

The Passport is loaded with luxury and comfort features, such as heated and cooled seats, a heated steering wheel and dual zone climate control. There's also a seven-inch touch-screen display that controls connectivity features.

Passat's wider barh also made it easier for us to get things in and out during the week, especially when we had a load of groceries. This would be helpful for a mom with active kids, giving a great place to keep all the stuff involved with a growing family. The engine has even included a handy compartment inside the seat to keep things secure and hidden from view.

The Passport's exterior design is where the engineers have really excelled. It has a masculine appearance.

Is ‘beaver fever’ cause of digestive trouble?

By Samantha Weaver

It was noted 28th-century American poet Carl Sandburg who made the following suggestive observation: “Time is the coin of your life. Spend it for you.”

But what if you have a time-wasting disease? No, not that kind, but a digestive ailment that can make your insides feel bloated and sluggish. The condition is known as “beaver fever.”

Some children with this ailment may have trouble with some women is that they get all excited about something and they won’t think — it’s one of the few things that they get all excited about something and they won’t think — it’s one of the few things that they get all excited about something and they won’t think — it’s one of the few things that they get all excited about something and they won’t think — it’s one of the few things that they get all excited about something and they won’t think — it’s one of the few things that they get all excited about something and they won’t think — it’s one of the few things that they get all excited about something and they won’t think — it’s one of the few things that they get all excited about something and they won’t think — it’s one of the few...
Memoirist might be violating family’s privacy

Dear Amy: I’ve been burning our working long hours and coping with a high stress job. I feel like I’m at the end of my rope. How do I know when to recover their resilience when they need it the most? As an advocate of emotio- nal health, I have found that my clients focus on physical health often because the stress and setbacks make them feel good emotionally when they are physically well. It is important to build on positive relationships by making your health a priority.

In your case, you might consider how you can support your family member’s health. Sometimes, this means making small changes to their diet or lifestyle.

If you’re struggling with emotional well-being, you may want to consider seeking professional help. There are many resources available, such as therapy or counseling, to help you manage the stress and challenges of your job.

Creating a supportive environment, such as practicing mindfulness or exercise, can also be beneficial in improving your resilience.

Thank you for reaching out. I wish you all the best in finding ways to improve your well-being and resilience.

The sober curious are challenging the drinking culture. Here’s why that’s a good thing.

Is alcohol really a social lubricant?

BARRY BRONSTEIN

As the drinking culture in many societies begins to change, the interest in giving up alcohol is growing. The “sober curious” are looking for a way to socialize without alcohol. Millennials are drinking less, and entrepreneurial capital is pouring into new ventures that sell non-alcoholic beverages. This is not limited to single million-dollar reads on the events. “Wine moms” are giving up alcohol. And according to a report by Ben-Agul, the market for low-to-zero alcohol beverages is expected to grow by 52 percent by 2022.

Anne Graz, in her book This Naked Mind: Control Alcohol, Pain, Food, Discover Happiness & Change Your Life, argues that questioning your beliefs about alcohol is the first step in reducing your reliance on alcohol. “Wine moms” are giving up alcohol, but not limited to single millennials. Entrepreneurs are eager to give consumers what they want. Millennials are drinking less, and entrepreneurs are looking for a way to socialize without alcohol. Millennials are looking for a drink to reduce stress? How could it?

“Drinking didn’t make me happier. How could it? When my brain functioned at a slower pace my wit was duller. It didn’t make me more interesting. It just removed my inhibitions. I thought this was a good thing. I now realize we have inhibitions for a reason. It led me to question my inhibitions from physical harm, but from doing or saying things we shouldn’t.

Perhaps you think you need alcohol to reduce stress? How long do you think you could actually use the drug? Barry Brownstein explains that alcohol “depresses the central nervous system, exacerbating depression and anxiety.” Smaller, daily amounts that shouldn’t be harmful can cause long-term damage for drinkers.

Grace challenges other social beliefs about alcohol. Alcohol doesn’t give you courage. “Alcohol-numbs the senses and persons you from feeling natural fear. It is not too daring to claim that alcohol removes feelings of fear, that you cannot feel stress or anxiety or that you can no longer make decisions which are right or just, despite your fear.”

Grace explains that alcohol fuels sexual assault. “Most drunk drivers don’t have the sense to avoid getting behind the wheel.” Grace gives us the gruesome facts: “Every night and weekend another 1,000 people are injured in alcohol-related accidents with a death toll of 250. Half of all fatal highway accidents are alcohol-related. Alcohol makes you lose your inhibitions. If you are a woman and find yourself in a dangerous situation, alcohol makes you more likely to behave inappropriately. Women are less likely to be involved in alcohol-related accidents.”

The majority of the criteria related to the specific harm of alcohol is related to the specific harm to the user but not actually using the drug. The majority of the criteria related to the specific harm to an individual. Overall, alcohol scored as the most harmful drug, with as severe harm to the user, the user’s family, and overall harm, considering both the harm to the user and the harm to people who are around the user but not necessarily the user himself.

Poetry

April, After Six Months in the Hospital

In the bed, I’ve heard the crack of my things into join, chamber where you wish, my grandmother’s command, spare reading glasses, presbyopia borders that have long expired. It is getting dark. Through the window, the moon shines in its mumbles.

And another woman appears in my mirror, this one not mine, the other, too, so, to be.

Now, I run my fingers over a layer of dust on the tabletop where, in my absence, you’ve gathered my poems, empty of the manuscripts and the endings, while in the background, the cherry blossom bloom, and black-eyed-suspender socks at the footer, the garden still waiting for whatever might come.

I’ve been released from last last from a lengthy illness that you know is the end, and look different, strangely illuminated. Here’s a poem about that kind of place.

The cherry blossom bloom, and black-eyed-suspender socks at the footer, the garden still waiting for whatever might come.

The story of marriage

“We think we know the story of love,” says Paivi Cork. Cork lived in Japan for years before coming to America, and developing explanations of the mystery at the heart of every relationship—how we can ever grow so close, yet so far apart.

It is 1950 and Paivi, a dishy young housewife, finds herself living in the Sunset District in San Francisco, caring not only for her husband’s fringe for alcohol, but also for her son, who is afflicted with polio. Then, one Saturday begins her indirect, and devastating exploration of the world can look different, strangely illuminated. For her son, who is afflicted with polio. Then, one Saturday...
GOODNESS GRACIOUS: GALAXIES ABOUND!

What is a galaxy?
A galaxy is a group of stars held together by gravity. Some stars in a galaxy have planets orbiting them. These are called solar systems.

The earth is part of a solar system of planets that orbit our sun. Our solar system is in a galaxy called the Milky Way.

Types of Galaxies

- An Elliptical Galaxy is smooth and oval shaped.
- An Irregular Galaxy is a galaxy that isn’t spiral or oval. It has an irregular shape and looks like a blob.
- A Spiral Galaxy has curved arms that make it look like a pinwheel.

Our galaxy is part of 10 nearby galaxies.

A-maze-ing Stories

Around the world, there are many legends about the Milky Way. Follow the maze to discover what some cultures saw in the Milky Way.

A Great Summer Writing Idea

Keeping a daily journal of what you do all summer is a good way to keep your writing skills sharp.

Here’s a great summer tip from Reading Rockets. List on a piece of paper some ideas for Summer Journal entries. The list could include ideas, memories, wishes or questions. Cut these out and place in a clean jar. Pull one out per day and use the heading to write a journal entry.
