Snowpacks statewide hit the beginning of the year above average, including in Tooele Valley where snow is piling up in the mountains, according to the Jan. 1, 2020 Water Supply Outlook Report from the National Resources Conservation Service Utah Snow Survey.

"Utah's snowpack for this winter is off to a good start," reads the SNOTEL report. "As of January 1st, the snow water equivalent measured at our SNOTEL sites was 129% of normal statewide, with all major basins above 100%."

Herbert seeks more education funding in 2020 state budget

Governor targets education, air quality, mental health, Medicaid and open space with additional dollars

TIM GILLIE

Following his support of a decrease in the education-commercialized state income tax, Utah Gov. Gary Herbert prepared a budget for the 2021 fiscal year that increases funding for public education. Herbert unveiled his 2021 state budget recommendations in a conference held at The Lodge at Red Ledges on Jan. 8.

Included in Herbert's budget recommendations is an increase of $292 million in state-directed funding for public education, bringing the total state funding for education to $6.8 billion in 2021.

"Education has always been, and continues to be, my number one budget priority," Herbert said. "That is why, this year, we are investing $4.9 billion in K-12 public education, an increase of $292 million over the next two years."

WOMEN ACCUSED OF KILLING INFANT DAUGHTER ENTERS GUILTY PLEA

TIM GILLIE

A Wendover woman accused of killing her 15-month-old daughter in 2017 has plead guilty to a second degree felony child abuse homicide.

The attorney for April Dawn Carter entered a change of plea notice in 3rd District Court on Jan. 7. Carter initially plead not guilty to a degree one change of first degree felony charge of aggravated murder in November 2018.

According to the change of plea notice, Carter waived her right to a preliminary hearing and to a trial by jury. A pre-sentence investigation was completed and sentencing scheduled for Feb. 25 before 3rd District Court Judge Matthew Bates. Wendover City police were originally dispatched to a car crash scene in Carter’s residence on the morning of Sept. 27, 2017, according to a probable cause statement.

CPS on the victim has not placed finding others even it was apparent the child was deceased.

The medical examiner’s office performed an external exam of the victim the following day and documented bruise on the victim’s head, face, neck, chest, elbows and feet. A spinal fluid sample contained blood, which was consistent with head trauma.

Herbert, seen and continues to be, my number one budget priority," Herbert said. "That is why, this year, we are investing $4.9 billion in K-12 public education, bringing the total state funding for education to $6.8 billion in 2021.

Acupuncturist with local ties brings alternative treatment to Tooele area

Salt Lake acupuncturist to treat patients in Tooele once a week

TUESDAY January 14, 2020

A licensed acupuncturist is setting up shop in Tooele, once a week.

Lori Berryhill, a state licensed acupuncturist with a practice in the Arvins area of Salt Lake City, will see patients in Tooele City on Thursdays at Melodee’s Health and Nutrition.

Berryhill spoke to a group of about 40 people at Melodee’s on the evening of Jan. 9. With over 20 years of experience as an acupuncturist and 40 years as a patient, Berryhill said she is excited about bringing licensed acupuncture to Tooele County. Berryhill has a local connection; she grew up in Tooele while her father worked at Tooele Army Depot.

“Acupuncture can treat anything from chronic pain to anxiety,” according to Berryhill.

Some conditions Berryhill and the team are pattern for are anxiety, digestive issues, metabolic disorders including diabetes, complex disorders, trauma support, and pain in chronic cancer treatment.

“Acupuncture’s reach is broad,” she said. Berryhill said many of her patients seek her out for relief of pain. Over 90% of acupuncturist patients have pain, she said. “Back pain is very common, and that is just acupuncture”.

“Treatments are not painful, nor are they soothing,” according to Berryhill.

“Bonnie is a small square,” she said. “Tea for two people, not for any other thing. A lot of people that come you say, ‘it’s too hot’.”

Along with acupuncture, Berryhill also offers cupping and herbal consultation.

Berryhill holds a master of science in traditional oriental medicine from the Pacific College of Oriental Medicine. She is listed as a licensed acupuncturist with the Utah State Board of Acupuncture and Herbs.

DWR sees slight jump in illegal wildlife killing during 2019

Salt Lake City (AP) — DWR has seen a slight uptick in the number of poaching violations in 2019 compared to 2018.

DWR Director Taylor B. Washington said that while there were more poaching violations in 2019, the overall numbers were lower than in 2018, due to the necessary social distancing to different species in more locations. For example, a tripod fish is valued at $25, while a trophy elk is valued at $80,000. The average value of a poaching violation in 2019 was $369, while in 2018, it was $356.

In 2019, 827 animals were illegally killed in Utah.

There were a total of 520 citations for illegal hunting and 249 citations for poaching in 2019, compared to 831 in 2018. The overall number of violations directed by DWR conservation officers in 2019 was 3,250 violations, compared to 3,963 in 2018.

One possible reason for the increase in poaching and poaching-related violations, according to the DWR, is that anglers are coming out to enjoy the outdoors.

The DWR encourages anglers to report any poaching incidents. Reports can be made by calling the UFDH hotline: 1-800-405-3110 - which is staffed 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The number is listed on the wall of the Great Salt Lake, which is a designated state park.

The park is easily visible from the shore. It's the largest natural lake west of the Great Lakes, and it is an important wildlife habitat.

suggestion that the people of the region no longer welcome a U.S. military presence. Soleimani’s assassination resulted from an escalation between U.S. and Iranian-aligned forces in Iraq — a product of the punitive attacks on Iraqi bases and the U.S. in the Middle East. Experts have long feared that it was only a matter of time before such an escalation would result in a war. The Trump administration has now pulled that trigger. In doing so, it has placed the fate of the world in the hands of lie, as we all keep hoping that the Iranian leadership, committed to the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, and the so-called Trump “deal” is already tumbling to the extent that it will be a new war.

What Trump should be doing, instead of tweeting his way into the “Trump Hoops” with his volatile rhetoric against the Middle Eastern countries, is fulminating for all of America’s sons and daughters of all races, and all genders. The failure of two decades of senseless interventions won’t be Trump’s fault, but his policy by his own admission. He has become indelibly.gztuf/ugswyv from Cable

Trump is taking up their cause. We don’t want that.

Policy wonks and strategists call it the Trump phenomenon. If this spins out of control, it could cost the president his re-election. For the pro-war Republican establishment, he continues to be provocative.

If this phenomenon begins to manifest itself in a slow, then all at once. What Americans don’t want are endless Middle East wars, yet their America is real, the America of the forgotten, the people who play the rules but have no voice, and whose sons and daugh-

Whether it’s for infants or adults, baptism is always, even to the end of the age. It is an act of commitment to make more sense than ever. In the supernatural, with God as our King, every decision we make has to get ready for it by confessing. But, Jesus comes to be baptized in the Jordan specifically to be baptized by John. This comes as a surprise to John. He immediately recognizes Jesus as the Messiah and at first pro- cedes to baptize him. It would have been more appropri- ate if John was the one to be baptized. But Jesus tells him rather cryptically, “Let it be so now; it is necessary for us to fulfill all righteousness.” The Beloved Son, the Beloved, with whom I am well pleased.” The Beloved is Immanuel. TOOELE YOUTH BASEBALL REGISTRATIONS

When I was growing up, I was so obsessed with baseball. I had a poster of Ted Williams hanging on my wall and dreamed of being traded to the New York Yankees. Baseball is a game that has brought so much joy to my life, and I believe it has the power to bring joy to others as well. It's a game that teaches valuable life lessons, such as teamwork and discipline.

As a coach, I have always emphasized the importance of sportsmanship and respect for the game. I believe that these values are just as important as winning or losing. In fact, I think they are more important. Baseball is not just about the score on the board; it's about the effort put forth by each player and the bond that is formed between teammates.

I would love to share my passion for baseball with others and help young athletes develop their skills. If you're interested in learning more about my coaching philosophy or scheduling a tryout, please don't hesitate to reach out.

Thank you for considering my application to become a coach. I look forward to the opportunity to make a positive impact on the young athletes I have the privilege of coaching.

Best regards,
[Your Name]

Coaching Philosophy

My coaching philosophy is centered around building a strong foundation for success. I believe that every player has the potential to excel, and my goal is to help each athlete reach their full potential.

I focus on the fundamentals of the game — hitting, pitching, and fielding — and ensure that each player understands the importance of these skills.

I also prioritize building a positive team environment. I believe that a strong team culture can go a long way in helping players thrive on and off the field.

Finally, I am dedicated to the development of my players as individuals. I believe that athletes should be encouraged to pursue their dreams and passions both on and off the field.

I am excited about the opportunity to coach and would appreciate the chance to share my coaching philosophy and vision with you. Thank you for considering my application.

Sincerely,

Grantsville High School. Manti won the Cowboys' rounds (bottom) against Manti on the road Tuesday. "We're okay, we really are. I believe the Cedar Valley game was our best game so far. We really dominated his match against his bigger adversary."

Mecham continued to hone his craft. In November, Mecham signed a letter-of-intent to wrestle for Gardner-Webb University in the south mat at the UCCU Center Tuesday's seventh match on the south mat at the UCCU Center. Mecham was also selected for a second Wildcat team in the All-Star Wildcat Showdown.

mental game. That's the first thing that's under my control. After that, the game will come. I'm just trying to stay focused and get back on track.

Shin added seven points, including a three-pointer with 1:34 to play. He then hit the foul line to make it 58-52 with 32 seconds remaining. Shaqhem Jordan added six points and two rebounds. The Stallions improved to 9-5, 2-2 in Region 21.

"I'm not sure," he said. "We're okay. We're proud of the guys who stepped up. But a lot of our younger guys who really want to play, we're not going to play them. We're going to practice them on future after playoff loss.

"It would have been a lot of fun to play some more teams together, but I really do have a lot of respect for my guys. I'm just really proud of the guys who played. I told them I love them. I really hope you can play with them for a year or two."

On the remote northern shore of Stansbury Island, there’s a special beach that offers lots of sand, a bit of water, and a deep map into the landscape.

The largest salt-water lake in the western hemisphere, and the largest inland body of water in the U.S., sits at the doorstep of Tooele County. The Great Salt Lake is so large, Jim Bridger, that famous mountain man who helped shape the American West, mistook it for an arm of the Pacific Ocean after taking a sip of its brine.

Many travelers and Tooele County residents routinely zip past the Great Salt Lake as they rush east or west on Interstate 80. A quick glance out the window while driving by allows for only a cursory look. To better know the lake’s unique character and size, to take it all in, one must stand beside it.

But there is only one place in Tooele County where the curious traveler or resident can step outside of their vehicle and walk the shores of the Great Salt Lake and dip a toe into its salty water.

The Captain Stansbury Visitor’s Overlook on Stansbury Island opened in 2009. Located 25 miles northwest of Grantsville, the overlook is a cooperative effort between US Magnesium, On the remote northern shore of Stansbury Island, there’s a special beach that offers lots of sand, a bit of water, and a deep map into the landscape.

So just what is Oolitic sand?

Slightly brown in color, and nearly perfectly round in shape, the stuff could be mistaken for Fleischmann’s Active Dry Yeast. On beaches around the world, sand is primarily comprised of mineral fragments from rock and soil. But oolitic sand around the Great Salt Lake is entirely different. It isn’t made of mineral fragments; instead, it’s calcium carbonate that has formed in concentric layers around a miniscule object. In most cases, that tiny object is a fragment from brine shrimp feces. Oolites form in shallow water that is often agitated by waves. The wave action causes the oolites to roll and acquire layer upon layer of calcium carbonate. The rolling also makes the oolitic sand round.

The History Channel

On Jan. 30, 1933, Adolf Hitler, leader of the Nazi Party (or Party, as it was known then), was inaugurated as Chancellor of Germany. Hitler, who was 36 years old, had been a member of the German military and had served in World War I. He was a long-time advocate of a strong Germany and had been involved in various political and nationalist movements. He was also a former member of the German Communist Party and had been imprisoned for his role in a failed 1923 coup against the Weimar Republic.

On July 15, 1995, the United States launched a military operation against Iraq, known as Operation Desert Storm. The operation began on January 16, 1990, after Iraq invaded Kuwait, a small oil-rich Arab state. The United States and its allies, including Britain, France, and Saudi Arabia, responded by sending troops to the region and launching air attacks against Iraqi forces.

On July 4, 1988, the Soviet Union signed the Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces Treaty (INF Treaty), which was aimed at reducing the number of nuclear weapons deployed by the United States and the Soviet Union. The treaty required both countries to destroy or disable their intermediate-range nuclear missiles, which were capable of striking targets in Europe and Asia. The treaty was seen as a significant step in reducing the risk of global nuclear war.

On May 2, 2011, U.S. Special Forces launched a nighttime raid on a compound in Abbottabad, Pakistan, where Osama bin Laden was hiding. The raid, codenamed Operation Neptune Spear, was conducted by a team of Navy SEALs and Special Forces operators. The team entered the compound and killed bin Laden with a single gunshot to the head. The raid was hailed as a major victory in the war on terrorism.

On Sept. 11, 2001, a group of terrorists flew four commercial airplanes into targets in the United States. Three of the planes crashed into the World Trade Center in New York City, and one crashed into the Pentagon near Washington, D.C. The attacks resulted in the deaths of thousands of people and led to the start of the War on Terror.

On Nov. 1, 1963, President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas, Texas. The assassination was a shock to the nation and led to a period of intense investigation and speculation about the motives and identities of those involved.

On Aug. 19, 1974, President Richard Nixon resigned from office as a result of the Watergate scandal. The scandal involved a break-in at the Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate Hotel in Washington, D.C., and ultimately led to the resignation of President Nixon.

On March 30, 1867, the United States purchased Alaska from Russia for $7.2 million. The purchase, known as the Alaska Purchase, was a major event in American history and played a role in the expansion of the United States.

On July 4, 1976, the United States celebrated its 200th anniversary with a series of events, including parades, fireworks, and a concert in Washington, D.C. The event was marked by a speech by President Jimmy Carter, who declared, "I am proud to say that I am an American."
A voice inside my head asked why this happened to such a dear friend.

I was glad to see him and was happy about his visit in the hospital. He was not very well and the attending look of his face, accompanied by a decided grin in his eyes, gave me a clear message that there was more to be needed to tell me.

During that moment, I kept saying in my head, a pompous-sounding boast.

But I don’t have this sort of a book, and I am more than happy with my own, for I am a perfectionist in my work, and I am not going to let anything stand in my way. I am going to write this book, and I am going to make it a success.

I had never seen this in this building, this was a quizzical and puzzled look on his face, and I wondered. So, I left my other equipment and people in the room already had a “perfect body,” and I immediately felt the warmth that starts in the eyes, and then swells upwards, causing the cheeks to flush through the rest of one’s body, with a surge of power, and the feeling of being on one of life’s greatest triumphs.

My friend and I stood-two to learn so much of our day, just to spend a limited amount together, to speak. I noticed a small patch of blood during the moment but he explained that he had had a rough nose. One on the day and one the day before. And, my reason was that I had a much for a couple of weeks, only, last day was done, but the feeling was still there.

It was enough of an amusing look—how much-needed personal care. I passed every other thing so as to go on.

The grey hazy looking from their fuzzy hills. I’ll cut the sun through with a terrestrial ray or two. In the sky, the horizon is getting brighter and bare.

The right thing is for Mary Beth, if she is to become a leader in her career as a leader. If she makes the right thing, she can give the team a chance to become a leader. If the team makes the right thing, then Mary Beth can pass them to her, and the team will get promoted by holding such an other’s hand that passage.

Explore the Colorful History of Tooele County

Tooele County features some of the most dramatic and diverse landforms on Earth. There are 11,000 foot-high peaks, an inland sea, verdant valleys, and a mysterious desert with a bizarre expanse of white salt. The only people who knew about the place were the Native Americans who lived there, and a few white explorers during the early 1800s. But that all changed in September 1846. That year the Donner-Reed Party, while trying a shortcut to California, passed through the county and nearly perished in the Great Salt Lake Desert. Three years later, a handful of Mormon pioneer families left Salt Lake Valley and built a meager encampment in Settlement Canyon above today’s Tooele City. Soon, others followed, and a community emerged on the edge of the Great Basin frontier that was populated by individualistic and energetic settlers who managed to thrive in an environment fraught with hardship. Their story, and many others, are found inside this History of Utah’s Tooele County. Learn about how the pioneers ingeniously built their lives in the wilderness; the wild mining days in Ophir, Mercur and Jacob City; the Pony Express Trail; the glorious beaches and resorts along the southern shore of the Great Salt Lake, and more.
