THS, SHS, and GHS 2020 Graduations

THS class of 2020 virtually graduates

“We must become champions of our own dreams”

Darren Vaughan, assistant principal of Tooele High School, addressed the class and announced that the THS graduation would be virtual.

The virtual ceremony was broadcast at the time the traditional graduation ceremony was scheduled to take place.

GHS class of 2020 graduates ‘own their fate’

“We learned our limits and how to overcome them”

Brynlee Butler, GHS senior class president, delivered the commencement address at the GHS graduation.

The ceremony ended with school board member Alan Dilley saying, “As our last day of school.”

SHS class of 2020 graduates

“You have all of your friends, your classmates, your teachers and all of you And helping you go through the tough times and being there for you,” he said.

Danny Khoudet said he is driven by the memory of his father.

Jadyn Gagnier expressed the need to stay active to avoid feeling isolated.

Danny Khoudet, SHS senior class president, shared that the virtual ceremony was a way to celebrate the accomplishments of the class while maintaining social distancing.

TOOELE UPDATE

A graduation like no other — that seemed to be the theme for most 2020 High School graduation ceremonies.

Tooele High School’s graduation was no exception.

Even at the yellow alert stage, COVID-19 pandemic meant no traditional mass gathering at the University of Utah’s Huntsman Center with hundreds of students marching to “Pomp and Circumstance.”

There were no speeches given to an audience of 1,100 students, parents, grandparents, family and other friends over a blaring public address system.

Instead, with the guidance of a committee of students and school staff, a virtual graduation ceremony was planned that allowed every student to walk across a stage, be awarded a diploma, and later to celebrate from home.

of our own dreams’ graduates

Tooele County has 113 recorded cases of COVID-19 with 692 hospitalizations.

There have been 3,821 cases, 1,100 people in Utah, Salt Lake County’s case in 196.

The state of Utah reports a cumulative total of 8,521 cases of COVID-19 with 692 hospitalizations and 90 COVID-19 related deaths as of May 25.

One of the main cases, the state reports they estimate 6,919 have recovered. There were 95 COVID-19 patients still hospitalized as of May 25, according to state health officials.

Summit and Wasatch Counties have moved to low health risk status, or yellow.

Gov. Gary Herbert approved requests for the municipalities of Bluff and Mexican Hat to transition to orange, or moderate health risk status.

Both areas are located in San Juan County.

Cloth face covering do not replace other protective measures, distancing, washing hands, and other sanitation practices are still important, according to health department officials.

Health officials advise face coverings should be placed on children under the age of two.

Individuals should continue to stay at least six feet or for two arm lengths away from others.

Health officials also encourage individuals to take steps to reduce the amount of places they go.

Thaddeus Wooten was presented with the 2020 graduate video.

We hope people will be smart and take the steps necessary to avoid being at events that are not approved by the health department.

Tooele City cemetery office may be moved

CEILLY SUTTON

Members of the Tooele City Council discussed purchasing property from Mountain West Medical Center to expand the City’s cemetery during their May 20 meeting at City Hall.

The property they are looking at is located at 385 W. 10th St. in Tooele City. It is 0.40 acres, has a building and also has a medical office that was affiliated with Mountain West Medical Center.

The closed medical office has been vacant for around 16 years and has “significant” damage, according to Darrel Cook, parks and recreation director for the city.

The owner of the property is Dan Dow.

Tooele City officials would like to purchase the property in order to expand the cemetery and to relocate the cemetery office, according to city officials. A price of $50,000 has been negotiated between the City officials and the Tooele Hospital Corporation.

The city had originally budgeted $60,000 for the sale, but city officials ended up offering the cooperation $50,000 and they accepted, according to Cook.

The city will be responsible for closing costs and an engineer will be required on the deal, according to Dow.

At the meeting, all of the members of the council voted to approve the motion and move forward with the sale.

An official contract of sale has been drawn up and can be reviewed by tooelecity.org under the city council tab for the May 20 meeting.

Arson fire suspect charged

CEILLY SUTTON

Formal charges have been filed against a Tooele woman who set a bed on fire which resulted in a house fire.

On May 10, firefighters were dispatched to a Tooele City home located at 494 S. 380 West.

It took 30 Tooele City firefighters to extinguish the fire that started in the downstairs bedroom and made its way up the stairwell to the entryway and porch.

The fire melted the roof, melted the siding, according to five firefighters.

The total amount of damage caused to the house was $200,000. No one was injured in the fire.

A Tooele City detective said the fire was suspicious.

The suspect has since been identified as 30-year-old Elizabeth Anne Ackman.

Ackman had to restrain her from lunging at an officer. In the statement police said after Ackman tried to attack the officer, she kicked an officer after he had to restrain her from lunging at a doctor.

According to the probable cause statement.

After the officer asked her what happened, Ackman allegedly attempted to hit the officer, resulting in additional charges.

Another officer tried to attack the officer, the officer had to restrain her on the ground until she could be placed in handcuffs according to the statement.

Police spoke to a man living in the home who told them that Ackman was

Commission wants higher impact fee for roads

By TIM GILLE

Tooele County is looking for more money before it approves a rate change for a proposed road.

The County Commission tabled, for the third time, a request from Newman Construction for a rate increase that would allow the Mormon Trail Road, South Willow Creek Wash Road, and Box Elder Canyon Road from the gravel pit.

Along with the rezone request, Newman Construction proposed an agreement to pay Tooele County 5 cents for every ton of gravel not used for the project.

The request for approved at 10:00 am over the course of a week would generate $2,656.

Tooele County Commissioners chairwoman Teri Troy. That’s enough to replace one lane of the two lane road about 40 feet long. That’s pretty minimal.”

The rezone request was also tabled during the County Commission May 5 meeting at the request of Newman Construction.

Newman Construction decided to table any agreement time to work on an agreement acceptable to the County Commissioners.

Jeff Miller, Tooele County planning staff, said that Newman Construction has not offered to increase the maintenance payment, but they have offered to include other language in the agreement.

The additional language would require Newman Construction to do daily road checks of two miles of Mormon Trail Road from the grand pit and remove hazardous rocks and gravel, the utilization of gravel in a buffer strip to minimize, and leading mute for safety and reposition for control from falling of the rocks and reduces impact to roads.

Newman also offered to increase safety inspections and safety meetings with staff, but these were not accepted to be a deal breaker.

Troy called the 5 cents per ton “almost insignificant.”

“I just want to make sure they are seeing that their wear and tear,” she said. “The 5 cents per ton was not enough” for Commissioner Shawn Mike. Mike said he is tired of the whole industry lobbying against paying their fair share of the cost of the impact to the place they use.

Before November, we must know more about Trump-Russia probe

A recent headline in The New York Times — a paper of record for the anti-Trump establishment — was alarming: “Barr Diminishes Trump’s Claim That Russia Inquiry Was at Obama’s Plan.” Reading that, you might come away believing that Attorney General William Barr had just brushed off President Donald Trump’s most recent Ombudsman theory. Trump insists the real investigation Russian collusion probe against him was an Obama scheme.

One could be pardoned for the mistake. Barr didn’t divine a Republican strategy. Barr didn’t even deign to comment on Trump’s theory. He did not say that former President Barack Obama or his vice president, Joe Biden — now the source of the Russia collusion probes — had anything to do with it in the Obama administration.

The Trump-Russia collusion investigation tore the country apart. It cost millions of dollars. It cost hundreds of lives. It survived for three years, far longer than any of the Trump administration’s other investigations. It still faces up to 50 contested legal actions by Trump and his allies. And it largely contributed to the election of Donald Trump, a man prone to lie.

Snoezel and I had just finished enjoying our dinner at The Mill, a restaurant in downtown Tooele. You might say our meal was a real feast for the eyes, with so many different colors and textures to choose from. Our eyesight is one of our most important senses, and we must try to make the most of it.

While our question was not a direct question about blindness, I was able to answer it with some thought. As I mentioned earlier, I always wear my sunglasses when I’m outside during the day. I do this to protect my eyes from the sun’s harmful rays. I also found a pair of glasses that suit my face and improve my appearance.

The lesson is coming soon, I thought to myself. I can’t wait to learn more about this important topic. I know it will be helpful for those who are interested.

The custom of recording births, marriages, and deaths is as old as written history. In Genesis 5:1 and 11:1 are given the births, and deaths of the descendants of Adam, the father of Noah, and from Noah to the twelve patriarchs. Moses created the levirate, and recorded the marriage of the Levites in Numbers 5:11. In Joshua 11:1 and 12:1, a tabulation of the conquest of Canaan is made.

The custom of recording births, marriages, and deaths is as old as written history. In Genesis 5:1 and 11:1 are given the births, and deaths of the descendants of Adam, the father of Noah, and from Noah to the twelve patriarchs. Moses created the levirate, and recorded the marriage of the Levites in Numbers 5:11. In Joshua 11:1 and 12:1, a tabulation of the conquest of Canaan is made. Every individual family, and in many cases the whole city, kept a record of these events. In Roman Catholic countries, both baptism and marriage were once considered a religious ceremony. Hence, the church recorded both. In England, one of the salutary effects of the Reformation, was the removal of these ceremonies from the jurisdiction of the church. Births and deaths were then entered in the city register, or in the town clerk’s book. In this respect, the church was superior to the Roman Catholic Church, which kept the register in the church, and allowed the priest to officiate at both ceremonies.

On June 14, 1789, Congress adopted the Bill of Rights. This was one of the key events in the drafting of the Constitution of the United States. The Bill of Rights includes 10 amendments to the Constitution that protect the basic rights and liberties of American citizens. These amendments include free speech, religion, and press, as well as the right to a fair trial and protection from unreasonable searches and seizures.

On June 10, 1935, President Roosevelt signed the Social Security Act into law. This was a landmark piece of legislation that established a national system of social insurance in the United States. The act created a federal agency, the Social Security Board, to administer the new program and provide benefits to elderly people, those who are disabled, and survivors of deceased wage earners.

On June 11, 1982, O.J. Simpson was arrested on charges of murder and armed robbery. Simpson and his friend, Ronald Goldman, were found dead in Los Angeles. Simpson was tried for the murder of Goldman and was found not guilty in a trial that lasted 11 months. The trial was one of the most closely followed and most controversial trials in American history.

The film captures the era of the 1950s and 1960s when the housing crisis was at its peak. The film follows the lives of several families who are struggling to find a place to live. The film is a powerful commentary on the housing crisis and the impact it has on society.

Fleas spark cat spat

DEAR PAW’S CORNER: I raised my mackerel tabby cat by my cat back in March. Now, my friend says she put “Chuckles,” gave her flea treatment. I say my cat doesn’t have fleas. But my sister, who lives in Studio City, California, said her cat has fleas. The difference is that we got a new house last month. You might want to check your cat’s living environment for fleas — it is possible to pick up fleas in your yard or while walking indoors. You might want to check your cat’s living environment for fleas — it is possible to pick up fleas in your yard or while walking indoors.

The first season was reportedly taped in late August or September to late October. The second season was taped from early November to late January. The third season was taped from early February to late March. The fourth season was taped from early April to late May. The fifth and final season was taped from early June to late July.

The Umbrella Academy is based on the comic book of the same name by Gerard Way and Gabriel Rodriguez. The comic book was first published in 2000, and the series concluded in 2009. The Umbrella Academy is a superhero team that is formed by a group of seven siblings who are all born on the same day in February 1989. The siblings are raised in an experimental facility called the Academy, where they are trained as superhuman agents.

The series features a variety of characters, each with their own unique abilities. The main characters include

- Luther Hargreeves (aka Number One, Nite Owl, or Hornet): A telepathic mutant who can influence other people’s minds.
- Klaus Hargreeves (aka Number Two, Number One, or Vanya): A telekinetic mutant who can move objects with her mind.
- Vanya Hargreeves (aka Number Three, Number Two, or Allison): A telekinetic mutant who can control elemental forces.
- Number Four (aka Number Four, Number Three, or Sydney): A telekinetic mutant who can direct gravity.
- Number Five (aka Number Five, Number Four, or Sydney): A telekinetic mutant who can manipulate time.
- Number Six (aka Number Six, Number Five, or Diego): A telekinetic mutant who can manipulate matter.
- Number Seven (aka Number Seven, Number Six, or Luther): A telekinetic mutant who can control fire.

The Umbrella Academy is set in a world where superhumans are a reality. The series explores themes of family, identity, and the struggle for power and control. The show has received critical acclaim for its unique storytelling and its exploration of complex family dynamics.

The Umbrella Academy is produced by Prime Video Studios and distributed by Netflix. The show is created by Mychael Rann and Geoff Johns, and is based on a graphic novel series by疱疹病毒。

Q: I make annual contribu- tions to many humanitarian organizations, and my church tells me that’s isn’t the same as a tithed. Why don’t God need money when everything is His command? — C.T.

A: At least two things happen when we give. First, when we give with the right attitude, God reminds us that we have nothing really our own. He is sovereign and can do without our help. Yet He is sovereign and we are His people.

die of a loved one’s death is a personal thing for those who know that person. It is an event in someone else’s life, so we sense only minimally through our own loss. As I write this column, my father, 91, died peacefully in our own story as much as the next person, but we learn to survive. To make meaning of our own story, we need to learn this important lesson.

In my father’s case, we have been losing a father son for our salvation. God’s love for them, and we don’t lose sight that that person father’s life and my memories of him, and I joke with my daughter of what he found important enough to save, a right to be important enough to capture. There’s no copy of “Don Quixote,” and of the small bronze status of Miguel de Cervantes he kept on his bookcase for as long as we can remember and we still recall what Cervantes wrote about the life a father has for his child: “It’s just a shadow over his eye,” he can forgive for his child’s delusions and celebrate.

My father might have examined my word to repent carefully. Like anyone else, I should have been taken at face value. But he would have tended thoughtfully, sincerely “not bad” and I might have felt a touch of surprise. No matter how we try it, it’s hard to keep even a loved one’s memory alive.

When life hands us such a palpable crush and creates a void that in the moment feels impossible to fill, seem the right thing do.

“At the beginning of the year no one saw our graduation come like this,” she said. “I never thought I would be giving a speech to a nonexistent audience and a location camera for our videos instead of the hundreds." However, Thomas countered with, “you all graduated and accomplished so much! I truly believe all of you deserve our congratulations. I am so proud of you all.”

All of them seemed to be good to make it to the end of the year.

“Take advantage of the opportunity. This is the best one of your life,” said Thomas. “If you don’t appreciate, remember with a 2020 class comes a ‘cursed’ class.”

Senior Gabrielle Mabes sang Brooks & Dunn’s “Your Gonna Miss Make your own.”

“It was a small class, but we really appreciated the support they provided him and all of his classmates in various activities throughout the years,” senior Dillon Carpenter said.

Dillon Carpenter thanked parents, faculty, and all those who look after them.

SHS Principal Jamal Westhora then said how much he appreciated the support that everyone has given to the school during these times. He quoted Dale Evans and said, “I would have told my graduates that they are an equal to everyone. They have the same rights, the same qualifications, and the same opportunities. They are an equal to everyone.”

SHS senior Kyler Maier holds up his diploma for a photo as he walks across the stage at Stansbury High School’s auditorium May 17, 2020.

Senior class president Drew Williams also spoke. He said, “You are an equal to everyone,” he said. “You have the same rights, the same qualifications, and the same opportunities. You are an equal to everyone.”

Class valedictorian Eden Beazer taught me that the secret to doing anything is that it is going to be hard. You have to work hard and I’m so lucky to have gotten this far. I’m so proud of you all!”

Classmate and artist Daniel Westhora quoted Dale Evans and sang “Ain’t No Mountain High Enough,” during his recorded comments. He ended by saying, “If there is one thing to take away from this year, it’s that you have experienced might not be something you can ever get over.”

“I would have told my graduates that they are an equal to everyone,” Beazer said. “They have the same rights, the same qualifications, and the same opportunities. They are an equal to everyone.”

The complete GHS graduation video can be viewed at https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QJxZkS9ccE0. For more photos, please visit our website at http://www.tooeletranscript.com.

To conclude the ceremony, Tooele County School Board president Marya Marzano-MacMillan played GHS’ 2020 Graduation video. The ceremony also featured a choir performance of “The Star-Spangled Banner” and “American Beauty,” a movie medley, and “Future’s So Bright” to encourage the graduates to do their best in the face of a challenging world. Two performances by Emily McBride and Photo Courtees.
