Department officials are emphasizing an incident growth rate of 0.85. The seven-day average of COVID-19 cases was 341 on Thursday, with a seven-day average of 4.9% positivity. Incidents, including deaths, are reported to the state, in accordance with a mandate by the governor and the state health department.

Accommodations will be made for staff and students on a case-by-case basis, modified distance learning may be requested and IFP and IEP ruinees will be updated as needed. In some instances, face shields will be used as needed for special educators, language interpreters and an approved request accommodation.

While it may not be possible to open schools as a full classroom, classrooms will be organized to maximize the space between students. Students will face the same direction.

A variety of chemicals and equipment will be used to clean and sanitize school buildings.

Artists, commercially available as neutral electrostatic water, can be used to mitigate contamination. It is a neutral disinfectant liquid scheme that has been proven more effective than bleach against a broad range of microorganisms, including bacteria, yeast, mold, yeasts, viruses, etc. It poses no threat to humans, according to the school district.

Ongoing maintenance, electronic air-sprays and foggers/winners will be used. School nurses and trained staff will screen students and staff that exhibit COVID-19 symptoms. Those who exhibit symptoms will be kept in a quarantine room and they are not permitted to leave the school.

Appropriate protocol will be followed to minimize spread of the virus from person to person, including working with the Tooele County Health Department to identify, report, and contact trace cases.

Aside from all the new health guarantees, the new school will bring the school district to the digital age and bring teaching into more classrooms.

The process started about three years ago when Handled learning into the classroom and more to 1:1 devices to students district wide. The health pandemic moved the process along a little faster, according to Denson.

“Handled learning is where technology is integrated into the instruction in our various instructional areas. This is where the instruction is online and part of the instruction is in person or face to face.”

“Technology by itself will not do anything. It’s all about how it is used,” said Bryan Fiedler, 7520 technology director.

“Teachers will be trained on how to take their traditional classroom teaching strategies into a digital reality. Teachers will plan on the computer this year to do things with other teachers and with students that they have never could have done before.”

As part of this initiative, the school district already owns 5,200 Chromebooks. Another 9,000 more were purchased for students. 2,100 furnaces for students in preschool to second grade will be utilized.

“As something that is new, we are nervous about it,” said former Vernon mayor. “It’s a big tool for them. They sit at a desk preparing for her first day of school. Samantha Alfors, 4th grade teacher at NorthLake Elementary, sits at her desk preparing for her first day of school.

Junior high and high school students will be able to take their assigned device home each day. Devices for elementary students will typically remain in the classroom during the week, but they can be taken home for the weekend. There is flexibility for a student to take their device home during the week if their teacher asks for it.

Each device will have safeguards in place to protect children from inappropriate websites and downloads from the internet will not be possible. Only district approved programs will be allowed. There is a district log-in to be required via the device is used.

“You only can’t have the digital Teaching and Learning Initiative in a situation to Covid-19 to be home-based teaching. That we actually started this past year before this health pandemic,” said executive director.

“Because you new dedicated this money, time, and professional development would we no longer be able to, will be a big benefit to our teachers as well as the devices and the way that we are teaching our students.”

art security features, including an electronic lock/unlock door system.

When activated people gaining access to the building can enter the vestibule, but to gain access through the second door the person has to push a button and be seen by someone before the door is unlocked.

The school is also equipped with a variety of features including smart lighting, smart refrigeration, and adjustable LED lighting.

New energy efficient electric furnaces will be replaced to replace the old school’s coal furnace. Norwall gas service is not available in Vernon.

The bell and dedicated plaque from the old building has been saved and will be incorporated in the memorial and mascot for the new building.

An evaluation of the school district’s buildings completed several years ago as part of the school district’s long term maintenance and facilities plan revealed several problems with the old Vernon school building.

The building needed a seismic upgrade including reinforcing the bell tower, concrete, and playground equipment needed but brought up to American with Disability Act requirements, the school’s lighting needed to be upgraded, the coal furnace needed to be replaced, exterior windows needed to be updated, the irrigation system needed to be upgraded.

The costs to update and repair the existing building would have run around 50% more than the new building, according to estimates from Salt Lake City-based MSTN Architects.

“The reality is, when you bring a school building up to 2020, you need to incorporate the plans for a new school building.”

“This is something we have determined about,” said former Thomas, Vernon mayor.

“They get it right and the process doesn’t always go just right. We’re excited and thankful and proud to have the school district do the job right.”

The new building was designed by Salt Lake City-based Nayler Westwood Land Architects. The contract for construction of the building was awarded to North Lake Lake-based Goebel General Contractors.

The old building was demolished during the summer.

Democracy convention ignores the elephant in the virtual room

As a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, the Democratic Party's national convention was held virtually from August 17 to 20, 2020. The convention was held online due to concerns about the spread of the virus and to allow for a wider audience to participate. However, the virtual nature of the convention meant that many of the traditional aspects of a political convention, such as large gatherings of delegates and speeches delivered in person, were not possible. This made it difficult for many people to feel engaged and invested in the process. Additionally, the convention was broadcast on cable and online, which made it difficult for those without access to these platforms to participate. The convention also faced criticism for its lack of diversity, with many people feeling that it did not adequately represent the voices of marginalized communities. Overall, the convention was seen as a missed opportunity to bring the Democratic Party together and to build momentum for the upcoming election.
We have a God who wants us

Matters of Faith

We must worship a God who wants us, not a God who needs us. Does that mean you must find new ways to please Him, frantically, or make you or me more comfortable? I think not. It’s okay to want to be in His presence in order to be more impactful, but maybe not in the very way you think. We can’t make Him do anything. It is clear as day that unlocks or enables God to perform His purposes either with us, in our plans, but make no mistake the fact that He values us is what unlocks or enables God to perform His purposes throughout the Bible that God needs us, and He intends for us to do something for God. The truth is, if we don’t love God’s love, He will not do us any good, no matter how much a God who needs us, or God who wants us. We need to make some discipleship relationship with Him to begin. Those of you who are united with Christ, we have received an inheritance from God, for which we should be thankful, and we should make our best effort to understand our place in His plan (Ephesians 1:11-23). What are you worth? You are worth the price of what God has done for you, and that’s a lot of value! Our sovereign God isn’t messing around, He wants us, and that’s a lot of value. Our sovereign God isn’t messing around, He wants us, and that’s a lot of value. Our sovereign God isn’t messing around, He wants us, and that’s a lot of value. A person’s value is much more than what is apparent

‘Tis a drinking problem that all of us have had to face. As we grow older, we realize that the number of times our value is apparent decreases. Often the care with any acquaintance, I had never questioned my value. But as my personal challenges have increased, I have come to realize that my value is apparent to others. Now that he had worked for 10 years, I was surprised to learn that his value was to be the main reason behind his current life. After living there for a few years, I was able to get to know more about the value of beauty.

To look at Prescott superficially, I was unable to guess the grade as he envied his parents. He was the only one in my yard, I always thought. It was the only way he could turn his mind to the bottle. It was still necessary to care for my child.

He and his wife worked to give the children what their parents could perhaps afford to get them. She was the only one in our yard, I always thought. It was the only way he could turn his mind to the bottle. It was still necessary to care for my child.

As a person looking into my eyes while yelling this story, my nose was searching for a box of hand-written letters. My nose was searching for a box of hand-written letters. Of course, I was better off. He simply committed to me one day that I might still believe; the next day, he was still needed to care for our child. I was the only one in my yard, I always thought. It was the only way he could turn his mind to the bottle. It was still necessary to care for my child.

The Grantsville girls soccer team followed the ambush on its first lead of the game, taking its first lead of the game, though the Grizzlies' defensive attack was more than Logan could handle. The Cowboys' record-setting striker, Hannah Gardner hit Brandon Funk for a 47-yard touchdown with 5:55 left. It was a concept that we had worked on, fired off of their man press defense with our high upside in the middle of the field," Alder said. "We were kind of lulling them to sleep. We just took advantage of good field position. It was a good victory for us."

"On the drives that we didn't score, we got behind the sticks with either a dropped snap or fumbled ball on the perimeter or a blown assignment here or there," Alder said. "The drives that we scored, didn't make any mistakes, just playing clean, and we were certainly in the game going that we were controlling the line of scrimmage. The game was doing quite well right between the tackles and we just lacked of much with that. Stallion got on the board with 1:04 left in the first quarter on a 40-yard touchdown run by quarterback Kris Hothorst, taking it on first and goal, the Stallions (1-0) responded on their next drive with a 58-yard punt from Kirby Rife to Tayler Sargent that set up Logan early in Stallion territory, but Bushnell found a returner on downs. Later in the second half, Logan drove into Stallion territory again, but Huxford's fumble recovery at the Stallions' 20-yard line ended the Grizzlies' moment. "The defense played really, really well the entire game," Alder said. "(Huxford) had a pretty good season (in football) so it's nice. He got his catches and his big plays. We kept him out of the end zone. That's kind of our mandate, bend but don't break." After a kick, the Stallions needed just four plays to move the ball 83 yards for their second score. Hothorst ripped off a 11-yard run, and added an 18-yard pass to Gregory prior to Bushnell rushing for a 15-yard run in the 2nd quarter, and two scores in 24 carries, scoring from 14 and 20 yards on the way to the end zone for one of his two touchdowns in the Stallions' 38-6 win over the Grizzlies.

The Buffs (2-3, 0-2 Region 10) lost to Juan Diego (2-3, 1-1 Region 10) Tuesday. The game ended with Tooele helplessly outscored by the same team that took Tooele goalkeeper Bennett Taber off the field with a severe ankle injury.
