Tooele County homicides jump to 8 last year

Timm Miller

2020 was a deadly year in Tooele County, even without COVID-19.

Using the layman’s definition of homicide — the killing of one person by another — there were eight homicide deaths in Tooele County in 2020, the most recorded during the past six years.

That’s a jump from past years. Crime statistics for Utah for the years from 2015 to 2019 show five homicides reported during the six year period in Tooele County. However, law enforcement and prosecutors use a different definition of homicide.

Criminal homicide is defined in Utah code as a person causing the death of another through intentional, knowingly, recklessly, or with criminal negligence, or acting with a mental state otherwise specified in the definition of homicide.

For comparison, the count in Utah with the greatest number of homicide cases in 2020 was Salt Lake County, which had 19.

Under these definitions, at least two of Tooele County’s 2020 homicides may not be considered as a homicide by criminal statute.

For comparison, the county with the greatest number of homicide cases in 2020 was Salt Lake County, which had 19.

These cases include murder, non-negligent manslaughter, and negligent manslaughter.

Tooele County’s eight homicides included seven in 2020 and one in 2018.

In 2018, a Tooele house fire claims one life

John Gilbert, 69, passed away on Monday at 3:09 p.m.

A woman at the scene told fire fighters that her husband was inside the home.

Fire fighters entered the home and found Gilbert trapped on the second floor of the home, according to Chris Shubert, Tooele City Fire Department chief.

Fire fighters got Gilbert out of the house and he was transported by ambulance to a hospital. The extent of his injuries were made known at the scene of the fire.

A family member reported that Gilbert was taken to the University of Utah’s burn unit for treatment.

The Tooele County Council is considering organizing a service district to provide fire protection for areas in the county not included in a fire department.

County council considers fire department

New district may provide protection to areas of the county without a fire department

TIM GILLIE

The Tooele County Council declared the possibility of organizing a special service district to provide fire services to unincorporated areas of the county outside of the Tooele Fire District during their work session on Tuesday night.

The County Commission started looking into the organization of a Tooele County Fire Department in 2020. The current council’s discussion is a continuation of that process.

Tooele County Fire Chief Dan Walton reported that the process would be for the County Council to create a special service district for fire protection for the area not covered by a fire department. The special service district would then be a taxing entity that could levy its own property tax and be a taxing entity that could levy its own property tax and be a taxing entity that could levy its own property tax and be a taxing entity that could levy its own property tax.

“Right now the Tooele County Fire Department has two employees — me and the county fire marshals.”

Any property tax for the new fire district would have to be adopted by the service district, a public hearing would need to be held, and then the public would vote on it, according to Walton.

In order for the property tax to be on the November ballot, the service district would need to adopt the proposed tax by May 25.

Tooele County Council decided to put the intention to create a fire district on the agenda for their first meeting in March.

1921, residents quarantine to thwart measles outbreak

The Tooele Transcript-Bulletin has published Tooele County news since 1894. Here is a flashback of local front-page news from Jan. 28, 1921.

Jan. 28, 1921

With an epidemic of measles threatening our community, it would be good for every good citizen to be posted on the state laws regarding quarantine and isolation from school.

Patients are asked to quarantine for not less than 14 days. Patients should not be permitted to attend school until the prescribed period of quarantine has been observed. — Mrs. R.D. Throckmorton, School Health Supervisor.

Correspondent Mark Watson compiled this report.

EXPLORE THE COLORFUL HISTORY OF TOOELE COUNTY

TOOELE COUNTY FROM THE EDGE OF THE GREAT BASIN FRONTIER

Tooele County features some of the most dramatic and diverse landforms on Earth. There are 11,000-foot-high peaks, an inland sea, verdant valleys, and a mysterious desert with a bizarre expanse of white salt. The only people who knew about the place were the Native Americans who lived there, and a few white explorers during the early 1800s. But that all changed in September 1846. That year the Donner-Reed Party, while trying to shortcut to California, passed through the county and nearly perished in the Great Salt Lake Desert. Three years later, a handful of Mormon pioneer families left Salt Lake Valley and built a meager encampment in Settlement Canyon above today’s Tooele City. Soon, others followed, and a community emerged on the edge of the Great Basin frontier that was populated by individualistic and energetic settlers who managed to thrive in an environment fraught with hardship. Their story, and many others, are found inside this History of Utah’s Tooele County. Learn about how the pioneers ingeniously built their homes in the wilderness; the wild mining days in Ophir, Mercur and Jacob Town; the history of the Pony Express Trail; the glorious beaches and resorts along the southern shore of the Great Salt Lake, and more.

John and Kathryn later divorced, but both remarried, Kathryn to Myron E. Beckett and Myron to Alice Henzer (née Blake). John was a graduate of the University of Utah and served in the Panama Canal Zone as a midshipman in the U.S. Navy. Grantsville girls move up in 3A RPI

Grantsville girls basketball team had the start to the Region 13 season it wanted.

After beating Stansbury in the opening round of the tournament, the Buffaloes became No. 1 in the RPI, a ranking that will be used to determine the No. 1 seed for the state tournament.

Grantsville (14-2, 4-0 Region 13) now sits at No. 1 in the RPI, followed by Desert Hills (13-5, 4-0 Region 13) at No. 2, and Stansbury (14-2, 3-1 Region 13) at No. 3.

The RPI is calculated by dividing the winning percentage of a team by the sum of the winning percentages of its opponents, and is used to determine the rankings of teams.

Grantsville girls basketball coach Dave McGuire said the RPI ranking is important because it helps determine the seeding for the state tournament.

"It's a big deal," McGuire said. "It's a big deal because it gives us a chance to host a first-round game."

Dawn Sagers and surrounded with luxury, the sameness barrier with the push of a button in the center of the dashboard screen now located high in the 12.3-inch infotainment system with daytime/low-light detection, full-speed range system with daytime/low-light detection, full-speed range. The new Venza is defi-nitely something different and unique in the crossover world and stands out at first glance.

The Venza comes standard with Toyota Safety Sense 2.0 which includes a pre-collision system with daytime/low-light vehicle and pedestrian detection plus daytime-Toyota detection, full-speed range-dynamic radar cruise control, lane departure alert with keeping assist, automatic high beams, lane keeping assist, and road sign assistant.

When we first saw the Venza, we were excited to get some extended time driving a hybrid. We aren’t doing such a bad job of not making the next charging pit stops. We have even heard ex-treme hybrid owners tell us that they are using or they will have the opportunity to test the lesser-known Toyota Venza — it, to be frank. We always have the opportunity to test drive the lesser-known Toyota Venza — it, to be frank. We always have the opportunity to test drive the Venza, with a more grown up and aggressive look perhaps that it has ever had before, and it is only covered with a hybrid power train.

For many, deer are no longer a welcome sight as they over at one time of the year might be their meal of choice in some of our gardens.

Of course the seats were heated along with the steering wheel, making our December drive even better as the first time we have seen it in a Toyota. This entire system has been test-driving vehicles and have been test-driving vehicles since prehistoric times.

This rapid heartbeat appears normal on EKG

• The human brain would be able to perform 38 quadrillion operations per second if it were a computer.
• Liss, 17, who played teenage Lyndsay Hall in “Nine Lives,” kicked out of her Toronto school at the age of 12 for a 1-month-long film gig. When she couldn’t find work, she found out, she wrote a letter
• To the school asking them to reconsider. School officials framed his letter, but didn’t change their mind about Liss.
• Pope Francis was once a nephilim born in his native Argentina.
• Neptune was the first planet to be found through mathematical predictions rather than telescope: Location.
• The Thespians ribbed each other as “flappertonians” who play out their scenes. Thespians claimed to be a unique community of actors in which the ideal was a manly, healthy, hearty, and artistic form of acting.

Strange but True

DARIL ROACH: I had symptoms of light-headedness, so my doctor ordered an EKG and sent me to a cardiologist. They did a heart monitor for a week and said I have inappropriate sinus tachycardia. It’s a mal, meaning it is a heartbeat that is not normal. Most often, this is caused by volume depletion (dehydration) for the tachycardia, such as not drinking enough water. It isn’t another cause for the tachycardia, such as not drinking enough water. It isn’t another cause for the tachycardia, such as too much coffee or tea, or for people who are using prescription medications that cause tachycardia.

The average heart rate must be 60-100 beats per minute. If the heart rate is over 100 beats per minute, this is called tachycardia. It is usually found in children, young adults, and women in their 30s.

Inappropriate sinus tachycardia is a common diagnosis, most often seen in women in their 30s. Common symptoms of lightheadedness, palpitations, chest pain, shortness of breath, or confusion. What can I do?

ANSWER: Inappropriate sinus tachycardia is a common diagnosis, most often seen in women in their 30s. Common symptoms of lightheadedness, palpitations, chest pain, shortness of breath, or confusion. What can I do?

ANSWER: A tilt-table test is often performed to determine the cause of inappropriate sinus tachycardia. If the heart rate or blood pressure drops excessively while the patient is tilted from the upright position to the supine position. A tilt-table test is one of the diagnostic tools for this condition.

In most cases, no other tests or medications are needed for this condition. Medications may be prescribed for patients with symptoms that are not severe enough to warrant treatment. It is unlikely that medication will correct the problem, and it is important to treat the underlying cause of the condition. Every person is a sinner and a reaper.

From the writings of the Rev. Billy Graham

Q: What is the meaning of the phrase "Once a sinner, always a sinner"? — S.R.

A: Some people are under the false impression that all they have to do after they get saved is to go to church, read their Bible and pray regularly. The Bible tells us plainly that whatever one soweth, so shall he reap. The Bible tells us that every sinner, regardless of what state he is in today, has the potential to become a reaper. The Bible tells us that every sinner has the potential to become a reaper.

HEALTH UPDATE

Probiotics, even inactive ones, may relieve IBS symptoms

Although the precise cause of IBS remains unknown, recent research suggests that abnormalities in the intestinal microbiota (the microbes that live in the gut) may play a role. The intestinal microbiome is composed of numerous species of bacteria that can have a significant impact on gastrointestinal function and overall health. Probiotics are live bacteria or their components that, when administered in adequate amounts, benefit the host by improving gut health and overall well-being.

In a study published in the journal Alimentary Pharmacology and Therapeutics, once-daily MIMBb75 has been reported as effective in reducing symptoms of IBS. MIMBb75 is an inactivated probiotic strain of Bifidobacterium bifidum. Inactivated probiotics may be used as a food ingredient or as a dietary supplement for their potential health benefits.

The study involved 443 patients diagnosed with IBS who were randomly assigned to receive MIMBb75 or placebo over an eight-week period. Patients who received MIMBb75 had significantly greater improvement in abdominal pain and bloating compared to those who received placebo. Additionally, subjects taking MIMBb75 had an improvement in both their ability to adhere to intestinal processes and their quality of life.

The researchers concluded that MIMBb75 could alleviate IBS symptoms, even when administered as an inactivated form. However, further studies are needed to determine the optimal dosage and duration of treatment.

In conclusion, the use of inactivated probiotics, such as MIMBb75, may offer potential advantages over active probiotics in terms of safety and efficacy. More research is needed to fully understand the mechanisms by which these bacteria exert their therapeutic effects.

MY ANSWER

The baptism of the Holy Spirit is in the life of every believer

From the writings of the Rev. Billy Graham

Q: I am a sun target student and learning about baptism. What is the baptism of the Holy Spirit? — B.H.

A: As a preacher once asked a young preacher if he had been baptized with the Holy Spirit. The young man replied yes. The preacher asked, “When?” — The young man replied, “The moment I received Jesus Christ as my Savior.” The baptism of the Holy Spirit is in the life of every believer, and that takes place at the moment of conver-

The Scriptural usage of the phrase baptism shows that it is something instantaneous in the case of water baptism and Spirit baptism, and that it is not repeat-

The Bible also tells us that “the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in [Jesus’] name, He will teach you all things” (John 14:26). This precious gift, the Holy Spirit, not only corrects us but also reminds us that Jesus is the righteousness of God. He shows us what sin is and how to live in the way, the truth, and the life.

Rogers rules the post for Tooele

Four-year starter leads Buffs with all-around game

DARREN VAUGHAN
SPORTS EDITOR

Tooele senior center Justin Rogers is unique, no matter how you slice it.

He’s a 6-foot-5 center who could just as easily play pretty much any other position, given his ball-handling and shooting skills. He’ll jump in a passing lane, steal the ball and go coast-to-coast for a dunk, seemingly effortlessly. He’s started for the Buffaloes’ varsity boys basketball team since he was a freshman — a rarity, especially in a Class 4A program. In that time, he’s morphed from a shy, quiet underclassman into a confident leader.

Add all that together, and you have one of the premier big men in Utah high school basketball.

Through the Buffaloes’ first 14 games of the season as of Jan. 20, Rogers is averaging 19.6 points and 10.4 rebounds per game, while shooting 57% from the field, 73% from the free-throw line and 33% from 3-point range. He leads the team in 3-pointers made with 14, while also leading Tooele in free throws made and attempted (58-of-79) and field goals made and attempted (101-of-176). In addition, he is Tooele’s leader in assists (36), steals (21) and blocked shots (22).

Rogers reached his single-game career high with 32 points earlier this season against Morgan, surpassing a 30-point effort against the Trojans his junior year. He has seven double-doubles through 14 games, including a pair of 18-rebound efforts against Riverton and Parowan. He had five assists against Parowan, five blocks against Morgan and four steals against Riverton.

Through games played Jan. 20, Rogers has scored 1,200 points in 83 career varsity games — an average of 14.5 per game. He also has pulled down 624 rebounds (7.5 per game), dished out 166 assists (2.0 per game) and picked off 109 steals (1.3 per game). He’ll be a tough act to follow for whoever comes after him as Tooele’s next starting center, but the Buffaloes will still have him in his familiar No. 40 purple-and-white jersey through the rest of this regular season and the state tournament. Rogers and his teammates have high hopes for this season, particularly with how wide-open the Region 10 race appears to be, especially among the teams in the middle.

And with Rogers seemingly everywhere on the floor, the Buffaloes have as good a chance as anybody of coming out of that mix and making a run in Class 4A this season.

Buffaloes feature plenty of fresh faces
Players take on new roles for Tooele boys

Roster turnover is a constant reality for high school boys basketball teams, but this year’s Tooele squad will have more than a few players taking on expanded roles.

Six players from last year’s roster graduated, with star senior center Justin Rogers as the Buffaloes’ lone returning starter. However, with reserves Trevor Zaleski, Pacesen McLaws and Julian Mahoe among those set to fill key positions for the Buffs, coach Jed Thomas is optimistic for what the 2020-21 season holds in store.

“I’m really proud of all the work these kids put in,” Thomas said. “There’s a lot of excuses we could have made with coronavirus to not show up and not put in the work, but these guys really went above and beyond this offseason and really have bought in to trying to be something special. I’m really looking forward to this season and how it all plays out.”

Rogers, one of the top big men in Class 4A, averaged 17.6 points, 9.5 rebounds, 2.7 assists, 1.8 blocks and 1.5 steals per game for Tooele last season as the Buffs went 13-12 overall. In Tooele’s season opener against Riverton, he put up 24 points, 18 rebounds, three assists, four blocks and four steals, and will be called upon to lead the Buffs both on and off the court.

“Justin is taking on a bigger role this year,” Thomas said. “That kid, you can’t keep him down. He works too hard and he’s put in a lot this offseason. He’s turned into quite the leader this year and I look forward to watching him throughout the season. Justin is obviously the tip of the spear for us.”

Zaleski played in 25 games for the Buffs a season ago, averaging 1.5 points per game to go with 1.1 rebounds, 0.7 assists and 0.6 steals in a reserve role. He’ll be in the starting lineup this season, along with McLaws, who played 14 games last year, and Mahoe, who averaged 4.0 points, 2.0 rebounds, 0.3 steals.

Thomas is particularly excited to see Mahoe take on a bigger role, as the 6-foot-4 junior adds a notable post presence to go along with Rogers.

“He’s been awesome,” Thomas said. “He had a little injury that kept him out part of the offseason with his knee, but he’s back at full health and he played a really solid game in Riverton the other night. He’s a monster down low and he works the paint really well. He does some great things for us, offensively and defensively.”

Thomas hopes that focus on defense carries the Buffs through a tough battle for the Region 10 title. Juan Diego is the favorite, with all of its top players returning from last season, and Cedar Valley should be much-improved in its second year of competition. However, the Buffs feel they should be right near the top of the standings in the end, as well.

“I tell my kids this every day: At the end of the day, I don’t care who’s on the court playing against us — we compete against everybody and give ourselves a chance to win every game,” Thomas said. “You can interpret that a lot of different ways, I guess, but I do feel like whoever we step on the court with, we’re going to compete with.”

STANSBURY STALLIONS

Good Luck Stallions!
Grantsville senior Davin Ekins
Cowboys get off to strong start

GHS has high expectations under new coach Austin

Last season, the Grantsville boys basketball team caught fire once the calendar switched to 2020, posting a 12-4 record over its final 16 games to finish fifth in Class 3A despite a tumultuous beginning to their campaign.

This season, under the leadership of first-year head coach Nate Austin, the Cowboys are already off to a better start. Grantsville, which was picked to win the Region 13 championship and was among the top five teams in the preseason Class 3A rankings, picked up a pair of wins over perennial powers Manti and Richfield at the Central Utah Preview.

“Everybody goes into game one thinking, ‘I think we have a good team,’ but you don’t really know what to expect until you play some games,” Austin said. “I was glad that we were able to stick with these teams that are well-coached — teams that play really hard, are disciplined and have really good systems.”

Even though the Cowboys’ practice time has been limited because of COVID-19-related delays and postponements, their talents have already made an impression on their coach, who comes to Grantsville after spending time as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Brigham Young University.

“We feel like we have a good group and we feel like we have what we need to have a good year,” Austin said. “I was excited and happy to see the kids produce on the court and play really hard. I think we have a group that wants to win — a group that is willing to put in the effort every day.”

The Cowboys return a number of key contributors from last year’s team, which posted a 15-10 overall record despite a mid-season coaching change. Senior center Davin Ekins led the team in scoring last season at 10.6 points per game to go with 5.2 rebounds and 1.4 blocks per contest. Austin is expecting big things from his 6-foot-7 post this season.

“He’s always been a little bit under the radar just because he’s always played with some other good players, but for us to get where we want to get and do what we want to do, he’s going to have to shoulder more of the load and be a little bit more of a dominant force inside for us,” Austin said.

The Cowboys have plenty of senior leadership, with Ekins, Grayson McKeever, JJ Backus, Tuhker Mulford and Noah Mouritsen all on the roster. Mulford was third on the team in scoring last season at 8.8 points per game, and he shot 49-of-111 (44.1%) from 3-point range. McKeever averaged 1.4 points per game off the bench, and Mouritsen averaged 0.9 points per game in limited action. Backus is new to the team this season.

“Tuhker Mulford’s done a good job of hitting shots early in the season, and we’ll need him to continue to do so,” Austin said. “Tate Allred, Carter Killian, Grayson McKeever, (sophomore guard) Brigham Mulford — those are all guys who are capable of shooting well game in and game out, so we’ll need those guys.

“Everybody’s going to have to sacrifice some shots here and there and play team basketball, but if all those guys are hitting shots and Davin’s being a dominant force inside, our team is more of a complete team, and that’s what we’ve got to be. We can’t just be a one-dimensional team.

“I think we have the potential to be really good,” Austin said. “We can definitely be one of the best teams in 3A and we can definitely compete to win our region. We feel confident that effort-wise and skill-wise, we can compete with everybody. We just know that we have to get better every single day.”

STANSBURY BOYS BASKETBALL

Stansbury senior David Spaulding
The Stansbury boys basketball team is coming off its best regular season in program history, having posted a 15-8 overall record that earned the Stallions the right to host a playoff game for the first time.

While a number of key contributors from that squad have since graduated, Stallions coach Joe White believes this year’s team might be even more dangerous.

“We’re going to try to open it up a little bit more,” White said. “In the past, we haven’t had kids that can get out and run. We’ve had to try to control more of the offense, but I think this time, we’re going to let them run and open it up. We’re so deep that we’re going to try to put defensive pressure on teams and let the offense run. If we have to do something in the half court, we will, but I think we’ve got kids that want to get out and push the ball, and that are capable of it.”

The Stallions will have to replace a lot of their scorers from last season, including 2020 graduate Peyton Thevenot, who holds the school record for career 3-pointers made. However, White said this year’s team has more perimeter shooting threats, as well as more depth overall, which should make them harder to defend.

“We have some experience coming back in Dave Spaulding and Pae (Tia),” White said, noting that Tia is still recovering from an injury he suffered during football season. “We have some young kids who have shown in the JV games that they can compete at a high level.

“I think we replace (Thevenot) with more people who have the ability to extend and shoot better,” White added. “I think we have more weapons. We’re really excited about having multiple threats. We can go 10 players (deep), easy, if we had to.”

The Stallions will look to feed off the success they experienced during the football season, when they advanced to the Class 4A quarterfinals. Tia, Kru Huxford, Jacob Rich, Bridger
Thomas, Mathew Topham and Preston Birch all suited up for Stansbury’s football team this fall.

“The football players bring a little extra tenacity with them and strength, so we’re looking forward to having that mesh with what we’ve been doing in the fall,” White said.

Most of Stansbury’s offseason program was upended by the pandemic, which had the Stallions learning on the fly early in the season.

“We normally play 50 games in a summer, and we probably played eight,” White said. “I think the kids have worked hard on their own — there’s just no team continuity yet. Our first practices have been good and they’ve been physical, but the kids are still learning to play with each other.

“COVID’s going to be an interesting time for all of us. Games could be canceled, best players could miss (games) — it’s all just such a random thing right now. It’s going to be navigable, but it’s going to be hard.”

Tooele girls look to compete in Region 10

Baker’s return helps boost Buffaloes

Injuries plagued the Tooele girls basketball team last season, with many of their top players missing multiple games — including guard Madi Baker, who missed the entire 2019-20 season with a broken bone in her foot.

This year, Baker is back on the court for her senior season, giving the Buffaloes a much-needed boost, both in terms of athleticism and big-game experience from her time with Tooele’s state championship-winning softball team. She joins a talented core that also includes fellow seniors Aysha Lewis and Emma Higley, as well as junior forward Breanna Beer, as the Buffs hope to compete with the top teams in Region 10.

“We’ve got talent — if we can just get our scoring down a little bit more, I think we’ll be real competitive,” Tooele coach Randy Goss said. “We just rely on defense and getting after it, and the hustle that the girls provide.”

Goss lauded Baker’s toughness as she continues to recover from her injury.

“I’m proud of her,” he said. “She’s been getting after it and trying to get everything back. She plays through it and doesn’t say a word about it, but you can tell it bothers her. She’s mentally tough, and that’s a big factor. That helps us out.”

Tooele did lose a major piece in the offseason, as last year’s leading scorer and Jackie White-Kimber Award winner, Alivia Cluff, is now playing for Desert Hills High School in St. George. However, Lewis, Baker, Higley and Beer appear ready to pick up that scoring burden.

“These girls definitely don’t give up,” Goss said. “They keep battling out there, and they showed that this weekend. We were down by 10 against Millard and we came back in the second half and took it into overtime.”

Lewis, who won the White-Kimber Award as a sophomore following the 2018-19 season, is the Buffs’ leading returning scorer, having tallied 206 points, including 16 3-pointers. Hogan led the team in rebounding last season as a freshman and should play a key role, while Baker and Higley add scoring depth and Beer provides a solid all-around game. Sydnee Gustin, who missed the Delta tournament, should also be a key contributor this season.

Goss is also excited to see what his up-and-coming underclassmen can do. He was impressed by the minutes the Buffs got from Aiden Finch in their first few games, and he lauded Mercedes McKinley’s relentless effort.

The Buffaloes’ primary focus will be on the defensive end. While Tooele is still looking to boost its offensive game, it’s the Buffs’ defense that has Goss optimistic for this season.

“Our girls always play pretty competitive on the defensive end of it,” he said. “If we can just get the ball in the hole, that would help a lot, but I know we can hold teams down a lot of the time.”

Grantsville Girls Basketball
Expectations are high for GHS girls team

Cowboys hope to compete for region, state titles

The Grantsville girls basketball team has firmly established itself as one of Class 3A’s premier programs over the past few seasons.

With a talented group of returning players, the Cowboys plan on contending for the state championship once again in 2020-21. Led by recent University of Colorado-Colorado Springs signee Maison White and sophomore point guard Kenzie Allen, Grantsville once again finds itself near the top of the list of Region 13 and state title contenders.

“I think we have a good shot in region,” Grantsville coach Megan Vera said. “We’re going to have to play well. With our schedule, every game is a winnable game, but we have to show up every single night and play well. I think that we’ll compete in region and I think we’re a contender in 3A as well.”

White is one of Class 3A’s premier players, averaging 19.7 points and 8.8 rebounds per game during her stellar junior season. She is joined by fellow seniors Chloe Butler, Maddie Martin and Hillary Cloward. However, Grantsville’s stellar sophomore class should also make an impact. Allen averaged 5.3 points, 4.7 rebounds, 2.1 steals and 2.2 assists per game as a freshman, while Ellie Thomas averaged 2.9 points, 1.9 rebounds, 1.3 assists and 0.7 steals.

“Our freshman class last year was really strong — young, but a ton of potential,” Vera said. “They’ve really matured a lot this offseason, so I’m excited to see what they come and contribute.

“(Sophomores) Emily Ware, Ryann Williams (and) Zoey Cloward — they really stepped up this summer and started to contribute a bit more in varsity, so I think we’ll see all of them getting some minutes as well,” Vera added. “(Senior) Chloe Butler’s had a tremendous offseason, so we’re really expecting big things from her, too.”

Allen will be taking over the Cowboys’ starting point guard spot from Ashlee Edwards, who is now at Snow College after a decorated four-year career at GHS. However, Vera said Allen is driven to fill those shoes, as are the rest of her teammates who are filling bigger roles.

“I think there’s a program expectation, but there also is an individual expectation,” Vera said. “As you come in to fill a new role, you look at that kid who had filled that role previously. It’s just a great culture to have where the expectations just keep getting higher, but so does the hunger of the players. They just are striving to meet and exceed those expectations.

“It’s been amazing to see how the program just continues to get better because the previous players just continue to raise the bar for the incoming players.”

Grantsville’s Region 13 schedule doesn’t do it any favors, as Judge Memorial and Morgan are typically considered to be among the top teams in Class 3A.

STANSBURY GIRLS BASKETBALL

Stansbury senior Jessica Smart
Experienced starters lead Stansbury girls
Stallions’ young bench learning on the job

This year’s Stansbury girls basketball team is somewhat of a paradox: the Stallions are both extremely experienced, yet extremely inexperienced at the same time.

Entering this season, Stansbury’s starting five of Payten Staley, Sarah Gatluak, Malia Tia, Epa Tia and Ainsley Thurber have combined to play 169 varsity games in their playing careers, with Staley and Malia Tia the only seniors. Behind them, however, the Stallions have 17 games of varsity experience coming into the 2020-21 campaign: Natalie Ogden has seen action in nine games, while Jessica Smart played in three games last season and Kyla Collins played in five games two years ago. Throw in a limited number of practices, and it has been a challenge for coach Brittany Davies and her team as they try to get up to speed.

“We finally get to play, so it’s been really a whirlwind trying to get things going for the season and just rushing into playing games so quickly,” Davies said. “We’re working, we’re learning, we’re growing, we’re struggling — trying to figure out COVID and learning how to play together. It’s been an interesting preseason so far.”

There have been some ups and downs, Davies said, but she remains optimistic for what the season holds in store.

“We’ve got a couple of sophomores and some new incoming players who just moved here recently that we’re trying to get experience running our plays,” she said. “They just had to get thrown in there.

“I’ve seen a lot of good things — some excellent things going on. The potential’s high. I’ve got high expectations for this group, and they’re hearing it in practice. I’m excited to see how far they can go.”
The talent of the Stallions’ starters makes those growing pains a little easier. Thurber, a junior, is the team’s leading returning scorer, averaging 7.4 points per game as a sophomore while shooting 20-for-63 from 3-point range. She added 3.0 rebounds, 1.8 steals and an assist per game as well.

Epa Tia, also a junior, averaged 7.0 points per game on 43% shooting from the field, and led the team in rebounding at 6.9 per game. Her continued improvement has drawn her coach’s attention.

“I’m excited about her,” Davies said. “She’s someone I can rely on and count on to be where she’s supposed to be, doing what she’s supposed to be doing and hustling. There’s nothing a coach wants more than someone like that. She’s a quiet leader and does such a great job at it.”

The Stallions’ two senior starters also play key roles. Staley is in her first season as a regular in Stansbury’s lineup, having averaged 0.9 points and 0.7 rebounds in 12 games last season. Malia Tia was a big piece for SHS a year ago, averaging 5.2 points and 4.8 rebounds while playing in all but two games as a junior.

Stansbury was picked to win the Region 10 title by the league’s coaches this season, and Davies expects her experienced starters to help lead them there — and possibly beyond.

“I’m not going to take it easy on them,” she said. “I’m pushing them, because I know they can get there and I know they have such high potential. My expectations are that they should dominate. They’ve been playing together for years and they’ve got some varsity experience under their belt now.”
