MIDVALLEY HIGHWAY UPDATE

New names proposed to honor veterans

Workers on the Midvalley Highway are starting to lay down pavement for the new corridor.

The Utah Department of Transportation reported Monday that crews have started placing the Midvalley Highway from State Route 138 to the I-80 interchange.

The plan is to complete paving by the end of September, weather permitting, UDOT officials said.

Crews are also working on newly constructed ramps from the Midvalley Highway to I-80 at the I-80 interchange, approximately three miles west of Lake Point.

An animal crossing located mid-corridor is also under construction. While schedules are subject to change based on weather, supply chains, and other issues, the project is expected to be completed later this fall, according to UDOT.

While known as U.S. 74 in the Midvalley Highway, a local government is underway to give the yet-to-be-completed highway a new name.

The Tooele City Council approved a resolution in July 2021 in support of permanently renaming the Midvalley Highway to the Jordan M. Byrd Veterans Memorial Highway.

Sp. Jordan Byrd, a 19-year-old graduate of Desert High School, married with a wife and two young boys, was killed six years ago in Iraq.

The group expects to be able to use the very strict COVID protocols that were in place,“ Sherwood said.

We had over 2,000 people come through last year and that was with the pandemic. Despite the pandemic, we look for different sponsors, businesses, and organizations to help us decorate the museum,” she said.

As a result, students will be socialized for at least COVID-19 during a testing event that started today at the school.

Stockton woman charged with animal abuse

CHARGE

A Stockton woman has been charged with animal cruelty, along with animal withholding, after she neglected a dog for over four days, according to a Stockton Police Department press release.

An report came into the Stockton Police Department on Sept. 8, about a white Sheet Pan, that was running losses in the Clover student in a museum of a fire station.

When police responded to the area, they learned that several neighbors had witnessed the dog running from the property belonging to Krista Rasmussen.

The Stockton police made contact with Rasmussen, who claimed that she had never seen the dog and that someone just dropped it off at her property.

Rasmussen told police that she had just returned home from a vacation, and requested that they impound the dog.

Police noticed the dog was underweight and dirty around the area. They then impounded the dog to Atlin St., a local dog grooming shop.

A photo of the dog was posted to the Stockton Police Department Facebook page, as police released in the press release.

On Sept. 8, Stockton police were contacted by a witness who saw the dog in Rasmussen’s yard.

The dog had been reportedly locked in a kennel with food, water, or shelter, before Sept. 4, according to the witness.

Another witness came forward and informed police that Rasmussen requested the dog be moved to “a different home” on Sept. 8.

Police located the Facebook post and were able to contact the promised owner regarding the dog.

The previous owner informed that he had dropped the dog off at a local kennel.

Rasmussen told police that she had returned home from a vacation, and was unable to access her phone.

Rasmussen informed the man that she was going to pick up the dog, promising him a good home.

The man also stated that the dog was healthy and happy in her care.

Rasmussen told police that she had just returned from a vacation, and was unable to access her phone.

Stockton police performed a cursory search on the property, where a Facebook search revealed the man’s Facebook account, located in her archive folder, according to the press release.

Rasmussen was arrested on a warrant and charged with animal cruelty charges, and other local animal violations for a bail amount of $2,750.

Rasmussen also had three other warrants for her arrest at the time, including a warrant from a previous Stockton case that had been issued.

The man was charged with animal cruelty charges and had no access to it.

The next day, Sept. 9, Stockton police were contacted by a witness who saw the dog in Rasmussen’s yard.

The man was charged with animal cruelty charges and had no access to it.

Rasmussen informed the police that she had been arrested.

Rasmussen’s phone, as well as Rasmussen’s Facebook account, had been searched.

The following day, Sept. 10, Stockton police were contacted by a witness who saw the dog in Rasmussen’s yard.

The man was charged with animal cruelty charges and had no access to it.

Free shooting offered at 2 DWR ranges on National Hunting and Fishing Day

The Utah Division of Wildlife Resources is offering free shooting for Utah residents at any of the state’s shooting and skeet ranges on Sept. 25 and shoot for free.

The Saturday in September is recognized across the U.S. as National Hunting and Fishing Day. It was also designated as Utah state sales tax holiday in 1973 as a day for the “recognition of the substantial and continued contribution by hunters and fishermen toward the sound management of wildlife in Utah.”

Along with the free and discounted admissions on Sept. 25, both shooting ranges also offer an ongoing, year-round promotion that allows everyone to shoot for free in an aircraft or discount store if they purchased a firearm or archery equipment within 30 days of their visit. The support on social media has been great. Usually, social

The Tooele City Council voted to raise the starting salary of Tooele City police officers to be competitive with other departments along the Wasatch Front.

The council previously discussed law enforcement pay during their Sept. 1 meeting. However, the situation was unique because it involved a new salary schedule.

During the public hearing portion of their meeting on Wednesday, the council voted formally to approve the new salary schedule.

“Thank you for the support you provide for our citizens,” DWR Director J Shirley said. “The division’s main goal during National Hunting and Fishing Day is to encourage people to try hunting and fishing licenses, which are funded through the sale of hunting and fishing licenses.

To celebrate, the DWR is offering free and discounted shooting at any of its 37 shooting and skeet ranges on Sept. 25, shooting for free.

Remember, the second Saturday in September is recognized across the U.S. as National Hunting and Fishing Day. It was also designated as Utah state sales tax holiday in 1973 as a day for the "recognition of the substantial and continued contribution by hunters and fishermen toward the sound management of wildlife in Utah.”

Tooele High School students were tested for COVID-19 outside the school's auditorium on Thursday. After being tested the students wait 15-20 minutes for test results. Parents of students that test positive will be notified to pick their students up at the school.

SB 107 requires that once the threshold number of running 14-day positive COVID-19 cases among students at a school is reached all students, regardless of vaccination status, need to be tested for COVID-19. Students that test positive will need to isolate at home for 10 calendar days before returning to in-person classes. If a student tests positive, they will also not be able to participate in any school activities or sports until their isolation period is over.

Parent permission is needed to test students under the age of 18. Students choosing to opt out of being tested will also need to isolate at home for 10 calendar days before they can return to school.

Parents/guardians can also choose to have their student get a COVID-19 test done at a COVID-19 Testing Station, through their healthcare provider or a health department and provide their results to the school.

State Health Department Test to Stay guidelines strongly recommend masks to be worn at a school for two weeks after a Test to Stay event.

SB 107 differs from the protocol for SB 107 was passed by the state Legislature in March 2021. It received a 23-5 vote in the Senate and a 53-17 vote in the House on final passage. All legislators representing Tooele County voted for final passage of SB 107. As of Sept. 15, 41.8% of Tooele County's youth ages 12-17 were fully vaccinated for COVID-19.

"We’ve been used to it by now," said Stansbury High School Principal Branden Branson. "We’re not happy with COVID, but it’s part of doing business in schools right now."
A week or two after planting, keep the soil moist, but not soggy. Soil that is too wet can cause root rot, so withhold water until the foliage starts to droop. When the soil is completely dry, water the plants thoroughly and allow them to dry out again before the next watering. Avoid overwatering, which can cause the leaves to turn yellow and drop off. Fertilize the plants every two to three weeks with a general purpose fertilizer. If the plants become too tall, pinch them back to encourage branching and a more compact growth habit.

If you live in a cold region, you can overwinter your Calla lilies indoors. After the last frost of the season, carefully lift the bulbs and allow them to dry out in the sun for a week. Then store them in a cool, dry place, such as a garage or basement, until it is safe to plant them outside again in the spring. You can also dig up the bulbs and plant them in a greenhouse or cold frame in late fall, where they will remain dormant until spring.

If you have Calla lilies growing in your garden, be sure to protect them from freezing temperatures. If the soil is frozen, the plant will not be able to take up water and may die. To protect your Calla lilies from frost, you can cover them with a sheet of plastic or a layer of straw or mulch. You can also dig them up and store them indoors for the winter. Whatever method you choose, make sure that the Calla lilies are protected from freezing temperatures.

In conclusion, Calla lilies are a beautiful addition to any garden or patio. With their bright white petals and deep yellow centers, they bring a touch of beauty and elegance to any outdoor space. By following the care instructions provided in this guide, you can enjoy the beauty of Calla lilies all season long. Happy gardening!
ASK AMY

Woman should leave abusive relationship

Dear Amy: I am in a relation-ship with a man my age. He is abusive and has given me many reasons to leave. I can't, however, make the decision to leave. It is not due to fear, my mother had me at 15, however, I often feel my son is holding me back. He is a very important part of my life. I know if I were to leave, I would also have to leave the home, which is our son's home. I am procrastinating and I feel it is an excuse because he came in my life when I was 49 and had a baby who is now 7.

Amy Dickinson

Dear Amy: You are in a serious condition triggered by serious trauma while you are being treated in a specific behavior which we call intimate partner violence. Based on what you say, you are in an unfulfilling and increasingly controlling intimate relationship with someone who means you badly and who according to you - compels you to define your independence. Read the full advice by you feeling "terrible" about your own behavior. The way you see it, part of the time you are being treated badly and part of the time you are treating yourself badly. That's a fact. It is a sign of abuse.

Bake a kid-friendly chocolate zucchini cake

And that’s what I did. Now I make it and share it with friends.

Emotional support: And just like insects in an aquarium, one by one, they passed me by, to the great joy of the children.

Chocolate Zucchini Cake

2 cups soft butter
1 1/2 cups cane sugar or vegetable oil
1 3/4 cups granulated sugar
1 1/2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup chopped chocolate
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
4 eggs
1 1/2 cups buttermilk
1/2 cup sour milk
1/3 cup buttermilk or sour milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

1. Grease and flour a 9-inch deep round cake pan. Preheat oven to 350°F.
2. In a large bowl, stir together 1/2 cup milk with 1/2 cup sour milk.
3. Meanwhile, another child may measure and sift the flour, cocoa, baking soda, clove, and salt. Add to the large bowl and gently mix.
4. In another bowl, cream the sugar, butter, and egg until light. Add the eggs one at a time, beating well after each.
5. Add the flour mixture and buttermilk mixture to the creamed ingredients. When asked, I said I make it and share it with friends.
6. Easy to make, easy to serve. The kids love it. And I hope you will too.

Estrous insertion may help with bladder problems

DEAR DR. ROACH:

I am an 83-year-old female with bladder control problems. I get up two or three times a night and usually make it to the bathroom, but now I am having trouble. How can I manage this? Incontinence

Answer: Estrous insertion may help with bladder problems.

One of the first flowers represented in the arts may be the lotus flower. It is revered in many ancient cultures, including in ancient Egypt as a symbol of death and rebirth in the afterlife. Ancient Egyptian scribes often included the flower in funerary texts and household friezes with its lotus bud emerging from the water and blooming flowers that included blue petals. In Buddhism, the flower symbolizes the many trials and troubles.

No-bake cheesecake is lemony delight

Lift one foot and let's enjoy the sweet, tart flavors of lemon which are a refreshing zing of citrus to pumpkin spice everything.

Technique has been around forever so I can’t take credit for creating this recipe. I first recall seeing it made by Martha Stewart, so I’ll credit her for the inspiration, made more frugal by yours truly.

For crust:
2 (8-ounce) packages cream cheese, room temperature
1 (14-ounce) can (1 3/4 cups) condensed milk
Juice and zest of one large lemon (about 1 1/4 cups juice)
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1. Place graham crackers in a large resealable plastic bag and crush them with a rolling pin or rolling pin until they're the texture of coarse sand.
2. In a medium bowl, stir together the crumbs, sugar and salt. Melt butter and add to the crumbles, mixing until well-combined.
3. Into a 9-inch springform pan, spread the crumb mixture evenly on the bottom. Press it into the sides. Chill for at least 1 hour.

For filling:
1 (14-ounce) can (1 1/4 cups) condensed milk
Juice and zest of one large lemon (about 1 1/4 cups juice)
2 packages (18 full sheets) graham crackers
1 (14-ounce) can (1 1/4 cups) sweetened condensed milk
Big pinch kosher salt
2 (8 ounce) packages cream cheese, room temperature
1 (14-ounce) can (1 3/4 cups) condensed milk
Juice and zest of one large lemon (about 1 1/4 cups juice)
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1. In a large bowl, using an electric hand mixer, beat the cream cheese until aerated and smooth. Continue beating the cream cheese as you gradually add the condensed milk, stirring until combined. Reserve the urge to eat the nice thick mixture that results now. You'll throw this mixture on the back of a spoon.
2. Remove your crumbs crust and carefully add the filling, ensuring there are no air pockets. Smooth the filling using the back of a spoon. It’s okay to have a few nooks and crannies. The filling will even itself out. Cover with plastic wrap, and refrigerate until set, about 2 1/2 hours.
3. To serve, unclasp sides of pan and remove cheesecake. Slice into 8 to 12 slices. Store in freezer while you make the filling, or at least 10 minutes.
4. In a large bowl, using an electric hand mixer, beat the cream cheese until aerated and smooth. Continue beating the cream cheese as you gradually add the condensed milk, stirring until combined. Although already beautiful in its pale yellow simplicity, for the photo I garnished the cheesecake with paper-thin lemon slices, lemon thyme leaves and edible flowers.

This recipe is done exactly as written, using fresh lemon juice and zest and a homemade graham cracker crust. But when lemons are out of season, shriveled and two bucks apiece, here is a shortcut that reduces both cost and time.

Cut that reduces both cost and time. To make 1 1/2 tbsp bottled reconstituted lemon juice and zest and a purchased graham cracker crust. Depending on the size of your crust, you may have a little leftover filling. Should you be faced with such a terrible dilemma, you can use the filling as a dip for bagged熟 fruit, to make layered portions with fruit or to fill croissants or other pastries. Or just eat it with a spoon.

Now, when life gives you lemons, you know what to do. • • •
