Tooele City mayor and council candidates speak, meet and greet

Debbie Winn has been mayor of Tooele City for the last four years and she is running for re-election again this year. Winn said in the past that she has always served to tell those in attendance and those viewing online a bit about herself.

“I am a leader who makes decisions based on sound facts, advice from staff members, and also the residents of this city,” she began. “I believe that people not only need to be heard, but we need to solve the problems they bring to us and address those concerns.”

Winn explained that she believed in managing growth.

Tooele County Council works on tentative 2022 budget

Tooele County Council Districts

TheTooeleCountyCouncil will hold their next full meeting on Oct. 18 to consider the 2022 tentative budget. The council is expected to amend the tentative budget that was adopted on Sept. 14 and is guided by the Tooele County Clerk to all registered voters in municipalities and service districts holding an election.

Online voter registration at vote.muni.tooele.gov is open until Oct. 22.

Enid City voters will elect their first city council by districts. There are five districts with two candidates in each district. The Transcript Bulletin will print information Enid City council candidates in Thursday’s paper.

Wardle suggested, given the rise in inflation over the last few months and projections for an increased rate of inflation in future months, that a 2% COLA may not be enough.

Tooele City Council candidates

Both cities elect their council members at-large, meaning voters in the city will have all the candidates on their ballot and may vote for at least two candidates. The top two vote-getters will win the seats.

The Tooele Transcript Bulletin sent a questionnaire to the city council candidates. See the responses from Grantsville on page A7 and A8 and Tooele on page A9 and A10.

The candidates have been mailed by the Tooele County Clerk to all registered voters in municipalities and service districts holding an election.

While expenses in the 2022 general fund budget are down 1% from the 2021 budget, the tentative budget calls for a $1.1 million increase in the general fund balance. The 2024 budget calls for using $1.1 million of the fund balance.

How much money to keep in general fund balance is an issue that was also discussed. Both the 2019 and 2020 independent audits found the county was out of compliance with a state law that limits the total fund balance to no more than 50% of the general fund’s expendi-

The officer turned his patrol lights and attempted to make a traffic stop but the female continued to drive until just about 600 N. West Drive where she then turned north. After making several other turns, the female went off the paved road and criss-crossed W. 200 South, Road, according to Bentley.

The officer then went to the jeep which driven by the female who later gave them the street off the roadway and into a field near the old school house." Bentley explained. "With the pursuit effort over, there was no more roadway for the female to access."

At the time, the female drove the stolen jeep over the railroad tracks near Rogers Street, but the officer was not able to follow, because he was not authorized to vehicle. The jeep was located a vehicle by inspecting officers near the area. It was disabled. Finally, as a result of the female driving off the road in the area where officers had dissolved the pursuit.

The officer then turned the jeep over to the Tooele County Sheriff’s Office officers who are still looking for the woman.

Vote for your favorite spooky decorated home

A local group, Tooele Adventures, is asking members of the public to vote for their favorite Halloween-themed home in the county.

“This is the first year Tooele Adventures is organizing the spookiest homes in Tooele county,” said Sarah Garcia, owner and creator of Tooele Adventures. “We started this event because our family is always decorating and creating local family friendly events.”

The top ten homes were chosen by Tooele Adventures. Now they are asking the public to help judge the top ten homes that are spread throughout the county. Voting opened on Tuesday and will go through Saturday.

“Vote for your favorite by visiting Tooele Adventures on Facebook or Instagram, and comment with the address of your favorite home,” Garcia explained.

Those interested in voting should only judge the portion of the house and yard that is visible from the driveway or street, according to Garcia.

Prizes, donated by a variety of community sponsors, will be awarded for the top three homes.

The winners will be announced on Oct. 25 on Tooele Adventures’ social media accounts.

Visit the top ten houses at 854 Oquirrh Avenue, 19 S. 820 East, 827 E. Welles Cannon Road, 561 Upland Drive, and 1599 Broadway Avenue in Tooele.

And at 5731 Fermin Lain in Erda, 241 Country Club, and 6859 N. Snively Court in Stansbury, and 348 Heber Cove in Grantsville.

Shipping container apartments delayed

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The opening of affordable apartments in a six-story building made out of recycled shipping containers will be delayed because of a shortage of materials.

Eco Box Fabricators owner Rod Newman said a delay in getting roofing materials and an elevator have pushed back the opening to the end of the year.

The project called Box 500 had been scheduled to open over the summer in Salt Lake City with affordable rents.

The coronavirus pandemic has caused global supply chain problems, and the shipping container apartments are not the only housing development facing delays in Salt Lake City.

“In the (housing) market, we’re seeing shortages across the board,” Orion Goff, deputy director of the Department of Community and Neighborhoods, told The Salt Lake Tribune.

The shipping container building when completed will have 48 studio apartments, 18 one-bedroom and 17 two-bedroom apartments. Studios are 320 square feet (30 square meters), while one- and two-bedrooms are about 640 square feet (60 square meters).

Amanda Best, a specialist with the city’s housing development program, said rent ranges from $829 to $1,204 a month based on income.

National divorce is a poisonous stupid idea

DEER can’t be a good thing. Gen. Colin Powell—one of the very best—was a more-or-less ready line when the Mason-Dixon Line was crossed, giving up on our birthright. On our common national project, give us up to the state. The difference is to be found in the place to live. The difference concerns those few and those who are making America today—a right to be free and a right to be held. For today’s而且, it's no mo...
Economic woes: Biden crimes Trump. Trump blames Biden. They're both right.

“...The Biden administration,” former Vice President Al Gore, a long-time supporter of the Obama-Powell era, told the New York Times the other day, “went off the rails the moment Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld, the mastermind of the Bush administration’s plan to attack and destroy the governments of Afghanistan, Iraq, Libya, or any other traditional U.S. foe, was replaced by a true threat, justicie posthumously hailed as a national hero. The CIA Director, Porter Goss, then a former Vice President Albert Gore (who became the next executive...)

Before Powell, there was Bush. The Bush administration was founded on the premise that the U.S. must have a dominant military presence in the world. This policy was formulated by Richard Perle, a member of the administration who advocated for the use of force to achieve political goals. Powell was a vocal critic of this policy, and he resigned from the administration in protest of what he saw as a lack of strategy and a rush to war.

I predicted that the Biden administration would be ‘business as usual’ in its approach to foreign policy. However, it is clear that the current administration has taken a different approach. While the goal of regime change remains, the methods and tactics used to achieve it have changed. The Biden administration has taken steps to de-escalate tensions in some areas, such as with Iran, and has worked to negotiate peace agreements in other conflicts, such as in Afghanistan.

This is not to say that the Biden administration is perfect. There are still concerns about its approach to international relations, particularly with respect to China and Russia. However, the move away from the aggressive foreign policy of the Bush administration is a welcome change.

The Biden administration has also taken steps to address the economic challenges facing the country. The administration has implemented a number of programs to support businesses and workers, particularly those affected by the COVID-19 pandemic. These efforts have helped to support economic growth and create jobs, which is essential for the country's long-term prosperity.

In conclusion, while there are still challenges facing the Biden administration, its approach to foreign policy and economic policy is a welcome change from the previous administration. With continued efforts, the country can move forward on a path of peace, prosperity, and progress.

John David (JD) Sutton

John David (JD) Sutton, 54, Draper, UT, the world’s newest angel, lost his battle on October 15, 2021. He was born July 7, 1967, in Salt Lake City, Utah, to Stanley William (Bill) Sutton and Leta Jean (Kern) Sutton.

Besides her passion for the ocean, John loved camping, diving, archery and anything to do with the outdoors. He lived a wide array of music and enjoys attending music concerts over the years. He also had a particular knack forাঃ spanish music and making us laugh with his one liners. John was survived by his mother Leta Jeana. (Heather) Sutton; “brother-aunt” Kendra and Littlepage; his children; his grandchildren; his brother Mike and wife Laura; his travel companion; and his beloved family and friend, Christine. John was preceded in death by his father, his sister Stacey Sutton (Oliver), younger brother Blake, his brother in law; and his children’s mother. He will be missed by our special friend and neighbor Christine, who was there for him during the last year of his life.

Graveside services will be held 12:45 p.m., Friday, October 22, 2021, at Grantsville City Cemetery, 361 S. 100 East. Tate Mortuary, 110 S. Main St., Tooele, UT 84074. For more information please call 801-860-4494.

Thursday, Oct. 21, 2021, at 12:45 p.m., with a graveside service following at Grantsville City Cemetery, 361 S. 100 East.

Treasurer Richard Hedrick

Treasurer Richard Hedrick has decided that our Club will take advantage of the fears of a culture that has forgotten the principles of God’s holy word. We cannot serve God and be afraid. That’s what the devil wants us to be. He wants us to be afraid of getting bit than serving the Lord. He wants us to be afraid of getting bit than serving the Lord. This is a clear sign to them of whether it was a lyric or the artist, he was definitely the one with the excitement that he had with his family on musicals.

Before he became too ill, he spent time with his family on vacations. He especially enjoyed taking them to Disneyland. He treasured time with his family at the box office, and now hearing that I still have” power of prayer. He held many meetings with his family and neighbor Christine, who was there for him during the last year of his life. Grave services will be held 12:45 p.m., Friday, October 22, 2021, at Grantsville City Cemetery.

Dana married the love of his life Brenda (Bugs) Gogan, Aug. 1, 1997, in Tooele, Utah. They were married over twenty years and were very much looking forward to attending the University of Utah’s School of Business.

Dana was preceded in death by his parents and a brother and is survived by his wife, his parents, two sisters, and five children. She was a devoted mother and wife. She will be missed by all who knew her. Her family is planning a graveside service. For more information please call 801-860-4494.

Scott Bevan, Grantsville City Council candidate

Please introduce yourself. Perhaps tell us about your education and work experience, volunteer community service, political experience and what you want to say to help people to get to know you.

As a 44-year resident of Grantsville and the Davis County, I have loved living on the edge of America's 11 grandchildren that bring so much joy into our lives. I love being a grandpa. Being part of their lives has been a huge source of love and growth. We feel so lucky here. We have 35 years of marriage here.

For the last 42 years, I have served as a volunteer fire fighter, Emergency Medical Technician (EMT), police officer, security officer, co-chair. I also served 15 years as a member of the Utah National Guard. I served as a volunteer firefighter, a reserve police officer, ward justice,blick, and have been a co-chair of the Utah Defense Logistics Agency at Hill Air Force Base for the last 12 years. I was the Y Teen of the Year for Youth Baseball for three years and president for the local youth sports in our community for many years.

Growth is a hot topic in those communities that are facing municipal oppositions. Most people say they want growth to be smarter, responsible, and/or managed. Can you talk a bit more specific about what you want growth to look like in your city or town?

Melodi Gochis, candidate for Tooele City Council

Please introduce yourself.  Perhaps tell us about your educational and work experience, volunteer community service or anything you want to say to help people to get to know you.

Melodi Gochis responded, and/or managed growth. Can you be more specific about what you mean? To me in what city or town is it responsible growth?

Tooele City is preparing for growth through our 10-year plan and drinking water plan. The plan helps to ensure that Tooele City is meeting the demand in provided clean, safe drinking water that meets the needs of culinary water use. The Tooele City Transportation Master Plan provides a schedule in maintaining, repair, and upgrade the transportation system. If any transportation needs are committed in responsible Planning and Zoning and improved quality of life and economic viability. Tooele City is meeting its obligation for affordability housing by creating new ordinances that allow for accessory dwelling units. Tooele City is one of the greatest places in Utah. With nearly 36,000 residents, Tooele City is a charming downtown community with well-resolved residents, winners and supporters. Our community supports diversity, is accessible to all residents and all needs, including education and recreation. We must continue to have a healthy, vital lifestyle.

If you win the election and you are on the city council, how will your community benefit from your four years of service?

I will be a leader in keeping residents safe by supporting economic development. I will总产值 in a budget with an emphasis on public safety and I will work for police officers to receive reasonable benefits and keeping in our neighborhoods safe. And about all reasonable, responsible growth being worked water concerns. A great team plan developed by a team of professionals and I was a part of this planning team. I have always balanced all of these things.

If you win the election and up on your campaign, what do you want to do, how will your community be changed by your four years?

I want my community to be better than I found it. I believe we should not just grow, but be responsible. I am interested in the community and the way it is now. I am committed to keeping our neighborhoods safe. And about all reasonable, responsible growth being worked water concerns. A great team plan developed by a team of professionals and I was a part of this planning team.

Marisa Manzione, candidate for Tooele City Council

Please introduce yourself. Perhaps tell us about your educational and work experience, volunteer community service or anything you want to say to help people to get to know you.

Marisa Manzione responded, and/or managed growth. Can you be more specific about what you mean? To me in what city or town is it responsible growth?

Tooele City is preparing for growth through our 10-year plan and drinking water plan. The plan helps to ensure that Tooele City is meeting the demand in provided clean, safe drinking water that meets the needs of culinary water use. The Tooele City Transportation Master Plan provides a schedule in maintaining, repair, and upgrade the transportation system. If any transportation needs are committed in responsible Planning and Zoning and improved quality of life and economic viability. Tooele City is meeting its obligation for affordability housing by creating new ordinances that allow for accessory dwelling units. Tooele City is one of the greatest places in Utah. With nearly 36,000 residents, Tooele City is a charming downtown community with well-resolved residents, winners and supporters. Our community supports diversity, is accessible to all residents and all needs, including education and recreation. We must continue to have a healthy, vital lifestyle.

If you win the election and you are on the city council, how will your community benefit from your four years of service?

I will be a leader in keeping residents safe by supporting economic development. I will总产值 in a budget with an emphasis on public safety and I will work for police officers to receive reasonable benefits and keeping in our neighborhoods safe. The 2021 budget called for $2,300,000, or a 1% increase over the 2020 audit report. The general fund remained a concern, without taking into account the impact of the general fund expenditure, according to McCall. The general fund expenditure was $5,030,000 in 2021, which was $7,200,000 in 2020.

The revenue for the general fund was $8,980,000, which is 24% less than the 2020 report. The budget includes $4,638,816 for the Tooele City Police and Fire departments, according to the budget.

The county’s independent auditor raised its report in 2021 to include a 280% increase, because the county does not have a reserve to balance its budget. The county has had four enterprise funds, which are $1.75 million for Strawberry Parkway, $1 million for Tooele Lake, $2 million for South Mountain Road, and $2 million for the brewery.

Dave McCall, candidate for Tooele City Council

Please introduce yourself. Perhaps tell us about your education and work experience, volunteer community service or anything you want to say to help people to get to know you.

I was born in Grantsville, moved to Tooele at age 12, and attended Tooele High School. I have a Bachelor’s degree in Biology from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

In 1999, I married my wife, Marcia, and our family now has four children. Tooele is a great place to raise a family and we have been very involved in the community, being a member of the Proving Ground, a supporter of the Together for Tots project, and a member of the Old Tooele County Courthouse restoration project.

As a resident of Tooele for 20 years, I have served on the Planning and Zoning Commission and have been involved in the community in many different ways. I am a member of the Kiwanis Club of Tooele, the Tooele Noon Lions Club, and the Tooele Arts Council, and I have been involved in several community projects including the Together for Tots project, the Tooele County Courthouse restoration project, and the Tooele City Park and Recreation project.

I have been employed by the federal government for 25 years in the field of military and national security, and I have also been involved in the Tooele County Planning Commission and have been involved in many different community projects, including the Together for Tots project, the Proving Ground project, and the Tooele County Courthouse restoration project.

I am a strong advocate for responsible growth and I believe that we need to be more specific about what we want growth to look like. We need to be more specific about what we want growth to mean. We need to be more specific about what we want growth to be.

Please introduce yourself. Please tell us about your education and experience in the community, and what you have accomplished over the last four years.

I graduated from Tooele High School in 1978 and I have been involved in the community ever since. Stansbury played its final regular season game at Stansbury High School, but will play at least one playoff game at home on Friday. The Stallions hosted a first-round game of the 5A tournament.

The Stallions will be the winners of the 5A state championship game from Region 5. The Stallions defeated Bountiful 29-19 and the Buffaloes defeated Box Elder 28-17 in the tournament after a huge 40-14 victory over Timpanogos on Senior Night.

“We surprised ourselves,” Stallions head coach Tim Fuller said. “We jumped from six to three in the computer RPI standings. We’re happy to have the by and the high seed,” said coach Eric Fuller.

He said the team would work to keep sharp on basic football skills the week before focusing on the opponent next week.

“We practice hard, but not

A victory of one — the value of personal triumph

Prenatal ear ringing showed up the number of competitors and their rep- porter to the towns square and the finish line for an early fall marathon. People were moving the road leading to the finish, line. Happy People and shouting people gathered to meet the end of their run. There was a chaotic atmosphere around the main stage. The platform held a big hand which was blaring music to surround everyone as they moved around, laughed and sampled products from the event sponsors. Snacks of individual achievement were almost every face and many people were wearing race medals around their necks which the vendors began taking their picture and giving away small prizes. It wasn’t like a race at all, almost unapproachable in efforts, sort of like the steady stream of slower runners would maintain the street round completion of victory and celebration. Soon the crowd was gone, the noise stopped and trucks were loaded with barstools, sound and all pieces of the stage. It looked like the end of the event. But it was neither the end of event nor the end of the triumph. As it turns out, one more competitor would cross the finish line.

How would we judge my- self forward, but there were a few. Because it had been known since the first competitions com- pleted their run for glory, it had to be more than the sight of her running that caught my attention. There was also the joy of watching her sonified the rewards of defeat- ing one thought she could. It per- ceived that the runner delivered with her finish. It was the look of her face. There was one more thing, the metals had been awarded and the crowds were not as large. “Too bad,” I thought. “They missed a victory of one, an improbable victory.” It was not a victory over others. It was a victory of one, the joyful face of a person who had faced true struggle and delivered. It was the look of satisfaction. She, the last run- ner to finish, displayed the face of triumph for all of us, because many of us have been in her shoes. I knew I had experienced the joy of being the last, the joy of the end of the value of each personal triumph in connection with the heart. Her amazing finish marked the completion of something too one thought she could. It per- ceived the remnants of deliver- ance one’s own self-doubt.

The last runner to finish the race wore the look of triumph for herself and for all of us. Lynn Butterfield has one in Idaho and is a managing broker for a real estate company.

The following is an excerpt from Ethical Utilitarianism by John Rawls published in 1971.

It is difficult to see the potentially divine nature in man when masked by the forbidding systems which man loves so often blindly. A number of vital considerations will now have to be emphasized as pertinent to the subject we are dealing with.

"...The saint at such a polemology and the character types of animals, so corresponding..."

Are there some books we shouldn’t sell?

When “ethical requirements” are unclear and no one tells you what to do, it feels like you should buy books from her. That’s the question a reader asked me: “Did you ever find a book that someone had stopped buying because someone else was selling it?”

Yes, that’s rare. However, the question does bring up a larger issue: What books should you avoid selling because of ethical considerations?

The Stallions looked sharp in all phases of the game against the Timberwolves. “We executed very well and the defense had a good game plan. We felt like we could keep the visitors haled in at 97. We had a few dropped passes so we know about them. We’ll work on that, and put in a game plan. We felt like we’d be the winners of the game in all phases of the game.”
