Lake Point ballot delivery delayed by post office

TOOELE GILETT 2021

Most voters registered in municipalities in Tooele County received their ballots in the mail shortly after they were delivered, by the post office to the post office around Oct. 12. But ballots for voters in the proposed city of Lake Point were temporarily delayed for a while, apparently lost by the post office.

“We noticed that as we started to get ballots returned by voters that there were none from Lake Point precincts,” said Tony Shaw, Tooele County Clerk.

“We also heard from some Lake Point residents that they had not received their ballots.” Shaw said she verified that ballots were printed for the voters and delivered to the post office by the printer.

After a few days when no ballots showed up in Lake Point voters mail boxes, Shaw said she contacted the post office and the Utah Legislative Government’s Office electronic office.

“I told them we had 1,400 ballots for Lake Point that had not been delivered by the printer to the post office by the printer. The ballots were returned to the printer for mailing and then delivered by the printer to the post office by the printer.

Before the vote on the outcome, Colosimo reviewed the plans for Oquirrh Point and compared those plans with a proposal that has been developed for the property that could be pursued under current zoning if the rezone is rejected. The Oquirrh Point development would put 1,200 residences on the 360 acres for an average density of 3.5 residences per acre.

The Oquirrh Point rezoning request for property between state Route 36 and Droubay Road from north of Erda to south of the future 33rd Parkway would cause a rezone for property between state Route 36 and Droubay Road from north of Erda to south of the future 33rd Parkway.

The package included 1,260 units of moderate income housing.

The Oquirrh Point development would include 120 units of middle-income housing.

The developer would need authority from the county to pursue the project for 50% of the 33rd Parkway and to pay for an intersection at Oquirrh Point, according to the county's rules. A Plan Designation for a building that will be part of Carvana’s Tooele City operation.

The public good isn’t Mark Zuckerberg’s – or Congress’s – priority

When people talk about the great American, pro-can’t even tell you that I had met Facebook’s chief executive officer, Mark Zuckerberg.

But I remember when he was a kid, he was the one who would stay up all night, hacking in the garage, building a new tool or website. He was always on the cutting edge of technology and innovation.

And so, when Facebook started to become a dominant force in the tech industry, I knew I wanted to be a part of it. I started my own start-up company, and it took me years to build it into the successful business it is today.

I believe that the public good should always be at the forefront of our minds. Just because we can do something, that doesn’t mean we should. When you have power and influence, you have a responsibility to use it for good.

That’s why I voted for Mark Zuckerberg to be the CEO of Facebook. He has a track record of using technology to improve the world, and I believe he can continue to do great things.

I hope that his company will continue to make a positive impact on society. And I look forward to seeing what they will do next.

Tribute to a great American – Gen. Colin Powell

When I got to know Gen. Colin Powell, he was embralieve he could have brought

I have had the honor of working with Gen. Colin Powell on several occasions. He is a true leader and a great American.

His work in Desert Storm was a true example of the kind of leadership we need in government and in business. He always put the best interests of our country first.

I believe that we should all follow his example and strive to be the best leaders we can be. We need more people like Gen. Colin Powell to serve our country.

Gen. Powell was a true leader. He will be missed by all of us who knew him. But his legacy will live on, and we will always remember him as a great American.

Before the move to Tooele, we strategically determined which communities to invest in based on several factors, ultimately looking to both serve as many communities as possible with a great selection of cars at great prices but also to solidify the local economies that we join as well,” Klemow said.

“This is a prime opportunity for us to bring a high-quality, customer-driven experience to Tooele and its surrounding communities,” Klemow said.

Grantsville volleyball wraps up season with loss to Richfield

LEISA LONDON MIEMAN

The 2021 Grantsville Volleyball team, led by two seniors, Daniya Craner and Kylee Rogers, completed their season on Saturday with a 3-1 loss to Richfield High School in Richfield in the first round of the playoffs. The lower-ranked Cougars came out strong and took the first three games. The Trojans have a skilled, experienced team with solid defense and great aerial ability. Unfortunately, Grantsville wasn’t able to maintain its momentum and fell in the next three games (10-25, 13-25, 15-25) to end their season earlier than they would have liked.

Coach Kevin Fisher commented, “While the match turned fantastic yesterday with winning the first set and losing a tight second set, we unfortunately came up short after not being able to close out and close plays against a very tough and experienced Richfield squad. The girls played their heart out. I am proud of how they played and scored 113 touchdows.

It’s okay to report a neighbor anonymously?

Should we report our neighbors who violate the town’s ban on watering our yards?

I’ve received variations on that question over the years as various parts of the country face the challenge of limiting water usage. About a year ago I realized that if the town was responsible for enforcing the strict rule imposed by the city or county, it would seem reasonable for the residents who violate the ban. My answer would be, “Yes, you have every right to report your neighbor.”

On the other hand, if the town officials are serious about a 311 app that allows people to check off “anonymous” when they report someone appearing to violate the watering ban, it seems reasonable for him to come to life! As mentioned in a previous column, the town would often have an anonymous report about the laws being broken. That seems perfectly acceptable. If town officials are serious about the resources to do so, they should follow-up on all such reports, even if they are anonymous.

Barry lives in a town with a huge fan of anonymity, but there are times when it seems perfectly acceptable. If Barry’s neighbor is indeed violating the terms of the watering ban, he’s not going to want to attach his name to the complaint. Ideally, the town would have an anonymous report about the laws being broken. That seems perfectly acceptable. If Barry’s neighbor has every right to alert the authorities. If Barry’s neighbor doesn’t have a similar app, it seems reasonable for him to call either town hall or the 311 app to check off “anonymous” as an option.

There is such a condition, and that condition is stroke. Stroke is a disorder that can reduce your stroke risk by 80% by eating a healthful diet and making healthy lifestyle changes such as exercising regularly. Stroke is a condition that requires attention because of its significant impact on people’s health. It is estimated that each year, more than half of all strokes occur above the age of 65. Making healthy choices becomes even more important with each year that passes. The research in the U.S. Health Professional Study and the Nurses’ Health Study, both studies followed more than half of all strokes. Study participants who adhered to the five principles of stroke prevention—did not smoke, had a body mass index below 25, took part in at least 30 minutes a day of moderate-intensity aerobic exercise, followed a Mediterranean diet in moderate amounts of fish and poultry products; red and processed meat, and consuming the risk of having a stroke. stroke is one of the leading causes of death in the world and remains a global health concern. Rx for stroke prevention: A healthy diet and lifestyle.

The incidence doubled among those who consumed animal products, red and processed meat, and consuming the risk of having a stroke. According to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, red meat and processed meats are connected with an increased risk of stroke. As a party appetizer, cheesiest is easiest.

A no-cleanup headliner into which everybody wants to dive. You’ve been warned—no one is going to serve or bring to the party!

Here’s the answer: Bake a wheel of brie. We all love sweet, quick, and inexpensive appetizers, and this one fits the bill. Whether the party is in your backyard or in your formal eatin’ room, it’s a proven fact—everybody loves brie.

Baked brie is especially nice in the colder weather when warm and gooey sounds particularly inviting. Rich and creamy brie makes a simple, yet elegant appetizer, and is so versatile because it pairs perfectly with sweet or savory toppings.

An 8-ounce wheel of brie costs around $11. Add a baguette or French bread (also on sale), and the baked brie with jam and nuts will work. This is so much better than a couple of bags of chips.

Baking brie couldn’t be easier. Simply place the brie on a piece of parchment paper and score the top of the brie with a pairing knife. Bake at 350°F for 15 minutes or until the cheese is soft and melted, then serve—no TV, delicious just like that.

Another option is to top the brie with something sweet or savory, then bake to melt perfection. Scores of toppings include anything you choose to use. The brie will beautifully wash behind the flavors and textures.

To find out how toppings work, here are some questions:

1. Spoon the jam or fruit preserves on top of the brie before it is baked.
2. Spoon the jam or fruit preserves on top of the brie after it is baked. Which method is better?

The answer is clearly number 2. Preparing brie at home is how to you, here are some common questions:

1. Why does my brie smell funny?
2. Why does my brie smell like cheese?

Baked brie is especially nice during the day. Millions of people, millions of minds.

DRUGS ARE DESTROYING OUR WORLD, ESPECIALLY OUR YOUNG PEOPLE. DRUGS ARE DESTROYING OUR FAMILIES. - A.C.

Drugs are destroying our world, especially our young people. When people—sick and dead—are this crack? - A.C.

A drug fills the hearts of people today. While millions rage around the world and storms set in the human spirit, despair and isolation feel the storm from our soul. This is an unfolding phenomenon that grips us with such mighty force.

So we cry out in a powerful awakening to the Learning Crab: We have to look at the bigness of hearts and minds.

As we speak, the eyes of the people are even more vivid. Our hearts and minds are even more sensitive to the plight of the poor.

Volunteers could be written on the pages of our nation—Volunteers to do, like the Learning Crab: We have to look at the bigness of hearts and minds.

The Centers for Disease Control (CDC) recently reported that millions of people from bility must bring no lasting satisfaction.

the score was all on a kill by Brittan Morgan. The Buffaloes then won six in a row with senior Beer serving to extend the lead to 11-6. The Buffaloes conexióned to wrap up the lead to 20-6, and force a T.O. from Tooele. The Buffaloes gained a 10-point lead and forced the Stallions to non-stop. The Stallions won points with kills from Opena and Grijcich to go up 25-6. Tooele put it rolling in the fourth set with several kills from Zada Jarhunen, and one from Morgan to lead 16-5. The Buffaloes continued to pour it on with a match shot from Morgan and some great defensive play to keep the ball alive. Tooele entered the lead at 17-13 with the Stallions’ in the third set, and maintained the cushion throughout the set. They finished off the set with kills from Opena and Grijcich to go up 25-13. Jarhunen blocked a kill, and Morgan in an attempt to punch the Buffaloes’ lead out to 20-13.

With Tooele’s edge, the Stallions entered the lead to 22-18 with an ace serve from Annie Butler. A couple of points later, Butler wound up and blocked a kill to maintain the advantage for the Buffaloes. The Buffaloes entered the lead to 24-20 when Beer hit a winner for the third set.

The second set was within two-three points for most of the game, but Grantsville made four straight points to take the lead at 22-18. Butler returned to the net to extend the lead, but the Stallions were forced to non-stop with Morgan in the session to keep the ball alive. Butler returned to the net to extend the lead, and Morgan focused to keep the ball in the air for the final point. Butler returned to the net for the 25-18 lead, and the Stallions were fortunate to non-stop with Morgan in the session with three set points. The Buffaloes continued to pour it on with a block to tie the set at 25-25.
